WARN GERMAN GOVERNMENT OF WRATH

MUST MEND ITS WAY OR REICHSTAG WILL TAKE DRASTIC STEP

Socialists and Others of Majority Introduce Resolutions in Committee Demanding Reform.

CLAIM RIGHT TO CRITICISE THRONE

Copenhagen, Aug. 31.—A warning that unless the German government heeds demands of the reichstag for reforms the majority parties will take measures, was given before the reichstag main committee on Wednesday.

Resolutions of the majority introduced by Dr. Karl Heine, socialist, demanded for the fourth or fifth time confinement of military censorship to facts connected with the conduct of the war and criticism thereof.

This was held to be necessary because it is notorious that the military authorities exercise a sweeping political censorship of the German press on the pretense that publications of a political nature may affect the military spirit of the people.

Dr. Heine gave the government four weeks until the assembling of the reichstag, to mend its ways. Otherwise, he said, the reichstag majority would be forced to take steps. The government has received some half dozen earlier warnings of a similar nature and its response in the present instance will not be an unfair test of the influence of the present majority in the reichstag.

Speeches and pronouncements of Emperor William were criticised in the debate on the censorship. Matthias Erzberger, centrist leader, and Dr. Heine called attention to the effect caused by the emperor's impulsive statements, which sometimes run counter to the ostensible policy of the government. Although not mentioned in the censored accounts, committee's proceedings, the emperor's critics probably had particularly in mind his recent utterances in regard to England which he pointed out as Germany's arch enemy which must be defeated at any cost.

Dr. Heine appears to have demanded freedom for the press to discuss such utterances of the emperor. Herr Erzberger asked whether Chancellor Michaelis has assumed responsibility for what was said by the emperor. Foreign Secretary von Kuehlmann replied that the representative at great headquarters of the foreign office was informed concerning these speeches and that the chancellor assumed responsibility. As had been expected the misleading "denials" by the foreign office of Premier Kerensky's statement that a separate peace offer had been made recently to Russia and of the message said by former Ambassador Gerard to have been sent by Emperor William to President Wilson said the official communications were coming into wide discredit abroad owing to the many self-evident contradictions in them.

Summary of the Day's War News

None of the three big campaigns now in progress on western fronts seem again to have got into full swing. General Cadorna, whose great drive for Trieste, is perhaps the most spectacular of the current operations, is displaying an activity more pronounced than either General Petain or General Haig in their respective fields at Verdun and

SOUTHERN JUDGE DECLARES CHILD LABOR LAW DEAD

Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 31.—Federal Judge James E. Boyd today declared the Keating-Owen child labor law unconstitutional.

By the terms of the act the law goes into effect tomorrow. Before President Wilson's reply was read it was brought by Robert Dagenhart nad his sons, Reuben and John, against a cotton manufacturing company to prevent the company from dismissing the two boys, minors, from the company's mill at Charlotte. Federal District Attorney

PONTIFF MUCH DISAPPOINTED BY PRESIDENT

Rome, Aug. 31.—It is stated at the vatican that Pope Benedict on receiving President Wilson's reply to his peace proposals did not attempt to conceal his bitter disappointment, and that he regards the president's answer leaving little room for further peace efforts at present.

It has been no secret here that the pope hoped for a more favorable response from the United States than from any other ally. Before President Wilson's reply was read it was said at the vatican that the responses from the various governments were expected to be more favorable than the tone of press comment.

At the same time the pope was reported to have signified his intention of issuing a reply after receiving the answers of all the belligerents pointing out questions in regard to which all the nations at war might be in agreement and others concerning which it would be necessary to hold discussions.

GERMAN RAID IS REPULSED

British Break Up Attack Made by Enemy on Front Below Lens

GERMANS PUSHED BACK COMPLETELY
Germany Has Not Yet Got Text of Wilson's Note to the Pope.

London, Aug. 31.—The repulse of a German raid on the front below Lens is reported in today's communication. The statement follows:

"The weather is unsettled, during the night the enemy heavily shelled our forward positions near Ales-en-Gohelle (five miles southeast of Lens) and at an early hour this morning attempted to raid our lines. The German troops were repulsed completely."

JEWS MAKE PROTEST.

London, Aug. 31.—A deputation of English Jews, headed by Lord Swaythling, visited the Earl of Derby, secretary of war, says the Daily Mail, and urged the abandonment of the title "Jewish regiment," which had been adopted for the new Hebrew regiment recently organized. The deputation pleaded that 40,000 Jews now serving in the army were fighting not as Jews but as British subjects and wished to continue to do so. Lord Derby agreed to the abandonment of the title and promised to give the regiment a new designation.

The Daily Mail adds that the decision was received with great regret by the promoters and organizers of the regiment.

GERMANY HAS NOT READ NOTE.

Berlin, Aug. 31.—The text of President Wilson's reply to the peace note of Pope Benedict has not been received in Berlin up to a late hour tonight. A dispatch from Holland, transmitting editorial comment of New York newspapers, is the only intimation at hand indicating the tenor of the reply.

BRITISH CASUALTIES HEAVY.

London, Aug. 31.—The total of British casualties on all fronts as reported in August is 59,811, divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds: Officers, 1,278; men, 10,942; wounded or missing: officers, 4,122; men, 43,469.

PEACE COUNCIL AT GARY BUSTED UP WITH ARREST

Gary, Ind., Aug. 31.—A peace meeting advertised to be held under the auspices of the People's Council, did not take place last night, because James H. Dolson, chief promoter, was taken into custody by agents of the department of justice.

A crowd was on hand at the hall, but when it learned that Dolson, representative here of the council, had been detained by federal authorities, it dispersed in good order.

A number of posters, which it is claimed, violated federal laws, were seized at Dolson's hotel.

HAIR CUTS AND SHAVES TO BE RAISED LATER

There will be no increase in the price of hair cuts and shaves for the present. Signs placed in the various union shops announcing that after September 3 hair cuts would be 40 cents instead of 35 and shaves 20 cents instead of 15 have been removed.

According to J. C. Werkman, president of the Barbers' union, no action can be taken on the resolution until the next meeting of the organization, two weeks from Monday night. If it is agreed to raise prices they will probably be put into effect on October 1. There is much opposition to this resolution.

KAISER'S SPIES ARE CONVICTED AND SENTENCED

Christiania, Aug. 31.—Three German spies have been convicted at Bergen for supplying information to submarines regarding the sailing time of vessels which later were torpedoed. Captain Laven and Officer Schwartz, German citizens, and Thorson, a Norwegian, all were given terms in the penitentiary. Laven was sentenced to five years, Schwartz to four and Thorson to ten years imprisonment. Captain Laven admitted that he worked under instructions from the German authorities. He said that German subjects were forced to obey such orders. Norwegian newspapers in commenting on the trial emphasize that the country must take note of the fact that the German subjects must take orders from their government.

NEW YORK DRUG ADDICTS PLEAD TO GET RELIEF

New York, Aug. 31.—United States Marshal Thomas D. McCarthy announced today that he was considering plans to take care of 200,000 drug addicts who have been deprived of their sources of supply following a number of raids made recently. The marshal said he had been visited by persons in all walks of life who had confessed they were slaves of narcotics which they were now unable to get because of the vigilance of the authorities. They begged the marshal to tell them of some institution where they might receive treatment. About 300 alleged drug venders have been arrested by the government authorities in the city in the past month.

RUSSIAN CITY OF KAZAN LOOTED AS FLAMES RAISE

Petrograd, Aug. 31.—The fire last Monday in the city of Kazan, on the Kazanka river, 430 miles east of Moscow, spread so rapidly that the population fled to outlying fields and forests, leaving hundreds of the House Gazette telegraph. Ruffians began to pillage on a great scale but students of military schools acted energetically and stopped the looting. Later the flames spread to naphtha reservoirs and the town was enveloped in smoke. The fire burned for thirty-six hours, during which time the people remained outside the town. Order is being restored gradually.

BREAD IS TO BE CHEAPER

So Says Washington With First Hand View of Food Control.

FIXED PRICE OF WHEAT THE CAUSE
Fourteen Ounce Loaf for Nickel Is Promise of Food Bosses.

Washington, Aug. 31.—A reduction in the price of bread is in sight today as the result of fixing $2.20 as the price per bushel of the 1917 wheat crop. The licensing system for flour and bread dealers soon will be put into effect and although not extending to the small dealer, the food administration is expected to find a way to hold down bread prices.

Members of the price fixing committee are agreed that a price of $2.20 will permit of a fourteen ounce loaf of bread for five cents, allowing a fair profit to both the flour manufacturer and the baker. The wheat price was announced by President Wilson last night after the committee, headed by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, completed its three day deliberations. Representatives of the producers began by voting for $2.50 and labor representatives for $1.84. The $2 price set by congress for the 1918 crop was taken into consideration by the committee in fixing a fair valuation for this year's harvest.

Range of Wheat Prices.
During the last ten years the highest average price paid to producers for wheat was the June first price 1917, practically $2.49 per bushel. Up to the present time the price has ranged between a minimum of 76 cents paid in December, 1912, to the above maximum. The price has been mounting steadily, but never has such a high level been reached and maintained as since the outbreak of the war. The farm price went as high as $1.23 a bushel in June, 1909, exceeding till it again took an upward curve in 1915, reaching practically $1.30 a bushel in February, but declining to 91 and a fraction cents in December of that year. The average price has not gone below that mark since December 1915. Wheat opened at $1.02 and a fraction in 1916, falling to 93 cents in July and

BALDWIN BUILD LOCOMOTIVE FOR EACH HOUR DAILY

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—Nine locomotives a day is the new record of manufacture achieved this week by the Baldwin Locomotive works. The company is devoting the entire capacity of its engine building plants to turning out locomotives of the large type, most of them for war service, and 25,000 men are employed. All locomotive building records have been broken by the achievements of the past week. Only two years ago the concern pointed with pride to its record of thirty locomotives a month. In the next few months, going at the present rate, it is expected that more than 225 a month will be turned out. These are all large engines of the complicated type.

STICK-UP CREWS PLY IN GOTHAM'S BUSIEST CENTRE

New York, Aug. 31.—Three highwaymen, operating in the Times square district of Broadway, the center of New York city's night life, shortly after midnight held up a number of subway laborers while crowds coming from the after-theater cafes passed within a few feet. The robbers, who obtained $97, confronted the laborers who had just been paid off and were going off duty, as they came from the tunnel, where they had been working. One of the laborers who started to resist was killed by a blow from the revolver of one of the highwaymen.

TOO MUCH LOYALTY FLARES UP IN WEST

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 31.—Leaders of the People's Council of America announced here today that they would start for Washington, D. C., tonight to put the question of their right of holding a national peace convention up to the federal authorities.

In case a hall cannot be obtained there it was suggested that the meeting might be held on the plaza in front of the capitol.

The decision to put the issue up to official Washington was announced by Louis P. Lochner, executive secretary after a meeting of conferees with eastern council leaders over the long distance telephone. Earlier tentative plans had been made for holding the meeting in Milwaukee.

Dressed Up; No Place to Go.
Barred from Minnesota by proclamation of Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, Tuesday, told that they would be unwelcome in Fargo, N. D., on Wednesday, and unceremoniously escorted from Hudson, Wis., on Thursday, the arrangement committee was uncertain early today as to where the national conference would be held.

After the peace advocates had been asked to leave Hudson, Governor Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota, reiterated his statement that the council may hold its proposed peace meeting in his state and will be accorded adequate protection as long as speakers refrain from making seditious statements or pronouncements which might incite mob violence.

"The people of North Dakota are broad minded enough to permit freedom of speech," said Governor Frazier, "and I am still ready to provide the protection offered in my message to officers of the council." It is doubtful, however, if the convention will be held in Fargo. Mayor Stearns has taken a firm stand against it and loyalty organizations of the city are outspoken in their opposition to it.

Chased From Town.
The appearance of the arrangement committee of the peace council in Hudson, Wis., yesterday aroused the citizens to a high pitch. Indignation meetings were held during the day, the common council passed an order forbidding the holding of the convention and at a mass meeting in the evening resolutions were adopted, protesting against the convention, and calling upon Governor E. L. Phillip to stop it. Excitement ran high and from an orderly meeting there developed an unorganized mob which went to the hotel where the pacifist delegates were stopping, hustled them into an automobile and took them to the depot, where they were put aboard a train for Minneapolis, with orders never to return.

Literature Chased Away.
Shortly after the pacifists were driven from the city a truck load of peace literature for the meeting arrived and it was

BRITON TO HELP HOOVER IN FOOD ADMINISTRATION

London, Aug. 31.—Louis P. Sheldon, who is associated with a London banking firm has been asked by Herbert C. Hoover to accept appointment as representative of the American food administration board in the United Kingdom. It is understood Mr. Sheldon has accepted and that it is now being determined whether he shall become an attaché of the American embassy. As Mr. Hoover's representative Mr. Sheldon will deal with the British food controller, Baron Rhonda, for the purpose of bringing about closer co-operation between the United States and England in regard to the control of food. Mr. Sheldon, who is a Yale graduate, for some time has been assisting the commercial attaché of the embassy overseeing shipments of certain raw materials to the United States.

FOOD INVENTORY IS IN PROGRESS TODAY BY VOLUNTEER ARMY

Washington, Aug. 31.—A volunteer army made up of 10,000 American housewives, 350,000 merchants and 35,000 farmers is today engaged in taking an inventory of the nation's food supplies. They are taking stock of the food they have on hand, in the pantry and preserve closet, on the shelves and under the counter, in the warehouse, grain elevator and in barns and bins on the farms. From the quantities reported by the volunteer army, the government will estimate the total food stocks of the nation. In addition, the housewives are going to give a record of their food needs for the subsequent week. Another inventory will be made after the crops are all in and these figures will form the basis of subsequent food regulations and distribution. As soon as the returns from today's inventory are complete they will be forwarded to Washington for analysis and the results will be announced.

Yesterday our troops fought on the Bainsizza plateau and the Corso to consolidate the possession of some heights and to rectify our line. We captured 636 prisoners, including twelve officers and five machine guns.

The average yearly price of No. 1 northern spring wheat, in the Chicago market during the ten years—1908-1917—was $1.26 per bushel, ranging between 97 cents in 1913 and 2.37 in 1917. During the same period the average yearly price paid to producers was $1.07 per bushel, ranging between 79 cents in 1913 and $2 in 1917.

On the basis of $2.20 at Chicago, the food administration worked out differentials for the various grades and classes for the several grain terminals. The president in a statement proclaiming the action of the committee declared that the price would be rigidly adhered to by the food administration.

Approved by Wilson.

The president's statement follows: "The White House, Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Section 11 of the food act provides, among other things, for the purchase and sale of wheat and flour by the government and appropriate money for the purpose. The purchase of wheat and flour for our allies, and to a considerable degree for neutral countries, also has been placed under the control of the food administration.

"I have appointed a committee to determine a fair price to be paid in government purchases. The price now recommended by that committee—$2.20 per bushel at Chicago for the basic grade—will be rigidly adhered to by the food administration. "It is the hope and the expectation of the food administration and my own also that this step will at once stabilize and keep within moderate bounds the price of wheat for all transactions throughout the present crop year, and in consequence the prices of flour and bread also. The food act has given large powers for the control of storage and exchange operations and these powers will be fully exercised. An inevitable consequence will be that financial dealings cannot follow their usual course.

Believed Fair Price. "Whatever the advantages and disadvantages of the ordinary machinery of trade, it cannot function well under such disturbed and abnormal conditions as now exist. In its place the food administration now fixes for its purchases a fair price, as recommended unanimously by a committee representative of all interests and all sections, and believes that thereby it will eliminate speculation, make possible the conduct of every operation in the full light of day, maintain the publicly stated price for all, and through economies made possible by stabilization and control better the position of consumers also.

"Mr. Hoover, at his express wish, has taken no part in the deliberations of the committee on whose recommendation I determine the government's fair price, nor has he in any way intimated an opinion regarding that price.

"WOODROW WILSON." Report to President.

The report of the committee to the president is as follows: "To the president of the United States: This committee has been asked by you to recommend the price which the government should pay for the 1917 crop of wheat. In its deliberations the committee has kept constantly in mind the three following factors: "First, the fact that the United States is at war. "Second, the need of encouraging the production of wheat. "Third, the necessity of reducing the cost of living to the consumer. "The normal laws of supply and demand have been violently interfered with and course has been undertaken to offset this disturbance by conferring extraordinary powers upon the president to stabilize prices. Each of the foregoing factors grows out of conditions which have received the careful attention of the committee. Chief among them are:

"The wheat yield in a great and important section of the country has this year been below the normal; that over against this situation is the crying need among the whole body of the population, especially the wage earners, that the rising tide of costs shall be stayed and reduced as rapidly as possible consistent with the welfare of the producer; that the government is at the present time engaged in the great task of reducing and stabilizing costs of other staple commodities; that the wheat of the world is abundant for its needs even disregarding the stores in Russia, but because of lack of shipping and war conditions the burden of supplying wheat to the allies and to neutral nations rests for the time being upon the United States and Canada.

Considered 1918 Crop.

"Your committee has also considered the fact that the government price for the 1917 wheat crop is in effect, a continuing guaranty until the minimum price guaranteed by congress for the crop of 1918 goes into effect (July 1, 1918). It has considered the relation of the 1918 minimum price guaranty to the price here recommended. It has also considered the effect which early termination of the war would have upon the wheat markets of the world.

"In reaching its conclusions the committee has been guided by the principles you have announced—that a fair price should be based upon the cost of production of the entire country, plus a reasonable profit. We have relied upon the cost estimates for the crop of 1917 furnished by the United States department of agriculture, checked by the results of our independent investigations and the evidence submitted to the committee by producers and their representatives.

"The committee has considered the regulations recently established by the United States food administration grain corporation for the different grades of the wheat through which all transactions in wheat are to be standardized and speculation to be entirely eliminated. Also that profits to the grain dealer, miller, and flour dealers have been regulated and reduced by the grain corporation, effecting a material reduction in the cost of flour.

"In consideration of the foregoing facts and circumstances, this committee respectfully recommends that the price of No. 2 northern spring wheat, or its equivalent, at Chicago be $2.20 per bushel."

The committee appointed by the president several weeks ago to fix the price for wheat, headed by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college, was composed of producers, consumers and representatives of labor, eleven members in all, besides Dr. Garfield.

RECONSTRUCTION IS ALREADY UNDER WAY

British Government Makes

Plans for Great Work

After the War.

London, Aug. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A vast sphere of work lies before the new British minister of reconstruction, whose office has just been added to those included in the British cabinet. Premier Lloyd George is firmly convinced that the foundation for the complex work of reconstruction after the war ought to be begun at once, even if it is at first confined to matters of inquiry and investigation.

The largest question before the new ministry will be the question of carrying out the government's pledges to the labor unions that their pre-war position will be restored to them. Employers frequently have argued that this will be impossible. Union leaders insist that the government has given its pledge and must fulfill it.

Discussing this phase of post-war conditions, Professor L. T. Hobhouse, head of the department of sociology in London university and one of the government's advisers on labor, said today:

"The business of the minister of reconstruction is to think out the best methods by which the half-formed, half-understood impulses of the masses of people can get themselves expressed in a reasonable manner. The first problem with which we shall be faced is that of reconstructing trade union conditions. I say reconstructing advisedly, because if we were to speak of restoration there would be those who would say at once that it is impossible in view of the total change in conditions which the war has brought about.

"But this is a problem in which the good faith of the government is involved. Nothing could be more definite than the pledge to trade unionists that the alterations involved in dilution of labor and the suspension of 'customs of the trade' should hold only for the period of the war. If this pledge is not fulfilled it will be a fatal blow to the confidence of the public in the good faith of governments. If it is shown that it cannot be fulfilled because circumstances have altered, the answer must be that we can only vary a pledge with the consent of the persons to whom the pledge was made.

"If it is true that old labor conditions cannot be restored, then it will be for the trade unionists to determine what arrangements they would accept as a substitute for the old conditions. The reconstruction committee has already taken a step in this direction by suggesting the formation of industrial councils in which both employer and employed shall be represented and have considerable powers in shaping the course of each industry. In such councils it will be possible for trade unionists and employers to discuss frankly and fully the best methods of meeting the new situation, so as to secure a renewed progress of British industry with fair conditions for the worker. Any system to which the trade union members of such councils agree might, for that industry, be taken as the fair equivalent of that restoration of conditions which we pledged.

The largest question before the new ministry will be the question of carrying out the government's pledges to the labor unions that their pre-war position will be restored to them. Employers frequently have argued that this will be impossible. Union leaders insist that the government has given its pledge and must fulfill it.

Discussing this phase of post-war conditions, Professor L. T. Hobhouse, head of the department of sociology in London university and one of the government's advisers on labor, said today:

"The business of the minister of reconstruction is to think out the best methods by which the half-formed, half-understood impulses of the masses of people can get themselves expressed in a reasonable manner. The first problem with which we shall be faced is that of reconstructing trade union conditions. I say reconstructing advisedly, because if we were to speak of restoration there would be those who would say at once that it is impossible in view of the total change in conditions which the war has brought about.

"But this is a problem in which the good faith of the government is involved. Nothing could be more definite than the pledge to trade unionists that the alterations involved in dilution of labor and the suspension of 'customs of the trade' should hold only for the period of the war. If this pledge is not fulfilled it will be a fatal blow to the confidence of the public in the good faith of governments. If it is shown that it cannot be fulfilled because circumstances have altered, the answer must be that we can only vary a pledge with the consent of the persons to whom the pledge was made.

RECONSTRUCTION IS

British Government Makes

After the War.

London, Aug. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A vast sphere of work lies before the new British minister of reconstruction, whose office has just been added to those included in the British cabinet. Premier Lloyd George is firmly convinced that the foundation for the complex work of reconstruction after the war ought to be begun at once, even if it is at first confined to matters of inquiry and investigation.

The largest question before the new ministry will be the question of carrying out the government's pledges to the labor unions that their pre-war position will be restored to them. Employers frequently have argued that this will be impossible. Union leaders insist that the government has given its pledge and must fulfill it.

Discussing this phase of post-war conditions, Professor L. T. Hobhouse, head of the department of sociology in London university and one of the government's advisers on labor, said today:

If it is shown that it cannot be fulfilled because circumstances have altered, the answer must be that we can only vary a pledge with the consent of the persons to whom the pledge was made.

"If it is true that old labor conditions cannot be restored, then it will be for the trade unionists to determine what arrangements they would accept as a substitute for the old conditions. The reconstruction committee has already taken a step in this direction by suggesting the formation of industrial councils in which both employer and employed shall be represented and have considerable powers in shaping the course of each industry. In such councils it will be possible for trade unionists and employers to discuss frankly and fully the best methods of meeting the new situation, so as to secure a renewed progress of British industry with fair conditions for the worker. Any system to which the trade union members of such councils agree might, for that industry, be taken as the fair equivalent of that restoration of conditions which we pledged.

The next measure, already under way, will be the creation of a "National Cloth," for which stocks of wool, etc., will be requisitioned and a good, sound cloth made (in the same way as the boots) which will serve for clothes for men and children and for women's cloaks, etc.

not yet fixed, between $3 and $3.20. These prices allow a fair profit to the intermediary between maker and buyer.

The army commissariat has undertaken to supply 500,000 pairs of boots a month from the present time and to double that output very soon. As the average demand for "National Footwear" is estimated to be 2,000,000 pairs a month, it will be some time before the supply can satisfy it. The output therefore at first will be reserved for the working classes and will be sold through their co-operative societies.

Sherman's Clothes
Still $10 Untill Oct. 1st

We maintained our price as long as we possibly could—we could not have held our price at $10 as long as we did and give our same standard of value if we did not have such a large outlet of clothing through our great chain of stores, but the time has come when it is the impossibility to continue at our price of $10.

Sherman's Clothes On And After October 1st
Will Sell For $12.50

The tremendous purchases of uniforms by the United States and Allied Nations, using thousands of pounds of woollens, as in instances, using some mills' entire output, boosting the price of cloth from 50% to 100% per yard.

Not alone have the fabrics advanced. Trimmings and linings that go into the making of the garment have advanced in price in proportion to the woollens. Also the tailors that make the clothes are receiving today from 20% to 30% more wages than formerly.

There Was Only One Way

We would not consider lowering the quality of that excellency of value that we have always sold to our patrons. There was no alternative but to raise the price.

MONTHS AGO we went into the market and contracted for as much cloth as could be had of the quality we use in the making of Sherman's clothes, but found that we were only able to secure a limited amount. What we did secure, we will sell to our trade at our price, $10. Our policy has always been to give our patrons the best clothes value we possibly could for the money, therefore we will continue to sell at the price, $10, as long as this merchandise lasts.

This cloth we have made up. The garments are now in our store. Among them you will find medium weight suits, winter suits, top coats and overcoats. Also light weight suits which would pay you to buy now, and also for next summer's wear.

An Opportunity--For You!

Our advice to you is, buy now as many suits and overcoats as you can afford. Buy enough to last you over next year. BUY ONE—BUY TWO GARMENTS AND SAVE FOR YOURSELF THAT EXTRA $2.50. Tell your friends and neighbors of this opportunity.

We are inspired by the desire to let our customers in on this great value, on the good fortune that we had in securing this merchandise, on the theory of making many new friends and customers, for our store to secure their good will and continued patronage. You will never be able to buy these clothes again at this price.

"I RODE ON CZAR'S PERSONAL TRAIN—IT WAS SOME TRAIN," SAYS CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL

All About the Myriads of Thermometers on the Walls, the Pink and Blue Satin Drapes, the Double Silk Curtains, the Sacred Ikons and the Grand Duchess Olga's Hand-Painted Cold Cream Jar.

(By CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL, Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Going and coming, we traveled 10,800 miles across Russia and Siberia in the private train of Mr. Nicholas Romanoff, late czar of Russia, now growing potatoes about three miles northeast of Tobolsk, Tobolsk-co, Siberia.

It was an extremely handsome train and I don't know anything that better illustrates, in compact form, the huge and expensive folly of autocracy.

There were nine cars, each a marvelous specimen of workmanship, inside and outside. They were made of steel and swung on specially constructed springs of the finest tempered metal, so that they rode as if they were floating in the air.

In the original train there was a car for the czar and his wife; a car for the children; a car for Baron Fredericks, the old chief of the imperial household, and for the immediate staff that attended upon the czar and his family; a car for those that attended upon the immediate staff; two cars for the armed guards and those that attended upon those that attended upon the immediate staff that attended upon the czar and his family.

There was also a kitchen car given up entirely to the repairing of the imperial diet; a car that contained the imperial dining room at one end and the imperial drawing room at the other; and the imperial baggage car.

For a reason that I shall tell you later, the czar's car was not used on this occasion. Most of us had rooms in Baron Fredericks' car or in the children's car.

In my room there was a book case, a writing desk liberally equipped, a small closet, a great many shelves, a chair, and a comfortable couch that became the bed at night. There was also a wash stand with running water. The wood work was all exceedingly handsome and costly. The walls were covered with some kind of satin stuff in pink and blue, I think it was. The windows had double curtains of heavy silk.

There was a beautiful thermometer fixed outside of my window, there was a beautiful thermometer fixed inside of my window, there was a beautiful thermometer on the wall of the corridor just outside my door, there was a beautiful thermometer fixed outside the window of that corridor opposite my door.

There was a very handsome barometer done in brass on my wall and under it a very handsome clock.

All the rooms on that car were furnished with similar luxury. The room of the crown prince, the czar's only son, was done in blue and gold, I believe, or something like that. It was larger and contained two couches, easy chairs, a very good desk in which the young man had left some of his papers, and a double allotment of thermometers.

I judged that the prince could lie in his bed and read the temperature in four different spots at once, and if there is any human faculty greater than that, what can it be?

All the fittings in this room were silver plated, even to the door handles. His princelings slept behind a curtain that was a peachy thing of a delicate shade the name of which I have forgotten but experts said it was perfectly grand. Water was conveyed into his wash bowl through a silver plated pipe.

The next two rooms were equally large and imposing. One was furnished in blue and some other color, mauve, I think they said, and had beautiful rolling easy chairs and thermometers to heat the band. All the rooms had thermometers and barometers and clocks, suggesting that the weather must have been the favorite subject of intellectual discourse when the imperial party went out to ride.

Also, the Grand Duchess Olga's room had a hand decorated cold cream jar, said to be extremely choice and a work of art.

All the rooms had very thick soft carpets and hand painted ikons.

In the drawing room part of the dining car there was a marvelous table, which being opened in the center disclosed outfit for every kind of game known to man, from roulette and faro to cribbage and bridge.

For instance, the railroad was crippled for lack of freight cars and locomotives. At one place there were 800,000 tons of freight piled up, much of which had been there three years and some of which had begun to rot. Much of it was freight imperatively demanded for the carrying on of the war and even for the feeding of the armies. Yet at every division point there were locomotives and cars awaiting repairs.

They couldn't be repaired because the grand imperial mismanagement, which made a hash of everything it touched, hadn't provided the tools or the material to repair them.

Silver plated wash bowls and door handles for the princelings and no tool, steel or machinery to keep the road going. Satin hangings and hand painted cold cream jars and no lathes. Carpets an inch thick and all kinds of fol-de-rols for a band of parasites and the road shy of hammers and jackscrews.

It was also sweet to pass a train of fourth-class cars and see the people on whose broad backs used to be laid the burden of this thing, whose toll supported it and whose sweat paid for it, jolting along on boards laid across trestles.

You needed to see a few of them before you could get all the sweetness out of the reason why the czar's car was not there.

It started with the rest from Petrograd to meet us. But some of these horny handed ones that had with their labor supplied all this insane extravagance recognized it and got the idea that the czar was in it, jumping from the car.

Some of the first ones to jump boots came aboard, rifle in hand, and insisted upon searching the car to make sure Nicholas Romanoff wasn't hidden away somewhere. Any they poked their bayonets into so many corners and through so many hangings and they mused things up so generally that it was deemed best to take that car out of the train.

Yes, it was a grand contraption, that train. But observe what its glories really amounted to. Six months ago whenever it appeared in Russia it was a thing before which men bowed as a symbol of autocratic power that would last forever. And on June 12, around the table in it where the czar had signed his abdication, sat the representatives of three democracies, the United States, China and Russia, and mocked at vanished autocracy.

The czar had gone—but the people remained.

DON'T SAVE TOO MUCH.

With altogether too much readiness and complacency it is assured at the city hall that the contract with a rendering concern to dispose of garbage necessarily means a great saving of the funds appropriated to the care of that class of municipal waste. We trust that the next administration, which will have the stewardship of next year's garbage disposal fund, may show the sense not to view it that way.

Let there be no such folly as trying to save too much. The city has reserved to itself the duty and function of collecting garbage. It should be that with all expense eliminated of disposing of garbage there shall come to this community some relief from the hitherto undeviating failure of the city to collect garbage to the satisfaction of the people. With no more now to do in respect of garbage disposal than to see that collection is frequent, punctual and thorough, the annoyance and irritation that for near a quarter century have principally marked the city's discharge of its duty to householders should have an end. At times heretofore city garbage collection has ceased to be a joke only to become an outrage, but never a public efficiency. The municipal government now has the opportunity to make it that and we trust there may be no failure.

Four years ago the city democracy with great vociferation on the stump and categorical promise on paper pledged itself to an early and complete solution of the garbage problem. After three whole years and three quarters of another the administration elected partially on that promise has made redemption of its pledge by shifting to an experiment. No fault is to be found with that, by itself considered. It may turn out admirably in result, as we hope it may and are ready to believe it will, and constitute itself a whole vindication and invincible triumph of the administration that brought it about months after the arrangement might at first have been made. Since, however, the purpose and intent upon which these words are indited are neither post mortem nor in criticism, let that matter pass.

We merely desire to suggest, as later on occasion we shall not be reluctant to insist, that the city government improve its fair opportunity to make garbage collection efficient and satisfactory. As we have stated in these columns scores of times during the past half dozen years and more, it is in garbage collection that the people of the community are directly interested. Householdors do not concern themselves with garbage disposal. They don't care in the least what the city may do with garbage after it has been collected. They merely want it removed early and often from their premises. The city now can do that if there is going to be no fatuous notion that contracting with a grease rendering enterprise to take garbage off the city's hands solves the whole problem. That solves no problem at all save in so far as it simplifies the city's part of the job and allows more money for the discharge of it.

Don't try to save the garbage fund; spend it—and to purpose.

CONCENTRIC WAR ENDED.

While there has been hardly time for definite announcement to such effect, it is logical to assume that the entente cordiale will be re-established between the United States navy department and the Navy league. Secretary Daniels broke off diplomatic relations and followed it up by declaration that a state of war existed several days ago. Now the Navy league has come off its perch, as the highbrows say in Boston Back Bay district, confesses its error and implies even if it does not state its contrition for having broadly hinted that Secretary Daniels had been either bought up or viciously bludgeoned into "laying off" of the Maré Island navy yard explosion.

Again assuming that the war is done between 'em, one may say it is a happy circumstance and so say we all. The Navy league is a good thing and it has been the initiative and incitement to a great and beneficent work of patriotism during the past two or three months. The Navy league has started more sets of knitting-needles to clicking than altogether had been clicked since grandma vacated the chimney corner to fare forth in the land a new woman demanding her rights. Hundreds of thousands of woolen comforts of many sorts have been turned out by the women of America in this epidemic of the fever for knitting. These comforts are for the men of the navy who need them badly and who are not supplied with them by the government and could not be supplied with them by the government for months if at all.

When Secretary Daniels flared up in righteous wrath over what either was a stupid and tactless attempt to do something spectacular and at the same time patriotic or a base onset against the secretary of the navy, he announced that things made for the men of the navy would have to reach them by some other agency than the Navy league. That did not threaten the knitting industry with extinction, but it did promise to embarrass it in many ways and hamper its usefulness. Now the Navy league has come out with a frank and ample retraction of its insinuated charges. It was wrong and says so. Secretary Daniels, it finds, was not guilty and it says so.

Colonel Thompson, president of the Navy league, approves all this and is probably glad he didn't resign, as Secretary Daniels said he would have to do if the Navy league expected to functionate, and perhaps Secretary Daniels also is glad he didn't. At all events, the secretary is now effulgent in a two-fold vindication—by the verdict of the official inquiry into the Maré Island atrocity and the Navy league's crawl—and it is to be hoped that friendly relations will be restored promptly and effectually.

Meanwhile, let there be no loss of the lesson of the incident itself. It is no light matter to charge or insinuate that a high official of the government is either a crooked politician or a base poltroon—especially if it is likely to be proved fully that he is neither.

Wheat at $2.20 a bushel seems high and as a matter of fact is high, but the price is not an enormity. It is a possible price all round. The bread consumer can see it and the farmer surely can respond to it. The sturdy American husbandman who, back in the days of the old Farmers' Alliance, Senator Pepper, Jerry Simpson, sixty-cent wheat and an eighteen-per cent. mortgage, used to dream of the dawn of a millennial day when his grain would be worth a dollar a bushel by government fiat and guarantee, was merrily hooted and contemptuously jeered by the anointed cohorts of conservatism. Comes now the government fiat and guarantee of a fixed price and that price two dollars and twenty cents a bushel. We wish Senator Pepper and Jerry the Sockless had abided to see this day. The triumph of an idea is no small solace to the fellow that saw it first.

Twenty-five thousand men in arms marched through the streets of New York yesterday to go into camp for preparation to fight in France and an English army officer gazing in admiration on the stature, carriage, general bearing, demeanor and confident spirit of the young men, said those twenty-five thousand were only a "very small drop in a very large bucket." Almost as large an army as Grant had in action the first day at Shiloh, half the number of effectives used by Lee at Gettysburg, the greatest battle of the civil war and one of the decisive battles of the world—yet "only a drop in the bucket." It is true enough, in a war in which twenty millions of men are under arms.

Somehow, we are just reminded to inquire, with all this, that and the other going on, what has become of Thomas W. Lawson. Have all the provocations to extreme speech been exhausted? Is the government on the square? Has Wall street ceased to conspire and big business to plot? Is no one doing a thing to bait a patriot? In short, are we all right and is there nothing Tom Lawson can do to save the country and contribute to a revival of the gaiety of nations? Ah, us! Alackaday and likewise, O tempora, O mores, and O dear!

The president's use of the English language stands the nation and the world in good stead. It is of advantage to have the thing set forth clearly and with force. The kaiser, by the way, is considered a more than fair scholar in his understanding of English.

Forty-cent oats, fifty-cent corn and dollar wheat used to be thought about the peak and ideal of agricultural markets. Now a fixed price of $2.20 for wheat is thought to be cutting off a little at both ends of the figures.

The majority in congress is for the war and for financing the war. Half a dozen kaiserists in either chamber are trying to make a noise like the voice of the people. It is a pitiable failure.

POPE'S PEACE MOVE MAY BE STEP TOWARD UNITY OF CHRISTIAN CHURCHES

(By REV. CHARLES STELZLE.)

Will the pope's peace drive be the beginning of another movement for the re-establishment of union among the various branches of the Christian church?

It will be remembered that early in the year Pope Benedict XV appointed a commission of four cardinals to open negotiations with the Anglican church and the Greek Catholic church, looking toward organic union. Is the peace proposal another movement in this direction?

There is no doubt that when peace is established some kind of a league to enforce peace will be formed by the political states of the world. It is argued that this example will stimulate the desire for religious union.

If the pope's peace plan goes through it will undoubtedly give him an unusual opportunity to call another general council of the Christian church, of which many have been held in the past.

Previous to the seventh century seven general councils were held to determine great theological questions, and the findings of these councils are recognized today by practically all Protestant as well as the Anglican, Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic churches.

The Roman Catholic church is making less and less of the temporal power of the pope, emphasizing his purely spiritual leadership, and the Anglican church (Protestant Episcopal) is quite ready to adapt itself to a plan which would bring action about the union of the Catholic and Protestant churches. Indeed, in the United States an important movement is under way in the Protestant Episcopal church to bring about organic union. One wonders what will be the effect of the death of czarism upon the Greek Catholic church—the state church of Russia—so far as union with other religious bodies is concerned.

The sectarian spirit among Protestant churches in this country is being removed, largely through the social work in which churches are becoming increasingly interested. One of the things most greatly feared by the various denominational leaders is the effect of the war upon "denominational loyalty"—for the men in the trenches formerly holding religious antagonisms are coming to discover the foolishness of sectarian prejudice.

However, organic union between the more than 200 Protestant denominations in the United States will be comparatively slow. The chances are that they will not get very close together through a discussion of theological differences in a general council. This will be accomplished through the gradual drawing together of smaller groups—that is, two or three denominations at a time.

Furthermore, it is well known that when a country or a group of nations has been divided on account of the war, as a rule the churches are the last to get together.

And yet, it is not impossible that the pope may attempt to bring together the great religious bodies of the world for the adoption of a united peace program for establishment of Christian ideals.

If the pope can accomplish this more than human task, he will deserve the gratitude not only of the churches but of the entire civilized world.

WATCH THE SPIES.

(Crawfordsville, Ind., Journal.)

In the whole history of the world there probably never was such plotting, intriguing and double-crossing as has been witnessed so far in the relations of Germany toward other nations at war. She has gone to that extent now where her word is no longer taken seriously and no nation would enter into a negotiation for a treaty with her for when it suited convenience the kaiser would regard such a contract as a scrap of paper. As the vice-regent of the Almighty on earth, he is a law unto himself. He filled this country with spies and his hirelings swarm over it as the locusts over Egypt. He was seeking in every way possible to make abortive the plans of this government for conducting this war while professing the strongest terms of friendship for us. Just now his agents are going over this country under various disguises trying to render inoperative the new food law. They are telling the women of the households that if they sign the Hoover conservation food cards they are registering themselves and later on may be drafted.

But in this he will again fail. The patriotic women of this country cannot be deceived. They will go on with their great work of conservation. If the government asks them to prepare more they will do it and with such response that it will tax the capacity of the roads of this land to haul it to the seacoast. This government may confiscate it or take it in any way it sees fit, it will be all right with them. The kaiser is barking up the wrong tree in this, as he is in other things.

RAILROADS TO MAKE HISTORY IN MOVING A MILLION SOLDIERS

(By GILSON GARDNER.)

In moving the national guard and the national selective service army to the various cantonments the railroads of America will make history.

That is the view of the soldier transportation problem taken by Fairfax Harrison, formerly president of the Southern road, and now chairman of the railroad war board directing troop movements.

"The war department," said Harrison, "has called upon the railroads to perform a task which is unprecedented, not only because of the number of troops to move, but because of the long hauls. Between August 20 and October 20 approximately 1,000,000 men must be moved from nearly 5,000 different points to the thirty-two camps prepared to receive them. About one-third of these men, the national guard, take their tents and equipment with them. This means in addition to the coaches and tourist sleepers more than 12,000 freight cars must be transported with the men.

The citizens selected for the national army will begin to move to their training camps September 5. The first concentration movement will set in motion only 35,000 men, between September 5 and 9. This is only 5 per cent of the total 887,000 men to be brought into the sixteen camps.

ment, September 19 to 23, 275,000 men will be brought to the camps. This is 40 per cent. A second 40 per cent will be ordered to the camps October 3 to 7. The rest, approximately 103,000, will be entrained beginning October 19.

A large number of concentration points have been designated in the vicinity of the cantonments. The first movement will be from the homes of the men to those 4,531 concentration points. At these points the men will board trains ready for the cantonments.

The railroads, concentrating every energy on the task of moving soldiers, while preparing for these national army recruits are moving state militia to the sixteen camps designated in the southeastern part of the country.

"No special difficulty would accompany these troop movements," said Chairman Harrison, "if they represented all the railroads were called upon to perform at the time. But the movement of these million soldiers must not interfere with the general freight and passenger traffic.

"All freight is moving in unexampled volume at this time. Practically every factory is working to its capacity. The grain crop is also beginning to move. Soon cotton will be ready for shipment. In addition, the transportation of fuel cannot be interrupted for a moment, although each month the railroads are carrying from the mouths of the mines six million tons more than they ever carried before.

"Organization, much hard work, and the faithful help of the 1,750,000 men who man and operate the railroads will make the accomplishment possible."

RAILROAD NEWS. OPENING FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

General Electric Wants to Make Testers and Drafts- men of Them.

The apprentices' school at the General Electric works, which will open September 5, will start with eighty-five students, the largest number in the history of the school. W. Hockett, the instructor, is paying particular attention to the engineering department, which includes drafting and pattern making, where exceptional opportunities are offered young men to learn good trades and prepare themselves for life's battles. Applicants in this department must be high school graduates and able to graduate at the Electric works they will be able to take up testing work and drafting at good salary. "There is a demand for workmen of this character," said Mr. Hockett, "and there are openings in the class if application is made before the school begins." So far there have been sixteen applicants for scholarship in this department.

FEMALE DISPATCHERS SUCCESS. Nickel Plate Experiments Solving the Shortage Problem.

James T. Callahan, chief dispatcher of the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate, is pleased with the results of the experiments in training girls for work in the telegraph offices. Six weeks ago Mr. Callahan opened a school of instructions for women in train dispatching and general work in the telegraph offices of the division. Ten girls entered the school, two quit, two have qualified or graduated and are now holding regular positions on the line, formerly filled by men, and the remaining six are still studying and are about ready for assignment to positions when needed. The two now holding regular positions are doing as well as did the men whom they succeeded. Telephone has practically taken the place of telegraph in the dispatching of trains and sending other messages over the line, and it is not absolutely necessary for an operator anywhere on the division to resort to old telegraph methods. The call of conscripted and enlisted men will leave a number of vacancies in the telegraph department of the Nickel Plate, which will be filled immediately by the girls now taking instructions in the work.

ENGINEERS TO TAKE TRIPS.

Several of the desks in the transformer engineers' department of the General Electric works, will be vacant Saturday and Sunday, because of excursion trips the men are going to make tomorrow to be gone over Labor day. J. W. Patch and G. M. Wilson, transformer engineers, will leave tomorrow morning in an automobile for the farm of the latter's father, near Frankfort, Ind. Mr. Patch will take Mrs. Patch and their son and daughter and Mr. Wilson will take his wife, making a well filled car. Transformer Engineer F. A. Bryan, with Mrs. Bryan and their two sons, will visit at the home of his parents in Indianapolis. H. C. Meeker, also a transformer engineer, will motor to Lake James tomorrow to remain several days, and K. L. McDaniel, of the transformer production department, will go to Ligonier to spend Labor day.

WILL DELIVER EX- PRESS TO SOLDIERS.

Local Agent G. E. Becker, of the Adams Express company, has received notice that the company has arranged for quick and direct delivery of packages addressed to American soldiers in France and Great Britain. Letters and telegrams may also be addressed to any of the foreign offices and they will be promptly delivered by the Adams Express company. The following offices have been established for the convenience of the troops in France: Paris, France, 23 Rue du Septembre; London, S. W. England, 76 Newgate street; Liverpool, England, 21 Water street; Bordeaux, France, 12 Place des Quincones and 2 Rue d'Enghien; Rotterdam, Holland, 6 Willemssteeg; Manchester England, 9 Mount street; Glasgow, Scotland, 101 Mitchell street.

B. & O. ENGINEER IS PROMOTED.

Garrett, Ind., Aug. 31.—J. G. Kirchner, of this city, has been promoted to the position of road foreman of engines on the Baltimore & Ohio system at Parkersburg, W. Va. He left to assume his new position Tuesday. The promotion came about through the recommendation of Superintendent J. F. Keegan, who asked him to accept the offer. He has previously served as assistant road foreman of engines here. His family will follow him in the near future.

CHASING UP MATERIAL.

L. P. Sherrick, shipping clerk at the General Electric works, who left the city last week to "chase up" overdue shipments of sheet metal and other manufacturing material for the company, is meeting with some good luck, as indicated by the receipts of material at the big factory. There is still a shortage of material, but Mr. Sherrick will continue the pursuit.

SEVERAL NEW TESTERS.

Several new testers have taken employment in the general testing department of the General Electric works this week. Among them are Foster Herndon, of Akron, Ind.; Ernest Ledonne, a graduate of the Tri-State college; Russell Plummer, of Whitley county; Alva Beckman, of Fort Wayne, and A. B. Hlava, the latter taking the students' course.

Construction plans for linking the railways of Sweden and Finland have been drawn and it is expected that the connection will be established by the autumn of 1918. The bridge over the Tornea river, between Tornaa and Haparanda, is to be a single track bridge, but in view of the fact that there is a difference of gauge between Swedish and Russian railways, two sets of rails will be laid on it, so that the bridge may be used by both Russian and Swedish rolling stock, though not simultaneously.

Miss Annie Russell and the 13th Chair

A most unusual play is Bayard Veiller's "The Thirteenth Chair," which opened a two days' engagement at the Majestic theater on Thursday night with Miss Annie Russell in the leading role. Spiritualism of the kind that fake mediums and clairvoyants pursue to make their living off credulous people, is the groundwork of the play and Miss Russell is the "fakir all me life," she naively states, masquerading for years under the name of Rosalie LaGrange, a character in the Will Irwin stories. Upon this groundwork of the play is woven the mystery of a murder. The mystery surrounding the murder and the medium is maintained until late in the progress of the play. The manner of doing so is ingenious and Mr. Veiller has constructed many incidents that maintain interest and keep the audience wondering until the climax comes. Perhaps the strongest point of the play, however, is the genuine touch which the medium gives in the third act. That it is which lifts the play above the cheapness of the scene that is engrossing earlier in the performance and which by the way set all the superstitious people in the audience to fighting so that their unconscious movements were disturbing and made some passages of the play difficult to hear.

This genuine thing about the medium is the suggestion of read spiritualism, the sincere belief maintained by many people of a conscious communion with departed spirits, and by others manifested in a faith so strong that they are as certain of receiving direct answers to prayer as of receiving the objects for which they deposit money on a counter. So when trouble assails the fake medium she prays for a real manifestation of what she has long been pretending. Of course in the play it so happens. She receives it. It could not be otherwise as a coherent part of the story. And thereon hang all the thrills and interesting developments of the play itself. It may be improbable but "The Thirteenth Chair" is not supposed to be a preachment or a problem. It is first class entertainment, however, and well worth going to see more than once.

Miss Russell is the big thing of the performance, not because others of the company are not capable and well set up as to appearance, but because Miss Russell creates a roll that is classic, in spite of its ordinary standing as a mere character. One could hardly imagine a public clairvoyant and medium ready to give séances for money, as a character worthy of admiration. But Rosalie LaGrange is, and she is also witty and more often honest of speech than a pretender. So Miss Russell charms her audience with the burr of her tongue and the simple and unaffected mannerisms of the really dear old Irish lady she portrays. As a matter of art, Miss Russell dominates the play with an ineffaceable touch of that histrionic talent which is hers, and which absence from the stage for a number of years has in a wise dimmed its brightness. Miss Russell is supported by a very good company whose individual work apparently meets all requirements. It is many years since Annie Russell appeared in Fort Wayne. She is an artist whom all theatergoers who admire fine acting enjoy, and her part in this play is an interesting addition to a galaxy of stellar roles. The performance will be repeated tonight, then the company goes to Chicago for a long run.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Thirteenth Chair" Last Time Tonight

"The Thirteenth Chair" is one of that sort of plays for which the theatrical producer is eternally looking and so rarely finds. It appeals to theatergoers of every age and almost every class. It has sentiment, it has comedy, and above all it has mystery—of the most engrossing, most baffling variety. During two acts the audience is kept sitting on the edges of its chairs, thrilled by the melodramatic interest of the incidents which lead to the surprising denouement, and trying (and failing) to anticipate the outcome.

No play of the last decade has caused more comment than "The Thirteenth Chair" in New York and no piece that is listed on the local theatrical calendar will be more talked about here.

Labor Day Matinee and Night at the Majestic.

In the cast of "The Girl Gloria" are Leeta Corder, a lyric soprano of exceptional ability, who sings F above high C with astonishing ease and clearness; Valere True, a dainty and pretty soubrette who has that rare quality, in soubrettes, of being able to deliver speeches with intelligence; Rose Victor, a graceful exponent of the dance in all its manifestations; Betty Stokes, whose rich voice and statuesque appearance lend dignity and sincerity to her difficult role of a mother superior; Edwin Stanley, a light comedian who sings and dances with equal facility; Caryl Fuller, a basso-profundo whose future holds bright things; Charles LeMaire, a handsome youth well known to the musical comedy stage; Art Hackman and Tom Hanlon, whose impersonations of negro twins will be one of the things the audience talks about.

The members of the M. F. P. and the E. T. C. club met with Mrs. F. Monroe and Miss Jessie Monroe on Wednesday and enjoyed a pleasant time. In a contest prizes were won by Helen Fink and Eva Wilkinson. There were also present for the occasion Messrs. James D. J. Wilson, Frank Hecker, H. I. Wilson, Ida Smith, Roma Ake, Francis Chapman, Verba Shearer, and Misses Allie Heiser, Eva Wilson, Clona Valentine, Florence Shearer, Helen Fink, Ardella Mullen, Rose Wilson and Georgia Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Seavey and children and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Heston and son are to return from a camping expedition near Duluth, Minn., on Saturday.

Fannie Ward tonight will use Creme Tokalon Roseated to keep her skin fresh, clear and beautiful. Why not you? At all night salons.

AT THE PALACE

FRANCES KENNEDY AT PALACE.

Frances Kennedy, the distinguished singing comedienne with the captivating personality to enhance her talent as a character songstress, is featuring a bang up bill for the remainder of the week. She still is using her two biggest favorites, "It's Born Right in 'Em," and the only about the Irish falling for the hula hula, in which she was such a remarkable hit here a year ago. She does a bit of satire on why women play cards that is a gem of comedy, some of the women in last night's audience becoming hysterical as something in her work recalled a social experience of their own.

Fay, two Coleys and Fay, as clever a little combination of two men and two girls, all working in black face, as one will ever enjoy, do a bit of song, a bit of talk and a bit of dance in a thoroughly laughable way. Their close harmony close is great. LaGraciosa, the woman with the form divine, is made the central figure of some dazzlingly beautiful lighting effects. The act is gracefully staged, even more so this year than ever before. The Four American Beauties, a hobo singing specialty; Bingham and West, a snappy comedy talking and singing team, and Booth and Leander, the cyclist and the nut, complete this bill.

"We Learn to Earn"—Our Motto

"New Lord Northolme estimates there are 1,250,000 British soldiers in the western front alone, without counting the armies in Egypt, East Africa, Macedonia and Mesopotamia, and the reserves to support these forces. You have some idea of the effort England has made, when you realize that for every man in the firing line there must be four men in reserve."

"Canada has sent five divisions to Europe; she has raised more than 400,000 volunteer soldiers out of the civilian population of scarcely 8,000,000. If you in this country were to send a proportionate number of your manhood to the front, you would have an army of 13,000,000 men. You have 30,000 regulars in France now, according to the newspapers, and you have trained 10,000 officers. The new

"You people of the United States do not yet realize that you are at war. You can't realize as we have in Canada until your men are on the firing line. Then it will come home to every one of you what this war means and how great must be your effort, just as it was driven home to us Canadians three years ago."

In a Chicago interview with Col. John S. Dennis, commanding the western division, British recruiting mission, he says:

"Before this war, England, Canada and the United States were the only three countries with professional armies. Every other country had compulsory military service. You know the strength of your regular army; you know how the Germans laughed at England's handful of soldiers. Canada's professional army numbered by courtesy 2,800 men, most of them instructors and non-commissioned officers of the militia. We are a peaceful nation; it took a good dose of Scotch whisky in those days for a man to get up nerve enough to walk down street in uniform."

"We were as unprepared as you when the war broke out. But in the three months, England put into the field 164,000 regulars and Canada enlisted, trained and equipped her first contingent of 35,000 men. That contingent included a division, a spare infantry brigade, a heavy artillery unit and a hospital unit. They were gathered together at Valcartier camp and equipped for service in one month. Hundreds of them were boys from the cadet corps of the public schools, for Canada has had military training in the public schools since the Boer war, and these young fellows out of school were the first to go and they were ready."

But in the three months, England put into the field 164,000 regulars and Canada enlisted, trained and equipped her first contingent of 35,000 men. That contingent included a division, a spare infantry brigade, a heavy artillery unit and a hospital unit. They were gathered together at Valcartier camp and equipped for service in one month. Hundreds of them were boys from the cadet corps of the public schools, for Canada has had military training in the public schools since the Boer war, and these young fellows out of school were the first to go and they were ready."

"Canada has sent five divisions to Europe; she has raised more than 400,000 volunteer soldiers out of the civilian population of scarcely 8,000,000. If you in this country were to send a proportionate number of your manhood to the front, you would have an army of 13,000,000 men. You have 30,000 regulars in France now, according to the newspapers, and you have trained 10,000 officers. The new

"You people of the United States do not yet realize that you are at war. You can't realize as we have in Canada until your men are on the firing line. Then it will come home to every one of you what this war means and how great must be your effort, just as it was driven home to us Canadians three years ago."

In a Chicago interview with Col. John S. Dennis, commanding the western division, British recruiting mission, he says:

"Before this war, England, Canada and the United States were the only three countries with professional armies. Every other country had compulsory military service. You know the strength of your regular army; you know how the Germans laughed at England's handful of soldiers. Canada's professional army numbered by courtesy 2,800 men, most of them instructors and non-commissioned officers of the militia. We are a peaceful nation; it took a good dose of Scotch whisky in those days for a man to get up nerve enough to walk down street in uniform."

Of the treasures in Alaska, the seals are probably among the most valuable.

Unlike mineral wealth, they need never run out, for, in consequence of their powers of reproduction, they can yield under reasonable control a large and continuous revenue for an indefinite future.

Bilious Attacks.
You wonder what upset your stomach. Never felt better in your life yesterday—now you have a bad bilious attack. Cure that first, then look for the cause. Keep quiet, abstain from food for one day, take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. Drink plenty of water. This will clean the fermenting food and bile out of your stomach, tone up your liver and move your bowels. You will soon be all right again. If you have these bilious attacks at irregular intervals, abstain from coffee and red meats and you may avoid them.—Advertisement.

Moss is being used in this country as a substitute for cotton in articles that require packing and filling, such as cushions and mattresses. Louisiana supplies most of the moss used in this way. The selling price ranges from 5 1/2 to 6 cents a pound. Last year's output had an estimated value of $2,000,000.

It is said that Bloomer Allen, an Arkansas City, Ark., fisherman, when unable to pull a seventy-five-pound catfish from the Arkansas river dam, chained the fish and dragged it through the river to Arkansas City, a distance of four miles. When he reached the city several men assisted him in pulling the fish out of the water.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN AND YOUR MOUTH SHUT

This Is Advice of Trained Soldier to Embryo Recruits.

"My best advice to you is to keep your eyes and ears open and your mouth shut," said a soldier who has served both before and since the Spanish-American war, when asked for bits of army wisdom by several young men who will leave with the new national army.

"If you will remember this you will get along well," continued the veteran of the ranks. "Hard work and no attempt at back talk will make a good soldier of any ordinary fellow."

"When you join your unit you have everything to learn and nothing to teach; so the less you have to say the better off you are. All the training you receive will be for the one thing only—to make you able to cope with the Germans if you ever are called to go over the top." The whole idea of military discipline is team work, and you are not playing your part unless you are willing and eager to learn. A lot of our young fellows believe that army discipline is on a par with that of a jail. Nothing is further from the truth. An enlisted man is treated with respect by his officers and has more chances of redress than he would have with a superior officer in a factory or office in civil life.

"The quicker you learn the quicker you'll rise. None of your superior officers will wish to keep you back; instead they will boost you along if you give them the least reason to do so. You will find most of the army officers ready to take off their coats and go to the mat with anyone who trifles with a man in their command."

"Enter into the spirit of the service and be proud of your position. Every man can't be an officer, but a true soldier is as proud of his place in the rear rank as if he were a major general leading an army. Respect yourself and others will respect you."

"Pay attention to details. These little things that seem so trivial to you now are just the things that will save lives later on. Put 'pep' into everything you do. Do every thing willingly and do it in a manner that there shall be no complaints or criticism of it later."

"Never talk back to a superior officer. If he is overbearing in his manner, or if you think he is imposing on you, wait until you can bring the matter up before the company commander. You will get justice. Army regulations compel the officers to give it to you. But my advice is not to go rushing up with complaints; just wait and take time to cool off and think it over. Your officers have more experience than you, and sober reflection will show you that you have not been discriminated against, after all."

"Ask questions. That is what your commanders want. You will find your officers and noncoms willing to explain anything you are in doubt of. That is what they are there for. Don't try and learn everything at once. You won't make a good captain unless you can do a private's work. Find out what your immediate superiors want; then study it up."

"If you are going to buy military books, wait until you have joined a regiment and find what branch of the service you are in and what you are expected to learn. Then get advice on what you want. Your noncoms will put you wise on what to get and save you time and money."

"Don't criticize. There are lots of things that you may imagine that you could do better. Later you will discover that these things are the result of years of experience and hundreds of experiments and that you could not do as good yourself. So keep quiet on these things if you don't wish to be laughed at."

"Be neat. No matter how you dressed in civil life, you must remember that a soldier is always expected to be neat and clean in his appearance. It is required of you and you must do it. Don't be a growler. If you get peeved at anything don't go shooting off your mouth. It gets you nowhere but the guard house. After all your belly-aching you will find that things are run better than you could order them. Whenever you feel like growling go off some place by yourself and don't pester the others."

"You are not a soldier if you are not able to do your bit on guard duty. Next to actual fighting that is the most important of a soldier's duties. If you can't walk post in this country you can't expect to hold your own against 'Fritz' should you be put on an outpost in front of the trenches."

"Your instructors will show you what is required of you better than any newspaper articles. You will not learn the army game from a newspaper, and these articles of mine will not attempt to teach it. All I wish to do is to get you thinking along right lines in regard to your duties and suggest things for you to ask your instructors about."

How to Lose Your Tan, Freckles or Wrinkles

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the tennis ground or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a lake trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson, or more perplexing still, a vicious crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercurized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin—just a little at a time, so there's no hurt or injury. As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercurized wax at your druggist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate whiteness.

HALF MILLION IN THE HOLE.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 31.—It has been decided to abandon what is said to be the deepest oil well in the world. The well, located at Candor, near here, has been drilled to a depth of 7,245 feet. Only 44 feet have been drilled in the past year due to the falling of the casing and a number of tools, the latter when an effort was made recently to clear the well of the casing. It is estimated that $500,000 has been spent in drilling the well.

TAKE 'EM TO EUROPE? SURE

Mighty Battle for Capital and Government of China

Almost Bloodless.

Gen. Hsun's Men Couldn't Shoot and Gen. Chang's Men Couldn't Hit.

Peking, July 28.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Although fully ten thousand republican soldiers participated in the bombardment of the headquarters of General Chang Hsun, the monarchical leader, in Peking, and three thousand of General Chang's troops resisted the onslaught for about ten hours, less than fifty persons were killed and injured in the fighting. Military officers stationed at the legations in Peking are at a loss to explain the small number of casualties in the fighting of July 12. Stray bullets fell practically all over the city and many small shells and shrapnel were exchanged by the contending armies. It is estimated that not less than a million shots were fired in all. The few casualties among the great number of persons exposed to the random firing is undoubtedly due to the fact that both sides were shooting into the air without thought of killing.

Shot Into the Air. Many foreigners who saw the virtually bloodless battle which resulted in the overthrow of General Chang Hsun say both the monarchical troops and the republican forces held their rifles against their hips and shot into the air.

The firing began at 4:30 in the morning on July 12. Chang Hsun had his headquarters in his home in the imperial city about one mile directly north of the American legation. Chang Hsun's troops were scattered about his headquarters and outside the main gate a machine gun was placed in a great pagoda commanding the gate. A large detachment of Chang Hsun's troops also took refuge in the Temple of Heaven about one mile south of the main city gates. The republican forces first shelled the Temple of Heaven. They also directed shrapnel into the imperial city and struck Chang's headquarters with great regularity. The airplanes flew over the city directing the fire of the big guns, and expert foreign military observers say the direction of the firing was quite expert.

Spent Bullets Annoyed. General Chang Hsun's headquarters became untenable about 10 o'clock in the morning and the general and his staff took refuge in the Dutch legation. Up to that time firing had been constant, spent bullets doing much damage to glass in the foreign quarter and forcing the residents to keep under cover.

After Chang Hsun had taken refuge in the Dutch legation, negotiations were begun between the republicans and Chang Hsun's troops. It was not until 3 o'clock in the afternoon that terms were agreed upon. An hour later the firing ceased and normal conditions were resumed in Peking. Chang Tsun's home was fired either

The Busy Machine Gun.

The machine gun which Chang Hsun's command had located on the pagoda outside the main gate kept up a constant fusillade for many hours but little loss was inflicted on the opposing soldiers who were running about the streets in large numbers. Two rapid-fire guns commanded by the republicans and supposed to direct their fire at the enemy guns in the pagoda by the main gate also kept up a fusillade for many hours but with no apparent effect upon Chang Tsun's gunners in the pagoda.

PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO JUSTIN N. STUDY

Resolutions of Respect Are Adopted by Principals and Teachers of Schools.

Final tribute was paid Friday morning to the memory of the late Justin N. Study, for twenty-one years superintendent of the Fort Wayne schools. The body was removed from the home, 624 West Wayne street, at 9 o'clock to the Scottish Rite cathedral. Here it lay in state until 10:30 o'clock, when funeral services were held, in charge of the Masonic order. Teachers, principals and supervisors met at the cathedral for the services. Knights Templar acted as a body guard of honor, and attended in full uniform. The Rev. C. Claud Travis, D. D., pastor of the Wayne Street M. E. church, had charge of the services. The remains were sent at 12:25 o'clock over the G. R. & I. to Hagerstown, where the body was interred.

Resolutions Adopted.

The resolutions adopted were as follows: "Whereas, It has pleased Divine Providence to remove from our midst our beloved superintendent and fellow-worker, Justin N. Study, a man with great steadfastness of character, strong executive ability, high sense of justice and whose friendly personal interest in those under his supervision has endeared him to us all; and

"Whereas, No man has done more to bring the school system of the state of Indiana up to its present high standard, and no man stands higher in the educational forces of the state, and whose death is felt as a personal loss and as a public calamity; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the teachers of Allen county and the city of Fort Wayne, in the Allen county teachers' institute, assembled, do extend our sympathy to the wife and family so greatly bereaved, and to the community where his loss will be so keenly felt; and be it further

—and busy mothers will find first aid here where we do not work on the theory that "anything will do" for children.

We have made a careful study of the situation and the wearing apparel shown at this store embodies practical, neat styles and attractiveness that appeal to young folks and their parents alike.

You'll find this store splendidly ready with everything needed for school wear.

"M" Waists for Growing Children

The scientific way of dressing children is to suspend all weight of the clothing from the shoulders.

"M" Waists are built on common sense lines, permitting the garments to hang from the shoulders instead of the waist. They come in all sizes, priced at 20c and 39c for small children, the larger sizes priced at 49c.

Pencil Boxes 25c

Attractive boxes, containing three pencils, pen holder and an eraser; 25c.

Stockings That Stand the Wear and Tear

That's what the mothers are looking for! And that's the kind you'll find here—sturdy, good looking stockings, made for strenuous wear, reinforced where strain is greatest with double knee, heel and toe.

Such well known makes as Cadet, Wayne Knit and Round Ticket brands—all here in complete assortment and size range.

School Handkerchiefs

What becomes of all the children's handkerchiefs is a problem with mothers. They disappear—no one knows where—and the supply must be constantly kept up.

At the Handkerchief section are pretty little kerchiefs for school; some all white, others with colored borders; at 5c, 10c and 15c. Plain Hemstitched linen ones, in white only, are 12½c and 15c.

This Store will be open until 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Saturday is the Last Day of the Blanket Sale

MOVING AUTOS IS EASY, SAYS LAWYER

When police wanted the big motor patrol moved a half foot to the left in the police garage, Friday morning, Attorney Robert Buhler offered to perform the job.

"You can't lift one corner of that boat," said St Andrews, who pilots the heavy car.

"Pooh," ejaculated the stinky lawyer. He caught hold of the hub of the right wheel and raised that part of the long machine to an acute angle. Police asked that proceedings stop because of possible damage to the car. The automobile weighs 2,800 pounds. But Buhler used to be a strong man with a circus, he explains.

Girls! Use Lemon Juice!

Make a quarter pint of beauty cream for little cost.
Clears, softens and whitens the skin.
Brings out the hidden roses!

By all means, girls, prepare a lemon lotion to keep your skin flexible and young looking. You will soon realize that the loveliness does not mean the powdery look or waxy colorlessness of some hot-house flower, but is typified by the velvety softness of your skin, your peach-like complexion and rosy-white hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white.

Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener and beautifier.

MAN RIDING SPEEDER ARRESTED AT LARWILL

James Johnson Claims He Has Escaped From an Illinois Insane Asylum.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., Aug. 31.—James Johnson, aged 18, who says he has escaped from an Illinois asylum for the insane, and also that he and a pal robbed a jewelry store in Chicago and sold the jewelry they obtained, was stopped by section men near Larwill, Thursday forenoon, while riding a speeder, he said, had been lent to him by a railroad man west of Larwill, in order that Johnson might proceed to Fort Wayne, his destination. The section hands called Sheriff Bodley from Columbia City, after taking the young man, apparently a half-wit, to the junction, west of Columbia City. Detectives Ethan A. Clark and James Jones, of the Pennsylvania railroad force, came to Columbia City from Fort Wayne, Thursday afternoon and spent two hours "sweating" the young man. The speeder is one used by Operator Smalley, at the W. I. tower west of Larwill. He had left it standing near the tower, and Johnson, who had ridden blind baggage from Chicago to Larwill, appropriated it. Johnson is being held in the county jail pending investigation of his stories, to determine whether he is a confessed crook or a "nut."

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 2

THE SHEPHERD OF CAPTIVE ISRAEL

LESSON TEXT—Ezekiel 34.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.—Psa. 23:1.

With the complete subversion of the kingdom of Judah, the national consciousness was largely crushed and the people were without heart for the common affairs of life. Ezekiel, though born in Jerusalem, prophesied in Babylon near the River Kebar. The object of his prophesying was to encourage the captives by placing before them God's promise of their return to their own land. His name signifies, "God will strengthen," which is very appropriate to the mission which in the providence of God he was called upon to fill.

I. Israel's Faithless Shepherds Denounced. (vv. 1-10). These false shepherds included the kings, princes, judges and priests. Ezekiel points out that the captivity was because of sin, but he shows that the greatest guilt obtains with reference to these leaders. They were placed in the position to care for and protect the sheep. The following indictments are brought against them:

1. They fed themselves instead of the flock (v. 2). They were essentially selfish. They ministered to themselves instead of the sheep. Too many today are filling public offices for the sake of private gain. Sometimes even ministers are found who are more concerned about themselves, their pleasures and profits, than they are about the souls of the people who support them.

2. They were cruel (v. 8). They were not only mere hirelings, guilty of looking after themselves, but they actually behaved like robbers, preying upon the flock. All are guilty of this same sin who use their influence and power to the disadvantage of others. In the theocratic kingdom such behavior was peculiarly obnoxious, as the rulers and ministers were representatives of Jehovah himself. The minister and public officer today is acting in his capacity for God, not for himself, therefore he should make the cause of heaven his chief concern.

3. They neglected the diseased, wounded, wayward, and lost (vv. 4-6). As a result of their selfish cruelty the sheep were without food; therefore exposed to disease; had no bond of unity, were exposed to the ravages of wild beasts. God's flocks are in many places thus suffering and dying because they have not been fed. God's judgments are against such (vv. 7-10).

II. The Faithful Shepherd. (vv. 11-16). The Shepherd here is none other than Jesus Christ. The wonderful blessings here described will be realized by Israel in millennial times. This blessed condition will be ushered in by the second coming of Christ. How sincerely all should pray, "Thy kingdom come." When the true Shepherd comes:

1. He will seek his lost sheep (v. 11). Though they have gone astray through wilfulness on their part, and neglect on the part of faithless shepherds, Jesus will seek them out and save them. To save the lost was his peculiar mission (Luke 19:10).

2. He will rescue them from the power of their enemies (v. 12). God's sheep have real enemies and they have fallen into the enemies' hands, but the Faithful Shepherd is able to deliver them. "No one is able to pluck them out of his hands" (John 10:28, 29).

3. He will bring them back to their own land (v. 13). Poor, scattered Israel shall one day (may it be soon!) be brought back to their own land. This is the one unmistakable sign by which we may know the beginning of the end of this dispensation. Be assured that it is not wars, nor pestilences that mark the sign of the close of this age, but the movements of Israel.

4. He will feed them (vv. 14, 15). "I will feed my flock, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord God. I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick; but I will destroy the fat and the strong; I will feed them with judgment."

5. He will seek that which was lost (v. 16). That which has been driven away he will seek and bring it back again.

6. He will heal them from weakness and suffering (v. 16). All the wounds which Israel has received these many centuries shall be healed.

III. The Golden Age (vv. 23-27). The vision of the world as it now is, is most disheartening. It is midnight darkness. In this blackness we wonder why God does not interpose. We wonder how he can be silent. While midnight is upon us we are hopeful, for we see the bow of God's promise of better things flung across the sky. This present order shall disappear before the new. In that new order:

1. Jesus Christ, David's Son, shall be king (vv. 23, 24). This new era of blessedness can only come into realization when God's Son shall establish his kingdom upon the earth.

MENNONITES ADVISED NOT TO RESIST DRAFT

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 31.—At a secret conference of ministers of the Mennonite church of the United States and Canada and India in annual session at Goshen a statement was prepared in which members of the sect are advised not to violate the selective draft law or any other law relating to the war in which this country is now involved. The statement also embodied the position of the sect on the present war. It holds that no Mennonite can conscientiously participate in any phase of the war. But all are advised to report in the required manner for draft examinations and then file claims for exemption on grounds of religious beliefs. The conference ended last night.

THE MARKETS

STEADINESS PREVAILS ON THE LOCAL MARKETS

Receipts Fall Off Slightly With Little Change in Price—Corn Drops.

After the record receipts of Thursday, offerings on the city markets fell off slightly Friday but still maintained a good figure. Twenty-five loads were weighed on the city scales and found ready sale. Steadiness prevailed for the most part today, the only variation in prices from the former day being a drop of 1c on the bushel in the corn market, and an increase of 4c per bushel in the bottom price of oats.

Hay was again abundant on the city scales. Eighteen loads were weighed, with no variation in price from the $12 to $15 mark of the previous day. Only one load of corn came in, selling for $1.64, 1c lower than the price of yesterday. Six loads of oats commanded 56c to 62c per bushel. After a marked advance during the early part of the week, eggs remained steady today, wholesalers quoting a price of 27¢ per dozen.

Shorts Renew Hammering of Steels and Bring Two Issues Down.

New York, Aug. 31.—The short interest renewed its tactics at the opening of today's stock market though proceeding more cautiously than yesterday. U. S. steel was again the chief feature, its initial offering of 35,000 shares at 11 1/2 to 12 1/2 minus regular and extra dividends of 4 1/2 per cent, representing a loss at the low quotation of half a point. Further heavy sales carried steel down to 11 1/2. Other industrials recovered average recessions of a point. Steady liquidation accompanied the active dealings of the first hour, the pace quickening towards midday. Shipments were weak. Some support was accorded the rails. Recoveries in important stocks at noon ranged from 1 to 2 1/2 points.

torney W. C. Hammer also was made a defendant.

The law which becomes effective tomorrow, prohibits the employment of any child under 14 years old in any factory, mill, workshop or cannery, whose products are to be shipped in interstate commerce and requires that the working day of children 14 to 15 years old shall not be longer than eight hours. Reuben Dagenhart is under 16 and John Dagenhart under 14. The father contended he has a right to their wages until they are 21 and that as the North Carolina law allows 11 hours a day, Reuben has a right to work more than eight hours a day while John has a right to work in the mill although under 14 because the state law permits it.

WILSON NOTE PUTS THE ISSUE PLAINLY

Paris Newspaper Declares
President Has Stated Entire Case.

Paris, Aug. 31.—"President Wilson has taken counsel only with his conscience in formulating his response to the vatican's peace proposals," says the Temps, "but he has an ideal so similar to our, such a clear view of European realities that his meditation has brought him to a finding of which we approve. The sentiment which inspires the entire note just as it inspires the entire French public is the conviction that we cannot treat with the German government at present. The president of the United States, in his patient negotiations regarding submarine warfare, had the same experiences as France in ten years of discussion of Moroccan questions and has drawn the same conclusions. Nothing could be gained by signing tomorrow a new 'scrap of paper.' It would not conduce to world peace. It would merely give the Prussian general staff time to prepare for new aggression."

"That surely was not the end which the pope proposed. He said the fundamental point must be the substitution of the moral force of right for the material force of arms, but Mr. Wilson has seen clearly and explained clearly that negotiation as suggested by the Holy Father would end in an entirely different result. In Germany it would give to the imperial government a renewal of strength."

"Outside of Germany it would compel persons who desire to remain free to create a permanent league against the German danger. It would result in fact, in consolidating Prussian militarism and in perpetuating a regime of armed peace. It is not to achieve this that the United States entered the war. It is not for this that we are fighting. President Wilson wants a real peace, one which will do away with the causes of war. His doctrine is logical from one end to the other. It is because he wants a pacific Germany that he rejects the idea of enclosing it within a wall. It is because he counts upon the opening of the eyes of the German people that he refuses to treat with the Hohenzollern autocracy."

"He has confidence in the future. He believes his ideal can be imposed even upon the enemy."

"We join the president in this pious hope, but this hope will not be realized unless the United States perseveres indefatigably for victory of the right. The calmness with which Mr. Wilson contemplates future peace corresponds with the energy with which he will continue to conduct the war. This is the comforting impression left by reading his note. More than ever we have faith in his untiring firmness."

STIRS THE BRITISH.

Washington, Aug. 31.—With the exception of the president's war message no declaration of this government has been received with greater enthusiasm in London than the reply to the pope's appeal for peace. Ambassador Page notified the state department today that the British public had read the president's note with evident approval and enthusiasm.

MARRIED AT HILLSDALE.

Hillsdale, Mich., Aug. 31.—Victor V. Cartwright and Miss Nina F. Scott, both of Fort Wayne, were married by Rev. Louis Delamater at the Methodist parsonage yesterday.

Justin W. Morr and Miss Helen E. Baker, both of Albion, Ind., were married by Rev. J. W. Will at the Presbyterian manse.

FIVE CENT LOAF NOT TO RETURN

Chicago, Aug. 31.—According to Chicago bakers and trade publications the fixing of $2.20 as the basic price for wheat will not resuscitate the old time five cent loaf which disappeared long ago with the sky ricketing of wheat prices. In fact, it was said that the reduction would merely permit bakers to continue in business without a loss, as it was alleged some of them have been doing.

HARDING SAYS USE REASON IN TAXING

Declares Mulcting of Profits
Is a Fine Way to Cripple War Power.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—Senator Harding, of Ohio, opened today's debate on the war tax bill with an argument for caution against too drastic conscription of wealth. He urged that taxes be levied which would not cripple business, deplete reserve strength of the nation and its ability to carry further losses. The war he contended is not popular.

"There are scores of contributing reasons," he said. "We are sincerely devoted to peace, the calm sign cry of the year before our involvement and which was dealt upon in studied oratory from every stump. We are a patriotic people, without racial enmity. Our free republic is full of allies. We have many who clank themselves in American habiliments, but their souls, genius and cunning are loyal to the land from which they came. We harbor the trained propagandists whose business it is to spread sedition. We have plotters and bomb planters and wholesale murderers. We have the anarchist whose creed is destruction. We have the greedy and the profiteer in every walk of life. And we have not been clear in our reasons for making war."

"It would be well to say less about world-wide democracy, and let it ring clear that we mean to hold America safe for Americans. We are not fighting to fix the international boundaries of Europe." If necessary to win the war," Senator Harding said, he would conscript every dollar of income over $5,000 to a family. "But if you strike at excess profit you reduce incomes and are likely to hinder our industrial development," he continued. "There is no cause for panicking. Were it not for munition plants and for big and highly organized American industries, Germany would today be dominating the world. "Conscript incomes and profits and we shall have no one to buy our bonds. We are raising larger taxes in the first year of the war than Great Britain in her third. The war is likely to end, and I believe it will end before the burdens we are now levying are turned into the treasury. We may well cooperate to strike a staggering blow at the enemy, but need not strike ourselves at the same time."

WALKER-BUNNELL.

Young Couple Wed in Goshen at Home of Bride's Sister.

A beautiful wedding took place on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Grady, of Goshen, when Mrs. Grady's sister, Miss Dorothy Bunnell, and Mr. Roy C. Walker, both of this city, were married by Rev. Keechley, pastor of the First English Lutheran church. Miss Jewell Sythart and Dr. R. Hamilton were bridesmaid and groomsmen. The bride and groom were served a delicious wedding dinner and Mrs. Grady had her home beautifully decorated for the wedding. The bride and groom returned Thursday evening to their home and will leave on Saturday for a western trip. On their return home Mr. and Mrs. Walker will go to housekeeping. Mrs. Walker is a daughter of Mrs. Alice Bunnell, of East Pontiac street, and she has been employed as a saleswoman in the Trenkley & Koerber jewelry store where her courtesy and charming manners have been much admired. Mr. Walker is a correspondent for the Bowers company and is a young man held in high esteem.

EASTERN STAR BENEFIT.

With a program marked by patriotic and military ceremonies, the drill team of the Eastern Star gave a benefit for the Red Cross at the Scottish Rite cathedral Thursday night. Hundreds of people attended and were well pleased with the excellent program rendered. Music was furnished by the Shrine band, and interpretive dances were given by Charlotte Alter, Grace Romary and Margaret Niblick. Earl Thompson and Miss Ethel Doud sang vocal selections, introducing the "Marselles" and "America." A drill was given by the drill team of the order. William C. Geake was master of ceremonies. The entire amount of the contributions of the evening will be turned over to the Red Cross fund.

Wise, Frank Wolfe, Charles Pergler, Governor Burnquist, of Minnesota, and President John H. Walker, of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

TO REORGANIZE AND REDUCE BONDED DEBT

Traction Company in Bad Financial Straits and Must Have Funds.

A reorganization and recapitalization of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company is necessary in order to reduce the bonded debt and to furnish funds with which to increase and improve the service, according to an announcement from the local offices following the receipt of a letter from Philadelphia.

Setting forth the conditions of the company, its earnings and losses, during the past six months, the letter states that an immediate retrenchment will be necessary in order to avoid receivership. The bonded debt, particularly of the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley Traction company, and the Lafayette & Logansport Traction company, must be reduced. Copies of the letter have been sent to all security holders.

President Feustel, of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, stated that the directors of the company have been working on the financial problem for the past six months, and it was apparent that the revenues were not sufficient to meet the increasing expenses. Additional money was needed for improvement, yet sufficient funds were not available to pay the charges on money already invested.

Committees are to be formed to formulate plans for the financial reorganization of the company. It is stated that the reorganization will not affect the plans to give increased and improved service to Fort Wayne and other cities.

Chiefs Keep Up Fast Pace Losing Fourth Road Game

Allen's Pitching Too Strong and Shutout Is Scored Against Locals.

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 31.—Fort Wayne managed to keep up her record for straight losses on the present road trip when the Chiefs skidded into Muskegon and were let down with a 4 to 0 shutout against them in yesterday's game. The Chiefs had two good chances to count but were unable to come across with the goods at the proper time. They threatened seriously in the fifth inning and staged a batting rally in the ninth which should have at least netted them one or two markers and possibly tied up the count if the Chiefs had had a pinch hitter with an awful wallop in his bat, but such was not the case.

Allison pitching for the Chiefs did not receive kind treatment at the hands of the Muskegon outfit. Every player on the club was able to solve his delivery and get one or more hits with the exception of Hunter, who could not connect. Allison was put through the paces in the first round. Three singles and a triple greeted him when the home club wanted to bat in their half of the opening session and the result was that three runs were scored against the Chiefs in that inning.

Hoffman got a triple in the fifth inning and it looked as if the Chiefs should have scored in this inning but they failed to do so as Allen was too strong and no hit was forthcoming.

Allen pitched great ball, allowing the Chiefs six hits in nine innings. The game was one of the shortest played here this season.

MAYS MASTERS THE SUBMARINE BALL DESPITE DOUBT OF HIS MANAGERS.

(By Paul Purman).

A stockily built, sandy-haired fellow wearing a Red Sox uniform picked up a ball and wandered out of the dugout, motioning a catcher to come with him.

He tossed up a couple of easy ones then he suddenly stretched himself out. He was bent almost double, with his head on the level of his hips, his left gloved hand stretched out far in front and his right hand with the ball far behind.

The right hand swept down, missing the ground by a few inches and the ball shot upward to the catcher, breaking sharply.

It was Carl Mays executing his submarine ball, the only one in captivity.

Mays has speed, a good curve and a change of pace. In addition his underhand delivery is hard for most batsmen to hit because they do not bat against it often enough to get accustomed to it.

Mays' use of the submarine ball is the result of innumerable battles with managers, both major and minor.

"Jack Barry," he told me, "is the only manager who did not try to break me of the underhand delivery. Even Bill Carrigan, as smart a manager as ever lived, thought I should drop the underhand and adopt the side arm or overhand delivery. I had quite a time convincing him otherwise."

"In the minor leagues I was always having arguments with managers who believed the underhand delivery was to be tabooed because it was scarcely ever used. That was the best reason, to my notion, for keeping on using it. A batter is less likely to hit the kind of pitching he seldom sees than that he runs across every day."

"I believe many managers make mistakes in trying to tell their pitchers how to pitch. Of course there are many faults which a manager can correct, but when it comes to changing a pitcher's whole delivery, I believe it is radically wrong. There have been many pitchers ruined by having a manager interfere with their pitching style."

This year Mays' pitching average is just a trifle below Babe Ruth's, at .574, and his earned run average is 1.92 per game, fifth in the list of American league pitchers. Last year he won 17 and lost 13 games for an average of .576 and had an earned run average of 2.33.

In 1915, his first year in the American league, he won four and lost six games, and his earned run average was 2.50.

Mays' average shows that he is right, at least so far as his own case is concerned. It is not likely that he would have done much better with any other kind of a delivery.

This year Mays' pitching average is just a trifle below Babe Ruth's, at .574, and his earned run average is 1.92 per game, fifth in the list of American league pitchers. Last year he won 17 and lost 13 games for an average of .576 and had an earned run average of 2.33.

In 1915, his first year in the American league, he won four and lost six games, and his earned run average was 2.50.

Mays' average shows that he is right, at least so far as his own case is concerned. It is not likely that he would have done much better with any other kind of a delivery.

News of Our Neighbors

AT VIMY RIDGE.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—Henry Strohm, formerly clerk in the Bluffton postoffice, and son of John Strohm, of Craigville, fought with the Canadian troops in the battle of Vimy ridge, one of the fiercest battles of the European war, and as the result of his experiences he is now taking special treatment for a nervous breakdown at Detroit. Miss Made Evans, of Fort Wayne, formerly of this city, received a brief letter from Strohm following his arrival at a hospital in Camp Borden, Canada, from the trenches. He did not state whether he had received any wounds, but said that he had suffered from a nervous breakdown. He was to leave a few days later for Detroit to take special treatment and then expected to visit in this vicinity.

MISTAKE IN ADDRESS.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—When the list of nine men granted exemptions by the district board was published last night there was some confusion, as the published list showed that the district board exempted "Otto Ratliff, 334 North Marion street," thus showing exemption for Otto Ratliff as far as the name went but giving the street address of Clold B. Ratliff. The district board's notice also came to Clold Ratliff yesterday morning, but when the local board called the district board they were informed that the exemption had been granted to Otto Ratliff.

WILLIAM GEIGER DEAD.

Defiance, O., Aug. 31.—The demise of William Geiger marked the passing of one of Defiance's most prominent retired business men. Mr. Geiger had been engaged in the manufacture of furniture for thirty-five years. He was elected vice president of the State bank in 1901, and in 1912 was elected president of that institution. Mr. Geiger is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. Mildred Lamb, of Toledo, the Misses Edna, Ruth and Dorothy Geiger, of Defiance.

SALES FOR EUROPE.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—Mail which Bluffton friends have sent to John Hiestler, a member of a supply company recruited in the east from other branches of the army service, has been returned to the senders with a notation that Mr. Hiestler had sailed on Aug. 7, written across the face of the envelope. Mr. Hiestler enlisted as a truck driver and no word has been received from him for several weeks. He is probably in France by this time. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hiestler.

MAKES AERO FLIGHT.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 31.—Word was received from Milford, Wednesday, that Glenn M. Davison, a Milford boy, who finished high school last spring and who, after joining the United States aviation corps, was transferred to Texas, made a flight from Texas to Mt. Clemens, Mich., a few days ago. He was in Mt. Clemens when heard from after the successful flight had been made.

EXAMINE MOR EMEN.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—It will be necessary for the county conscription board to examine more men to fill the county's quota of 137. One hundred and eighty names were certified to the district board at Fort Wayne and when that body completed the examination of claims Wednesday it had discharged fifty-two because of dependents and on grounds of agricultural and industrial occupations. Nine more men must be accepted to fill the quota.

REPORTS OF VARIOUS AGRICULTURAL AGENTS

Six Better Wheat Meetings Are to Be Held in Allen County.

Agricultural agents in northeastern Indiana have made the following reports to Purdue university:

A. J. Hutchins, Allen county: "Have arranged for six better wheat meetings." A. E. Ambert, DeKalb county: "Plans are being made for the fall fair that will be held during the first week in October. The premium list has been prepared and sent to the press."

V. A. Place, Wabash county: "The entire week has been spent in wheat campaigning. Am meeting with ring officers in all parts of the county and asking them to insist that their ring members get their fertilizers now and get seed bed prepared early. The response and interest is extra good."

H. R. Smalley, Steuben county: "Our wheat meetings were well attended in spite of the busy season. The acreage will be 50 per cent above normal and the acre yield will be increased by the use of fertilizer, treatment of the seed for smut and other disease, by the use of better seed and by a more thorough preparation of the seed bed. We have selected over 5,000 bushels of choice seed."

RAISED NOT A HAND

TO DEFEND HIS WIFE

Judge Kerr Delivers Bitter Prelection to Heartless Husband.

What should be a husband's attitude when his wife is being brutally assaulted by a chair, which is swung by another man?

Do the marriage vows imply that friend husband sit placidly and let his wife be beaten by a chair, while his helpmeet is knocked down and her body beaten into a mass of bruises?

Judge H. W. Kerr doesn't think so.

George W. Jenkins and his wife and two children live at 816 Buchanan street. Tom Jenkins, a brother of the husband, has been rooming in the home. Tom brought home a bottle of whisky on last Monday night. Mrs. George Jenkins, who never got along with her brother-in-law anyway, objected to having liquor in the house.

Neighbors, who were called to the witness stand, in police court Friday morning, told that Mrs. Jenkins and Tom quarreled for two hours. Mrs. Jenkins found the whisky bottle in Tom's suit case and hurled the flask out upon the sidewalk. She ordered the brother-in-law to leave the place.

When Tom continued to rest in the easy chair and to answer the protests of Mrs. Jenkins in subhurricanic tones, the woman hunted a club. She found a board on the back porch. With the weapon she attacked Tom. She told in police court that she hit him on the head, although Tom testified that he bore marks in divers other places.

Tom picked up a chair and began vicious assault on Mrs. Jenkins. It was in court. He struck the woman many times and finally left her in a semi-conscious state. Mrs. Jenkins was knocked down twice and serious bruises inflicted on her body. She displayed to the court a long rent in her scalp and a blackened eye.

Neighbors came to the rescue and aided in reviving the woman after the assault. Tom hurried away, but was arrested later on a charge of assault and battery.

Meantime George, the husband, had sat quietly by, with the baby in his arms, and had watched the whole affair. He saw the man hit his wife several times. George continued to quietly rock the baby.

"Why did you not fly to the aid of your wife?" asked Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman.

"I had to watch the baby," was George's prompt platitude.

When all testimony had been submitted Judge Kerr talked to both George and Tom. To George he remarked:

"I wish I had an excuse for sending you down to the state prison for a couple of months. You are a fine husband. You are surely devoid of all chivalry or sense of shame."

To Tom the address was more brief. "You are fined $25 and sentenced to ninety days at the state penitentiary. When you get out I hope you will know enough to run away from women who strike you and do not hit them back."

Knew the Shirt.

Alex Bettley, 10, was charged with taking a razor and a shirt and $5 from a barber shop where he had been employed at 2007 Broadway. A boy whom the other lads called "Doley," saw Bettley take the property, which belonged to John Pitt.

"I saw Bettley have the shirt on," said "Doley."

"How did you know it was Platt's shirt?" asked the court.

"Because it looked like the paper on the wall," Doley answered.

Bettley is to be given a chance to "make good." Judge Kerr will try to get him a job. Meanwhile the case will be held open until Sept. 24.

Other Police Court Cases.

Everett Carey was acquitted on a charge of child neglect. It was shown that he has been paying the $2 a week which was ordered by the court some time ago.

Walter Jerald, charged with loitering, is held until his draft status is investigated.

John Gligio, charged with intoxication, will be tried on Sept. 7. James Murphy, charged with incineration, will be tried Sept. 11. Niles Swartz will answer a loitering charge on Sept. 4.

Only one more day of Patterson-Fletcher's Great Half Price sale. Store open until 10 o'clock Saturday night.

ROBISON PARK DOLL IS POLLY ANNA.

Pollyanna is the name of the beautiful Robison park doll. She has been admired by thousands of people, both children and grown-ups, during the present season. Over twenty-six thousand individuals recorded their guesses in the pavilion books, as to her probable name. Only eighteen (18) of these were correct. These eighteen girls drew lots yesterday at the Romp day fete in the presence of a vast throng of spectators. Clara Coudret, of 1335 East Creighton avenue, was the fortunate one and Pollyanna was awarded to her.

Pollyanna is a most fitting name for this most wondrous doll. Thousands of people throughout the world have read the story of Pollyanna, "the glad girl." Early in life Pollyanna learned to find something of joy in every circumstance and in every happening. Her constant expression was "I am so glad." Even in her attic room in her aunt's house, she found gladness. So happy and glad was she, that every one who met her was transformed and found, through her, real joy in living. Her sour old aunt was changed into a smiling appreciative woman. The crusty old bachelor who lived next door was made anew when she would her tender clinging little arms around his neck and told him of her glorious happy world.

So this beautiful doll, Pollyanna, brought joy and gladness to all the admiring children who saw her this summer at Robison park. They smiled in her presence. They yearned to possess her and to enfold her in their arms. To look at Pollyanna made them glad. Mingled with the gladness was a secret wish that Pollyanna might go home on Romp day to live with them.

Pollyanna went home with twelve-year-old Clara Coudret, where she will be a constant source of joy and gladness to her little mother. Manager Williams also presented to Miss Clara the story of Pollyanna in book form.

A PLEASING INCIDENT OF ROMP DAY.

To express his appreciation of the friendship and devotion of nine-year-old Leopold Wismer, Manager Williams presented little Leopold with a boys' solid gold set ring yesterday. Leopold was the first prize baby at the first baby show Manager Williams held in 1916. Ever since that date, a bouquet of flowers, tiny at first and sent in the baby's name, has found its way to Mr. Williams' desk on the 24th day of August, the date of the park manager's birthday. Leopold lives at 618 Elizabeth street. His father, Peter Wismer, is employed at the Wayne Oil Tank works.

WANTED TO LIVE RIGHT BUT COULDN'T RESIST

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Auburn, Ind., Aug. 31.—I went to Auburn Sunday night and joined church and had planned to lead a straight life, but when a friend, Monday, placed a flask of whisky under my nose, I couldn't resist. Such was the plea that William Kline, of Kendallville, made when arrested for intoxication, Monday. He has been in court before and drew several 60-day terms at the penal farm, and got another despite the appeal he entered.

Captain Seriously Ill.

Company K, of Auburn, expects to entrain within a few days but without its captain, Walter D. Stump. At the present time he is at his home seriously ill with typhoid fever, and if the company leaves before the end of the week, as it expects to, he cannot accompany them. It is not probable that he will be ready to move for six weeks.

Auburn Short Notes.

A number of Auburn Modern Woodmen are planning to attend the meeting of Modern Woodmen to be held in Fort Wayne September 4.

Friday, the weather permitting, the primary department of Auburn Sunday school will hold a picnic in Eckhart park.

Twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nagel, of South Van Buren street. One was a boy and the other a girl.

A noticeable feature of the recent teachers' meeting, held in the court house at Auburn, is that the women outnumber the men to a large percentage. Many of the young men teachers who were on the roll last year have joined the army and are teaching peace lessons to the Germans.

OFFICIALS DESPAIR AT VOTER'S APATHY

Big Problem for All Party Workers Is to Get Registrations.

The ancient malady which has afflicted voters since the dawn of a halting democracy, and which is sometimes termed "last minutes" is the present Port Wayne illness which has caused many serious consultations of city officials. Every effort has been made to break up the lethargy of citizens who have delayed to register for their ballot in the coming election. All prodigious seems in vain.

Vote registering suffered a decided slump at the main office in the city hall Friday morning. There was a light attendance at the stores where notaries were at work signing up voters on Thursday evening.

Party workers of all political forces have been holding quiet sessions of late in an effort to solve the mystery of the lagging voters. A personal campaign is now being waged in which all persons who have not signed for the ballot are being called upon.

Registration places which are open for service at present are:

WARN GERMAN GOVERNMENT OF WRATH

MUST MEND ITS WAY OR REICHSTAG WILL TAKE DRASTIC STEP

Socialists and Others of Majority Introduce Resolutions in Committee Demanding Reform.

CLAIM RIGHT TO CRITICISE THRONE

Copenhagen, Aug. 31.—A warning that unless the German government heeds demands of the reichstag for reforms the majority parties will take measures, was given before the reichstag main committee on Wednesday.

Resolutions of the majority introduced by Dr. Karl Heine, socialist, demanded for the fourth or fifth time confinement of military censorship to facts connected with the conduct of the war and criticism thereof.

This was held to be necessary because it is notorious that the military authorities exercise a sweeping political censorship of the German press on the pretext that publications of a political nature may affect the military spirit of the people.

Dr. Heine gave the government four weeks until the assembling of the reichstag, to mend its ways. Otherwise, he said, the reichstag majority would be forced to take steps. The government has received some half dozen earlier warnings of a similar nature and its response in the present instance will not be an unfair test of the influence of the present majority in the reichstag.

Speeches and pronouncements of Emperor William were criticised in the debate on the censorship. Matthias Erzberger, centrist leader, and Dr.
Heine called attention to the effect caused by the emperor's impulsive statements, which sometimes run counter to the ostensible policy of the government. Although not mentioned in the censored accounts, committee's proceedings, the emperor's critics probably had particularly in mind his recent utterances in regard to England which he pointed out as Germany's arch enemy which must be defeated at any cost.

Summary of the Day's War News

None of the three big campaigns now in progress on western fronts seem again to have got into full swing. General Cadorna, whose great drive for Trieste, is perhaps the most spectacular of the current operations, is displaying an activity more pronounced than either General Petain or General Haig in their respective fields at Verdun and

GERMAN RAID IS REPULSED

British Break Up Attack Made by Enemy on the Front Below Lens.

Germany Has Not Yet Got Text of Wilson's Note to the Pope.

London, Aug. 31.—The repulse of a German raid on the front below Lens is reported in today's communication.
The statement follows:

"The weather is unsettled, during the night the enemy heavily shelled our forward positions near Aescen-Gohelle (five miles southeast of Lens) and at an early hour this morning attempted to raid our lines. The German troops were repulsed completely."

JEWS MAKE PROTEST.

London, Aug. 31.—A deputation of English Jews, headed by Lord Swaythling, visited the Earl of Derby, secretary of war, says the Daily Mail, and urged the abandonment of the title "Jewish regiment," which had been adopted for the new Hebrew regiment recently organized. The deputation pleaded that 40,000 Jews now serving in the army were fighting not as Jews but as British subjects and wished to continue to do so. Lord Derby agreed to the abandonment of the title and promised to give the regiment a new designation.

The Daily Mail adds that the decision was received with great regret by the promoters and organizers of the regiment.

GERMANY HAS NOT READ NOTE.

Berlin, Aug. 31.—The text of President Wilson's reply to the peace note of Pope Benedict has not been received in Berlin up to a late hour tonight. A dispatch from Holland, transmitting editorial comment of New York newspapers, is the only intimation at hand indicating the tenor of the reply.

BRITISH CASUALTIES HEAVY.

London, Aug. 31.—The total of British casualties on all fronts as reported in August is 59,811, divided as follows:
Killed or died of wounds: Officers, 1,278; men, 10,942; wounded or missing, officers, 4,122; men, 43,459.

PEACE COUNCIL AT GARY BUSTED UP WITH ARREST

Gary, Ind., Aug. 31.—A peace meeting advertised to be held under the auspices of the People's Council, did not take place last night, because James H. Dolson, chief promoter, was taken into custody by agents of the department of justice.

A crowd was on hand at the hall,
but when it learned that Dolson, representative here of the council, had been detained by federal authorities, it dispersed in good order.

A number of posters, which it is claimed, violated federal laws, were seized at Dolson's hotel.

HAIR CUTS AND SHAVES TO BE RAISED LATER

There will be no increase in the price of hair cuts and shaves for the present. Signs placed in the various union shops announcing that after September 3 hair cuts would be 40 cents instead of 35 and shaves 20 cents instead of 15 have been removed.

According to J. C. Werkman, president of the Barbers' union, no action can be taken on the resolution until the next meeting of the organization, two weeks from Monday night. If it is agreed to raise prices they will probably be put into effect on October 1.
There is much opposition to the contemplated increase, it is said.

Christiania, Aug. 31.—Three German spies have been convicted at Bergen for supplying information to submarines regarding the sailing time of vessels which later were torpedoed.
Captain Laven and Officer Schwartz, German citizens, and Thorson, a Norwegian, all were given terms in the penitentiary. Laven was sentenced to five years, Schwartz to four and Thor-son to ten years' imprisonment.

Captain Laven admitted that he worked under instructions from the German authorities. He said that German subjects were forced to obey such orders. Norwegian newspapers in commenting on the trial emphasize that the country must take note of the fact that the German subjects must take orders from their government.

NEW YORK DRUG ADDICTS PLEAD TO GET RELIEF

New York, Aug. 31.—United States Marshal Thomas D. McCarthy announced today that he was considering plans to take care of 200,000 drug addicts who have been deprived of their sources of supply following a number of raids made recently. The marshal said he had been visited by persons in all walks of life who had confessed they were slaves of narcotics which they were now unable to get because of the vigilance of the authorities. They begged the marshal to tell them of some institution where they might receive treatment. About 300 alleged drug vendors have been arrested by the government authorities in the city in the past month.

RUSSIAN CITY OF KAZAN LOOTED AS FLAMES RAISE

Petrograd, Aug. 31.—The fire last Monday in the city of Kazan, on the Kazanka river, 430 miles east of Moscow, spread so rapidly that the population fled to outlying fields and forests, a correspondent of the Bourse Gazette telegraphs. Ruffians began to pillage on a great scale but students of military schools acted energetically and stopped the looting. Later the flames spread to naphtha reservoirs and the town was enveloped in smoke.
The fire burned for thirty-six hours, during which time the people remained outside the town. Order is being restored gradually.

So Says Washington With First Hand View of Food Control.

Fourteen Ounce Loaf for Nickel Is Promise of Food Bosses.

Washington, Aug. 31.—A reduction in the price of bread is in sight today as the result of fixing $2.20 as the price per bushel of the 1917 wheat crop. The licensing system for flour and bread dealers soon will be put into effect and although not extending to the small dealer, the food administration is expected to find a way to hold down bread prices.

Members of the price fixing committee are agreed that a price of $2.20 will permit of a fourteen ounce loaf of bread for five cents, allowing a fair profit to both the flour manufacturer and the baker.

The wheat price was announced by President Wilson last night after the committee, headed by Dr. Harry A.
Garfield, completed its three day deliberations. Representatives of the producers began by voting for $2.50 and labor representatives for $1.84.
The $2 price set by congress for the 1916 crop was taken into consideration by the committee in fixing a fair valuation for this year's harvest.

Range of Wheat Prices.

During the last ten years the highest average price paid to producers for wheat was the June first price 1917, practically $2.49 per bushel. Up to the present time the price has ranged between a minimum of 76 cents paid in December, 1912, to the above maximum. The price has been mounting steadily, but never has such a high level been reached and maintained as since the outbreak of the war. The farm price went as high as $1.23 a bushel in June, 1909, receding till it again took an upward curve in 1915, reaching practically $1.30 a bushel in February, but declining to 91 and a fraction cents in December of that year. The average price has not gone below that mark since December 1915.
Wheat opened at $1.02 and a fraction in 1916, falling to 93 cents in July and

BALDWIN BUILD LOCOMOTIVE FOR EACH HOUR DAILY

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—Nine locomotives a day is the new record of manufacture achieved this week by the Baldwin Locomotive works. The company is devoting the entire capacity of its engine building plants to turning out locomotives of the large type, most of them for war service, and 25,000 men are employed. All locomotive building records have been broken by the achievements of the past week. Only two years ago the company pointed with pride to its record of thirty locomotives a month. In the next few months, going at the present rate, it is expected that more than 225 a month will be turned out. These are all large engines of the complicated type.

STICK-UP CREWS PLY IN GOTHAM'S BUSIEST CENTRE

New York, Aug. 31.—Three high-waymen, operating in the Times square district of Broadway, the center of New York city's night life, shortly after midnight held up a number of subway laborers while crowds coming from the after-theater cafes passed within a few feet. The robbers, who obtained $97, confronted the laborers who had just been paid off and were going off duty, as they came from the tunnel, where they had been working.
One of the laborers who started to resist was seized with a blow from the revolver of one of the highwaymen.
The hold-up men made their escape.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 31.—Leaders of the People's Council of America announced here today that they would start for Washington, D. C., tonight to put the question of their right of holding a national peace convention up to the federal authorities.

In case a hall cannot be obtained there it was suggested that the meeting might be held on the plaza in front of the capitol.

The decision to put the issue up to official Washington was announced by Louis P. Lochner, executive secretary after a meeting of conferees with eastern council leaders over the long distance telephone. Earlier tentative plans had been made for holding the meeting in Milwaukee.

Dressed Up, No Place to Go.

Barred from Minnesota by proclamation of Governor J. A. A. Burnquiston, Tuesday, told that they would be unwelcome in Fargo, N. D., on Wednesday, and unceremoniously escorted from Hudson, Wis., on Thursday, the arrangement committee was uncertain early today as to where the national conference would be held.

After the peace advocates had been asked to leave Hudson, Governor Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota, reiterated his statement that the council may hold its proposed peace meeting in his state and will be accorded adequate protection as long as speakers refrain from making seditious statements or pronouncements which might incite mob violence.

"The people of North Dakota are broad-minded enough to permit freedom of speech," said Governor Frazier, "and I am still ready to provide the protection offered in my message to officers of the council." It is doubtful, however, if the convention will be held in Fargo. Mayor Stearns has taken a firm stand against it and loyalty organizations of the city are outspoken in their opposition to it.

Chased From Town.

The appearance of the arrangement committee of the peace council in Hudson, Wis., yesterday aroused the citizens to a high pitch. Indignation meetings were held during the day, the common council passed an order forbidding the holding of the convention and at a mass meeting in the evening resolutions were adopted, protesting against the convention, and calling upon Governor E. L.
Phillip to stop it. Excitement ran high and from an orderly meeting there developed an unorganized mob which went to the hotel where the pacifist delegates were stopping, hustled them into an automobile and took them to the depot, where they were put aboard a train for Minneapolis, with orders never to return.

Literature Chased Away.

Shortly after the pacifists were driven from the city a truck load of peace literature for the meeting arrived and it was assumed that the peace council would

Rome, Aug. 31.—It is stated at the vatican that Pope Benedict on receiving President Wilson's reply to his peace proposals did not attempt to conceal his bitter disappointment, and that he regards the president's answer leaving little room for further peace efforts at present.

It has been no secret here that the pope hoped for a more favorable response from the United States than from anywhere else. Before President Wilson's reply was read it was said at the vatican that the responses from the various governments were expected to be more favorable than the tone of press comment.

At the same time the pope was reported to have signified his intention of issuing a reply after receiving the answers of all the belligerents pointing out questions in regard to which all the nations at war might be in agreement and others concerning which it would be necessary to hold discussions.

Washington, Aug. 31.—A volunteer army made up of 10,000 American housewives, 250,000 merchants and 25,000 farmers is today engaged in taking an inventory of the nation's food supplies. They are taking stock of such food they have on hand, in the pantry and preserve closet, on the shelves and under the counter, in warehouse and grain elevator and in barns and bins on the farms.

From the quantities reported by these, the bureau of markets will estimate the total food stocks of the nation. In addition, the housewives are going to give a record of their food needs for the subsequent week. Another inventory will be made after the crops are all in and these figures will form the basis of subsequent food regulations and distribution.

As soon as the returns from today's inventory are complete they will be forwarded to Washington for tabulation and the results will be announced later.

GERMAN RAID

IS REPULSED

Advances were gained on Monte San Gabriele and in the Brestovizza valley and that 636 more prisoners were taken. Yesterday our troops fought on the Bainsizza plateau and the Corso to consolidate the possession of some heights and to rectify our line. We obtained advantages on the northern slopes of Monte San Gabriele and in the Brestovizza valley, overcoming the stubborn resistance of the enemy. We captured 636 prisoners, including twelve officers and five machine guns.

REPULSE GERMAN PATROL.

The average yearly price of No. 1 northern spring wheat, in the Chicago market during the ten years—1908-1917—was $1.26 per bushel, ranging between 91 cents in 1912 and 2.37 in 1917. During the same period the average yearly price paid to producers was $1.07 per bushel, ranging between 79 cents in 1913 and $2 in 1917.

On the basis of $2.20 at Chicago, the food administration worked out differentials for the various grades and classes for the several grain terminals. The president in a statement proclaiming the action of the committee declared that the price would be rigidly adhered to by the food administration.

Approved by Wilson.

The president's statement follows: "The White House, Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Section 11 of the food act provides, among other things, for the purchase and sale of wheat and flour by the government and appropriate money for the purpose. The purchase of wheat and flour for our allies, and to a considerable degree for neutral countries, also has been placed under the control of the food administration.

"I have appointed a committee to determine a fair price to be paid in government purchases. The price now recommended by that committee—$2.20 per bushel at Chicago for the basic grade—will be rigidly adhered to by the food administration.

"It is the hope and the expectation of the food administration and my own also that this step will at once stabilize and keep within moderate bounds the price of wheat for all transactions throughout the present crop year, and in consequence the prices of flour and bread also. The food act has given large powers for the control of storage and exchange operations and these powers will be fully exercised. An inevitable consequence will be that financial dealings cannot follow their usual course.

Believed Fair Price.

"Whatever the advantages and disadvantages of the ordinary machinery of trade, it cannot function well under such disturbed and abnormal conditions as now exist. In its place the food administration now fixes for its purchases a fair price, as recommended unanimously by a committee representative of all interests and all sections, and believes that thereby it will eliminate speculation, make possible the conduct of every operation in the full light of day, maintain the public standard price for all and through economies made possible by stabilization and control better the position of consumers also.

"WOODROW WILSON."

Report to President.

The report of the committee to the president is as follows: "To the president of the United States: This committee has been asked by you to recommend the price which the government should pay for the 1917 crop of wheat. In its deliberations the committee has kept constantly in mind the three following factors:

"First, the fact that the United States is at war.

"Second, the need of encouraging the producer.

"Third, the necessity of reducing the cost of living to the consumer.

"The normal laws of supply and demand have been violently interfered with and congress has undertaken to offset this disturbance by conferring extraordinary powers upon the president to stabilize prices. Each of the foregoing factors grows out of conditions which have received the careful attention of the committee. Chief among them are:

"The wheat yield in a great and important section of the country has this year been below the normal; that over against this situation is the crying need among the whole body of the population, especially the wage earners, that the rising tide of costs shall be stayed and reduced as rapidly as possible consistent with the welfare of the producer; that the government is at the present time engaged in the great task of reducing and stabilizing costs of other staple commodities; that the wheat of the world is abundant for its needs even disregarding the stores in Russia, but because of lack of shipping and war conditions the burden of supplying wheat to the allies and to neutral nations rests for the time being upon the United States and Canada.

Considered 1918 Crop.

"Our committee has also considered the fact that the government price for the 1917 wheat crop is in effect, a continuing guaranty until the minimum price guaranteed by congress for the crop of 1918 goes into effect (July 1, 1918). It has considered the relation of the 1918 minimum price guaranty to the price here recommended. It has also considered the effect which an early termination of the war would have upon the wheat markets of the world.

"In reaching its conclusions the committee has been guided by the principles you have announced—that a fair price should be based upon the cost of production of the entire country, plus a reasonable profit. We have relied upon the cost estimates for the crop of 1917 furnished by the United States department of agriculture, checked by the results of our independent investigations and the evidence submitted to the committee by producers and their representatives.

"The committee has considered the regulations recently established by the United States food administration grain corporation for the different grades of the wheat through which all transactions in wheat are to be standardized and speculation to be entirely eliminated. Also that profits to the grain dealer, miller, and flour dealers have been regulated and reduced by the grain corporation, effecting a material reduction in the cost of flour.

"In consideration of the foregoing facts and circumstances, this committee respectfully recommends that the price of No. 2 northern spring wheat, or its equivalent, at Chicago be $2.20 per bushel.

"The committee appointed by the president several weeks ago to fix the price for wheat, headed by Dr. Harry A. Gardell, president of Williams college, was composed of producers, consumers and representatives of labor, eleven members in all, besides Dr. Gardell.

RECONSTRUCTION IS

ALREADY UNDER WAY

British Government Makes

After the War.

London, Aug. 16.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A vast sphere of work lies before the new British minister of reconstruction, whose office has just been added to those included in the British cabinet. Premier Lloyd George is firmly convinced that the foundation for the complex work of reconstruction after the war ought to be begun at once, even if it is at first confined to matters of inquiry and investigation.

The largest question before the new ministry will be the question of carrying out the government's pledges to the labor unions that their pre-war position will be restored to them. Employers frequently have argued that this will be impossible. Union leaders insist that the government has given its pledge and must fulfill it.

Discussing this phase of post-war conditions, Professor L. T. Hobhouse, head of the department of sociology in London university and one of the government's advisers on labor, said today:

"The business of the minister of reconstruction is to think out the best methods by which the half-formulated, half-understood impulses of the masses of people can get themselves expressed in a reasonable manner. The first problem with which we shall be faced is that of reconstructing trade union conditions. I say reconstructing advisedly, because if we were to speak of restoration there would be those who would say at once that it is impossible in view of the total change in conditions which the war has brought about.

"But this is a problem in which the good faith of the government is involved. Nothing could be more definite than the pledge to trade unionists that the alterations involved in dilution of labor and the suspension of 'customs of the trade' should hold only for the period of the war. If this pledge is not fulfilled it will be a fatal blow to the confidence of the public in the good faith of governments. It is shown that it cannot be fulfilled because circumstances have altered, the answer must be that we can only vary a pledge with the consent of the persons to whom the pledge was made.

"If it is true that old labor conditions cannot be restored, then it will be for the trade unionists to determine what arrangements they would accept as a substitute for the old conditions. The reconstruction committee has already taken a step in this direction by suggesting the formation of industrial councils in which both employer and employee shall be represented and have considerable powers in shaping the course of each industry. In such councils it will be possible to discuss frankly and fully the best methods of meeting the new situation, so as to secure a renewed progress of British industry with fair conditions for the worker. Any system of such councils agree might, for that industry, be taken as the fair equivalent of that restoration of conditions which we pledged.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT

TAKES FURTHER STEP

It Has Power to Seize for Civil Life Just as It

Had for War.

Paris, Aug. 6.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Before adjourning for summer vacation last week, parliament passed a law on requisitioning which allows the government to requisition, or take over at fixed price, any commodities necessary to civil life, just as it has always had power to requisition anything for the army.

The new law will allow several measures intended to alleviate the dearth of living to be put into immediate effect as all necessary preliminaries have been arranged for weeks, in readiness for the moment that this law would give the authorities power to act.

The first measure will be to inaugurate "National Footwear." This does not mean that everybody is to buy and wear state boots, but that good boots will be available to the people at a fair price. The price of boots and shoes has soared since the war to such a height that only well-to-do people can buy them. The cost of footwear, other than of leather, even of wooden sabots, has of course greatly advanced owing to the greater demand from those who are now unable to buy leather boots.

"National Footwear" will of course be standardized. The ministry of commerce, in collaboration with the army commissariat, will requisition the necessary leather and the boots will be made for the civilians in exactly the same way as they are already made for the army. The prices will be stamped on them so that no one need pay more than the official rate. Men's boots will be sold at $3.60 at pre-war exchange, women's at $4.60, boys' and girls' at $3.60, and children's at a price not yet fixed, between $3 and $3.20. These prices allow a fair profit to the intermediary between maker and buyer.

The army commissariat has undertaken to supply 500,000 pairs of boots a month from the present time and to double that output very soon. As the average demand for "National Footwear" is estimated to be 2,000,000 pairs a month, it will be some time before the supply can satisfy it. The output therefore at first will be reserved for the working classes and will be sold through their co-operative societies.

The next measure, already under way, will be the creation of a "National Cloth," for which stocks of wool, etc., will be requisitioned and a good, sound cloth made (in the same way as the boots) which will serve for clothes for men and children and for women's cloaks, etc.

Still $10 Untill Oct. 1st

We maintained our price as long as we possibly could—we could not have held our price at $10 as long as we did and give our same standard of value if we did not have such a large outlet of clothing through our great chain of stores, but the time has come when it is the impossibility to continue at our price of $10.

Will Sell For $12.50

The tremendous purchases of uniforms by the United States and Allied Nations, using thousands of pounds of woollens, as in instances, using some mills' entire output, boosting the price of cloth from 50% to 100% per yard.

Not alone have the fabrics advanced. Trimmings and linings that go into the making of the garment have advanced in price in proportion to the woollens. Also the tailors that make the clothes are receiving today from 20% to 30% more wages than formerly.

There Was Only One Way

We would not consider lowering the quality of that excellency of value that we have always sold to our patrons. There was no alternative but to raise the price.

MONTHS AGO we went into the market and contracted for as much cloth as could be had of the quality we use in the making of Sherman's clothes, but found that we were only able to secure a limited amount. What we did secure, we will sell to our trade at our price, $10. Our policy has always been to give our patrons the best clothes value we possibly could for the money, therefore we will continue to sell at the price, $10, as long as this merchandise lasts.

This cloth we have made up. The garments are now in our store. Among them you will find medium weight suits, winter suits, top coats and overcoats. Also light weight suits which would pay you to buy now, and also for next summer's wear.

"I RODE ON CZAR'S PERSONAL TRAIN—IT WAS SOME TRAIN," SAYS CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL

All About the Myriads of Thermometers on the Walls, the Pink and Blue Satin Drapes, the Double Silk Curtains, the Sacred Icons and the Grand Duchess Olga's Hand-Painted Cold Cream Jar.

(By CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.)
(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Going and coming, we traveled 10,000 miles across Russia and Siberia in the private train of Mr. Nicholas Romanoff, late czar of Russia, now growing potatoes about three miles northeast of Tobolsk, Tobolsk-co, Siberia.

It was an extremely handsome train and I don't know anything that better illustrates, in compact form, the huge and expensive folly of autocracy.

There were nine cars, each a marvelous specimen of workmanship, inside and outside. They were made of steel and swang upon specially constructed springs of the finest tempered metal, so that they rode as if they were floating in the air.

In the original train there was a car for the czar and his wife; a car for the children; a car for Baron Fredericks, the old chief boss of the imperial household, and for the immediate staff that attended upon the czar and his family; a car for those that attended upon the immediate staff; two cars for the armed guards and those that attended upon those that attended upon the immediate staff that attended upon the czar and his family.

There was also a kitchen car given up entirely to the repairing of the imperial diet; a car that contained the imperial dining room at one end and the imperial drawing room at the other; and the imperial baggage car.

For a reason that I shall tell you later, the czar's car was not used on this occasion. Most of us had rooms in Baron Fredericks' car or in the children's car.

In my room there was a book case, a writing desk liberally equipped, a small closet, a great many shelves, a chair, and a comfortable couch that became the bed at night. There was also a wash stand with running water. The wood work was all exceedingly handsome and costly. The walls were covered with some kind of satiny stuff in pink and blue, I think it was. The windows had double curtains of heavy silk.

There was a beautiful thermometer fixed outside of my window, there was a beautiful thermometer fixed inside of my window, there was a beautiful thermometer on the wall of the corridor just outside my door, there was a beautiful thermometer fixed outside the window of that corridor opposite my door.

There was a very handsome barometer done in brass on my wall and under it a very handsome clock.

All the rooms on that car were furnished with similar luxury. The room of the crown prince, the czar's only son, was done in blue and gold, I believe, or something like that. It was larger and contained two couches, easy chairs, a very good desk in which the young man had left some of his papers, and a double allotment of thermometers.

I judged that the prince could lie in his bed and read the temperature in four different spots at once, and if there is any human felicity greater than that, what can it be?

All the fittings in this room were silver plated, even to the door handles. His princelings slept behind a curtain that was a peachy thing of a delicate shade the name of which I have forgotten but experts said it was perfectly grand. Water was conveyed into his wash bowl through a silver plated pipe.

The next two rooms were equally large and imposing. One was furnished in blue and some other color, mauve, I think they said, and had beautiful rolling easy chairs and thermometers to beat the band. All the rooms had thermometers and barometers and clocks, suggesting that the weather must have been the favorite subject of intellectual discourse when the imperial party went out to ride.

Also, the Grand Duchess Olga's room had a hand decorated cold cream jar, said to be extremely choice and a work of art.

All the rooms had very thick soft carpets and hand painted icons. In the drawing room part of the dining car there was a marvelous table, which being opened in the center disclosed outfit for every kind of game known to man, from roulette and faro to cribbage and craps.

It was sweet to ride along in that train and compare its barbarous profusion of waste and extravagance with some things you saw out of the window.

For instance, the railroad was crippled for lack of freight cars and locomotives. At one place there were 800,000 tons of freight piled up, much of which had been there three years and some of which had begun to rot. Much of it was freight imperatively demanded for the carrying on of the war and even for the feeding of the armies. Yet at every division point there were locomotives and cars awaiting repairs.

They couldn't be repaired because the grand imperial mismanagement, which made a hash of everything it touched, hadn't provided the tools or the material to repair them.

Silver plated wash bowls and door handles for the princelings and no tool, steel or machinery to keep the road going. Satin hangings and hand painted cold cream jars and no lathes. Carpets an inch thick and all kinds of fol-de-rols for a band of parasites and the road shy of hammers and jackscrews.

It was also sweet to pass a train of fourth-class cars and see the people on whose broad backs used to be laid the burden of this thing, whose toil supported it and whose sweat paid for it, jolting along on boards laid across trestles.

You needed to see a few of them before you could get all the sweetness out of the reason why the czar's car was not there.

It started with the rest from Petrograd to meet us. But some of these horny handed ones that had with their labor supplied all this insane extravagance recognized it and got the idea that the czar was in it, escaping from Petrograd.

So at one of the first stops a party of husky gentlemen in high black boots came aboard, rifle in hand, and insisted upon searching the car to make sure Nicholas Romanoff wasn't hidden away somewhere. Any they poked their bayonets into so many corners and through so many hangings and they mused things up so generally that it was deemed best to take that car out of the train.

Yes, it was a grand contraption, that train. But observe what its glories really amounted to. Six months ago whenever it appeared in Russia it was a thing before which men bowed as a symbol of autocracy, power that would last forever. And on June 12, around the table in it where the czar had signed his abdication, sat the representatives of three democracies, the United States, China and Russia, and mocked at vanished autocracy.

The czar had gone—but the people remained.

DON'T SAVE TOO MUCH.

With altogether too much readiness and complacency it is assured at the city hall that the contract with a rendering concern to dispose of garbage necessarily means a great saving of the funds appropriated to the care of that class of municipal waste. We trust that the next administration, which will have the stewardship of next year's garbage disposal fund, may show the sense not to view it that way.

Let there be no such folly as trying to save too much. The city has reserved to itself the duty and function of collecting garbage. It should be that with all expense eliminated of disposing of garbage there shall come to this community some relief from the hitherto undeviating failure of the city to collect garbage to the satisfaction of the people. With no more now to do in respect of garbage disposal than to see that collection is frequent, punctual and thorough, the annoyance and irritation that for near a quarter century have principally marked the city's discharge of its duty to householders should have an end. At times heretofore city garbage collection has ceased to be a joke only to become an outrage, but never a public efficiency. The municipal government now has the opportunity to make it that and we trust there may be no failure.

Four years ago the city democracy with great vociferation on the stump and categorical promise on paper pledged itself to an early and complete solution of the garbage problem. After three whole years and three quarters of another administration elected partially on that promise has made redemption of its pledge by shifting to an experiment. No fault is to be found with that, by itself considered. It may turn out admirably in result, as we hope it may and are ready to believe it will, and constitute itself a whole vindication and inevitable triumph of the administration that brought it about months after the arrangement might at first have been made. Since, however, the purpose and intent upon which these words are indited are neither post mortem nor in criticism, let that matter pass.

We merely desire to suggest, as later on occasion we shall not be reluctant to insist, that the city government improve its fair opportunity to make garbage collection efficient and satisfactory. As we have stated in these columns scores of times during the past half dozen years and more, it is in garbage collection that the people of the community are directly interested. Household do not concern themselves with garbage disposal. They don't care in the least what the city may do with garbage after it has been collected. They merely want it removed early and often from their premises. The city now can do that if there is going to be no fatuous notion that contracting with a grease rendering enterprise to take garbage off the city's hands solves the whole problem. That solves no problem at all save in so far as it simplifies the city's part of the job and allows more money for the discharge of it.

Don't try to save the garbage fund; spend it—and to purpose.

CONCENTRIC WAR ENDED.

While there has been hardly time for definite announcement to such effect, it is logical to assume that the entente cordiale will be re-established between the United States navy department and the Navy league. Secretary Daniels broke off diplomatic relations and followed it up by declaration that a state of war existed several days ago. Now, the Navy league has come off its perch, as the highbrows say in Boston Back Bay district, confesses its error and implies even if it does not state its contrition for having broadly hinted that Secretary Daniels had been either bought up or viciously bludgeoned into "laying off" of the Mare Island navy yard explosion.

Again assuming that the war is done between 'em, one may say it is a happy circumstance and so say we all. The Navy league is a good thing and it has been the initiative and incentive to a great and beneficent work of patriotism during the past two or three months. The Navy league has started more sets of knitting-needles to clicking than altogether had been clicked since grandma vacated the chimney corner to fare forth in the land a new woman demanding her rights. Hundreds of thousands of woolen comforts of many sorts have been turned out by the women of America in this epidemic of the fever for knitting. These comforts are for the men of the navy who need them badly and who are not supplied with them by the government and could not be supplied with them by the government for months if at all.

When Secretary Daniels flared up in righteous wrath over what either was a stupid and tactless attempt to do something spectacular and at the same time patriotic or a base onset against the secretary of the navy, he announced that things made for the men of the navy would have to reach them by some other agency than the Navy league. That did not threaten the knitting industry with extinction, but it did promise to embarrass it in many ways and hamper its usefulness. Now the Navy league has come out with a frank and ample retraction of its insinuated charges. It was wrong and says so. Secretary Daniels, it finds, was not guilty and it says so.

Colonel Thompson, president of the Navy league, approves all this and is probably glad he didn't resign, as Secretary Daniels said he would have to do if the Navy league expected to functionate, and perhaps Secretary Daniels also is glad he didn't. At all events, the secretary is now effulgent in a two-fold vindication—by the verdict of the official inquiry into the Mare Island atrocity and the Navy league's crawl—and it is to be hoped that friendly relations will be restored promptly and effectually.

Meanwhile, let there be no loss of the lesson of the incident itself. It is no light matter to charge or insinuate that a high official of the government is either a crooked politician or a base poltroon—especially if it is likely to be proved fully that he is neither.

Wheat at $2.20 a bushel seems high and as a matter of fact is high, but the price is not an enormity. It is a possible price all round. The bread consumer can see it and the farmer surely can respond to it. The sturdy American husbandman who, back in the days of the old Farmers' Alliance, Senator Peffer, Jerry Simpson, sixty-cent wheat and an eighteen-per-cent mortgage, used to dream of the dawn of a millennial day when his grain would be worth a dollar a bushel by government fiat and guarantee, was merrily hooted and contemptuously jeered by the anointed cohorts of conservatism. Comes now the government fiat and guarantee of a fixed price and that price two dollars and twenty cents a bushel. We wish Senator Peffer and Jerry the Sockless had abided to see this day. The triumph of an idea is no small solace to the fellow that saw it first.

Twenty-five thousand men in arms marched through the streets of New York yesterday to go into camp for preparation to fight in France and an English army officer gazing in admiration on the stature, carriage, general bearing, demeanor and confident spirit of the young men, said those twenty-five thousand were only a "very small drop in a very large bucket." Almost as large an army as Grant had in action the first day at Shiloh, half the number of effectives used by Lee at Gettysburg, the greatest battle of the civil war and one of the decisive battles of the world—yet "only a drop in the bucket." It is true enough, in a war in which twenty millions of men are under arms.

Somehow, we are just reminded to inquire, with all this, that and the other going on, what has become of Thomas W. Lawson. Have all the provocations to extreme speech been exhausted? Is the government on the square? Has Wall street ceased to conspire and big business to plot? Is no one doing a thing to bait a patriot? In short, are we all right and is there nothing Tom Lawson can do to save the country and contribute to a revival of the gaiety of nations? Ah, us! Alackaday and likewise, O tempora, O mores, and O dear!

The president's use of the English language stands the nation and the world in good stead. It is of advantage to have the thing set forth clearly and with force. The kaiser, by the way, is considered a more than fair scholar in his understanding of English.

Forty-cent oats, fifty-cent corn and dollar wheat used to be thought about the peak and ideal of agricultural markets. Now a fixed price of $2.20 for wheat is thought to be cutting off a little at both ends of the figures.

The majority in congress is for the war and for financing the war. Half a dozen kaiserists in either chamber are trying to make a noise like the voice of the people. It is a pitiable failure.

POPE'S PEACE MOVE MAY BE STEP TOWARD UNITY OF CHRISTIAN CHURCHES

(By REV. CHARLES STELZLE.)

Will the pope's peace drive be the beginning of another movement for the re-establishment of union among the various branches of the Christian church?

It will be remembered that early in the year Pope Benedict XV appointed a commission of four cardinals to open negotiations with the Anglican church and the Greek Catholic church, looking toward organic union. Is the peace proposal another movement in this direction?

There is no doubt that when peace is established some kind of a league to enforce peace will be formed by the political states of the world. It is argued that this example will stimulate the desire for religious union.

If the pope's peace plan goes through it will undoubtedly give him an unusual opportunity to call another general council of the Christian church, of which many have been held in the past.

Previous to the seventh century seven general councils were held to determine great theological questions, and the findings of these councils are recognized today by practically all Protestant as well as the Anglican, Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic churches.

The Roman Catholic church is making less and less of the temporal power of the pope, emphasizing his purely spiritual leadership, and the Anglican church (Protestant Episcopal) is quite ready to adapt itself to a plan which would bring action about the union of the Catholic and Protestant churches. Indeed, in the United States an important movement is under way in the Protestant Episcopal church to bring about organic union. One wonders what will be the effect of the death of ecumenism upon the Greek Catholic church—the state church of Russia—so far as union with other religious bodies is concerned. The sectarian bodies in this country are being removed, largely through the social work in which churches are becoming increasingly interested.

One of the things most greatly feared by the various denominational leaders is the effect of the war upon "denominational loyalty"—for the men in the trenches formerly holding religious antagonisms are coming to discover the foolishness of sectarian prejudice.

However, organic union between the more than 200 Protestant denominations in the United States will be comparatively slow. The chances are that they will not get very close together through a discussion of theological differences in a general council. This will be accomplished through the gradual drawing together of smaller groups—that is, two or three denominations at a time.

Furthermore, it is well known that when a country or a group of nations has been divided on account of the war, as a rule the churches are the last to get together.

And yet, it is not impossible that the pope may attempt to bring together the great religious bodies of the world for the adoption of a united peace program for establishment of Christian ideals.

If the pope can accomplish this more than human task, he will deserve the gratitude not only of the churches but of the entire civilized world.

WATCH THE STIES.

In the whole history of the world there probably never was such plotting, intriguing and double-crossing as has been witnessed so far in the relations of Germany toward other nations at war. She has gone to that extent now where her word is no longer taken seriously and no nation would enter into a negotiation for a treaty with her for when it suited convenience the kaiser would regard such a contract as a scrap of paper. As the vice-regent of the Almighty on earth, he is a law unto himself. He filled this country with spies and his hirelings swarm over it as the locusts over Egypt. He was seeking in every way possible to make abortive the plans of this government for conducting this war while professing the strongest terms of friendship for us. Just now his agents are going over this country under various disguises trying to render inoperative the new food law. They are telling the women of the households that if they sign the Hoover conservation food cards they are registering themselves and later on may be drafted.

But in this he will again fail. The patriotic women of this country cannot be deceived. They will go on with their great work of conservation. If the government asks them to prepare more they will do it and with such response that it will tax the capacity of the roads of this land to haul it to the seacoast. This government may confiscate it or take it in any way it sees fit, it will be all right with them. The kaiser is barking up the wrong tree in this, as he is in other things.

RAILROADS TO MAKE HISTORY IN MOVING A MILLION SOLDIERS

(By GILSON GARDNER.)

In moving the national guard and the national selective service army to the various cantonments the railroads of America will make history.

That is the view of the soldier transportation problem taken by Fairfax Harrison, formerly president of the Southern road, and now chairman of the railroad war board directing troop movements.

"The war department," said Harrison, "has called upon the railroads to perform a task which is unprecedented, not only because of the number of troops to move, but because of the long hauls. Between August 20 and October 29 approximately 1,000,000 men must be moved from nearly 5,000 different points to the thirty-two camps prepared to receive them. About one-third of these men, the national guard, take their tents and equipment with them. This means in addition to the coaches and tourist sleepers more than 12,000 freight cars must be transported with the men.

The citizens selected for the national army will begin to move to their training camps September 5. The first concentration movement will set in motion only 35,000 men, between September 5 and 9. This is only 5 per cent of the total 687,000 men to be brought into the sixteen camps.

In the second concentration movement, September 19 to 23, 275,000 men will be brought to the camps. This is 40 per cent. A second 40 per cent will be ordered to the camps October 3 to 7. The rest, approximately 102,000, will be entrained beginning October 19.

A large number of concentration points have been designated in the vicinity of the cantonments. The first movement will be from the homes of the men to these 4,331 concentration points. At these points the men will board trains ready for the cantonments.

The railroads, concentrating every energy on the task of moving soldiers, while preparing for these national army recruits are moving state militia to the sixteen camps designated in the southeastern part of the country.

"No special difficulty would accompany these troop movements," said Chairman Harrison. "If they represented all the railroads were called upon to perform at the time. But the movement of these million soldiers must not interfere with the general freight and passenger traffic.

"All freight is moving in unexampled volume at this time. Practically every factory is working to capacity. The grain crop is also beginning to move. Soon cotton will be ready for shipment. In addition, the transportation of fuel cannot be interrupted for a moment, although each month the railroads are carrying from the mouths of the mines six million tons more than they ever carried before.

"Organization, much hard work, and the faithful help of the 1,750,000 men who man and operate the railroads will make the accomplishment possible."

OPENING FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

General Electric Wants to Make Testers and Draftsmen of Them.

The apprentices' school at the General Electric works, which will open September 5, will start with eighty-five students, the largest number in the history of the school. W. J. Hockett, the instructor, is paying particular attention to the engineering department, which includes drafting and pattern making, where exceptional opportunities are offered young men to learn good trades and prepare themselves for life's battles. Applicants in this department must be high school graduates and after they graduate at the Electric works they will be able to take up testing work and drafting at good salary. "There is a demand for workmen of this character," said Mr. Hockett, "and there are openings in the class if application is made before the school begins." So far there have been sixteen applicants for scholarship in this department.

FEMALE DISPATCHERS SUCCESS. Nickel Plate Experiments Solving the Shortage Problem.

James T. Callahan, chief dispatcher of the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate, is pleased with the results of the experiments in training girls for work in the telegraph offices. Six weeks ago Mr. Callahan opened a school of instructions for women in train dispatching and general work in the telegraph offices of the division. Ten girls entered the school, two quit, two have qualified or graduated and are now holding regular positions on the line, formerly filled by men, and the remaining six are still studying and are about ready for assignment to positions when needed. The two now holding regular positions are doing as well as did the men whom they succeeded. Telephone has practically taken the place of telegraph in the dispatching of trains and sending other messages over the line, and it is not absolutely necessary for an operator anywhere on the division to resort to old telegraph methods. The call of conscripted and enlisted men will leave a number of vacancies in the telegraph department of the Nickel Plate, which will be filled immediately by the girls now taking instructions in the work.

ENGINEERS TO TAKE TRIPS.

Several of the desks in the transformer engineers' department of the General Electric works, will be vacant Saturday and Sunday, because of excursion trips the men are going to make tomorrow to be gone over Labor day. J. W. Patch and G. M. Wilson, transformer engineers, will leave tomorrow morning in an automobile for the farm of the latter's father, near Frankfort, Ind. Mr. Patch will take Mrs. Patch and their son and daughter and Mr. Wilson will take his wife, making a well filled car. Transformer Engineer F. A. Bryan, with Mrs. Bryan and their twin sons, will visit at the home of his parents in Indianapolis. H. C. Meeker, also a transformer engineer, will motor to Lake James tomorrow to remain several days, and K. L. McDaniel, of the transformer production department, will go to Ligonier to spend Labor day.

WILL DELIVER EXPRESS TO SOLDIERS.

Local Agent G. E. Becker, of the Adams Express company, has received notice that the company has arranged for quick and direct delivery of packages addressed to American soldiers in France and Great Britain. Letters and telegrams may also be addressed to any of the foreign offices and they will be promptly delivered by the Adams Express company. The following offices have been established for the convenience of the troops in France: Paris, France, 28 Rue du Septembre; London, S. W. England, 75 Newgate street; Liverpool, England, 21 Water street; Bordeaux, France, 13 Place des Quincones and 2 Rue d'Enghien; Rotterdam, Holland, 6 Wilde Nieuwsteeg; Manchester England, 9 Mount street; Glasgow, Scotland, 101 Mitchell street.

B. & O. ENGINEER IS PROMOTED.

Garrett, Ind., Aug. 31.—J. C. Kirch, of this city, has been promoted to the position of road foreman of engines on the Baltimore & Ohio system at Parkersburg, W. Va. He left to assume his new position Thursday. The promotion came about through the recommendation of Superintendent J. F. Keegan, who asked him to accept the offer. He has previously served as assistant road foreman of engines here. His family will follow him in the near future.

CHASING UP MATERIAL.

L. P. Sherrick, shipping clerk at the General Electric works, who left the city last week to "chase up" overdue shipments of sheet metal and other manufacturing material for the company, is meeting with some good luck, as indicated by the receipts of material at the big factory. There is still a shortage, however, and Mr. Sherrick will continue the pursuit.

SEVERAL NEW TESTERS.

Several new testers have taken employment in the general testing department of the General Electric works this week. Among them are Foster Herendeen, of Akron, Ind.; Ernest Ledonne, a graduate of the Tri-State college; Russell Plummer, of Whitley county; Alva Beckman, of Fort Wayne, and A. B. Hiava, the latter taking the students' course.

Construction plans for linking the railways of Sweden and Finland have been drawn and it is expected that the connection will be established by the autumn of 1918. The bridge over the Tornea river, between Tornea and Haparanda, is to be a single track bridge, but in view of the fact that there is a difference of gauge between Swedish and Russian railways, two sets of rails will be laid on it, so that the bridge may be used by both Russian and Swedish rolling stock, though not simultaneously.

Miss Annie Russell and the 13th Chair

A most unusual play is Bayard Veiller's "The Thirteenth Chair," which opened a two days' engagement at the Majestic theater on Thursday night with Miss Annie Russell in the leading role. Spiritism and clairvoyants pursue to make their living off credulous people, is the groundwork of the play and Miss Russell is the "fakir all me life," she nervously states, masquerading for years under the name of Rosalie LaGrange, a character in the Will Irwin stories. Upon this groundwork of the play is woven the mystery of a murder and the medium is maintained until late in the progress of the play. The manner of doing so is ingenious and Mr. Veiller has constructed many incidents that maintain interest and keep the audience wondering until the climax comes. Perhaps the strongest point of the play, however, is the genuine touch which the medium gives it in the third act. That it is which lifts the play above the cheapness of the scene that is enrolling earlier in the performance and which by the way set all the superstitious people in the audience to fretting so that their unconscious movements were disturbing and made some passages of the play difficult to hear.

This genuine thing about the medium is the suggestion of read spiritism, the sincere belief maintained by many people of a conscious communion with departed spirits, and by others manifested in a faith so strong that they are as certain of receiving direct answer to prayer as of receiving the objects for which they deposit money on a counter. So when trouble assails the fake medium she prays for a real manifestation of what she has long been pretending. Of course in the play it so happens. She receives it. It could not be otherwise as a coherent part of the story. And thereon hang all the thrills and interesting developments of the play itself. It may be improbable but "The Thirteenth Chair" is not supposed to be a preachment or a problem. It is first class entertainment, however, and well worth going to see more than once.

Miss Russell is the big thing of the performance, not because others of the company are not capable and well set up as to appearance, but because Miss Russell creates a roll that is classic, in spite of its ordinary standing as a mere character. One could hardly imagine a public clairvoyant and medium ready to give seances for money, as a character worthy of admiration. But Rosalie LaGrange is, and she is also witty and more often honest of speech than a pretender. So Miss Russell charms her audience with the burr of her tongue and the simple and unaffected mannerisms of the really dear old Irish lady she portrays. As a matter of art, Miss Russell dominates the play with an ineffaceable touch of that histrionic talent which is hers, and which absence from the stage for a number of years has in a wise manner its brightness. Miss Russell is supported by a very good company whose individual work apparently meets all requirements. It is many years since Annie Russell appeared in Fort Wayne. She is an artist whom all theatergoers who admire fine acting enjoy, and her part in this play is an interesting addition to a galaxy of stellar roles. The performance will be repeated tonight, then the company goes to Chicago for a long run.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Thirteenth Chair" Last Time Tonight.

"The Thirteenth Chair" is one of that sort of plays for which the theatrical producer is eternally looking and so rarely finds. It appeals to theatergoers of every age and almost every class. It has sentiment, it has comedy, and above all it has mystery—the most engrossing, most baffling variety. During two acts the audience is kept sitting on the edges of its chairs, thrilled by the melodramatic interest of the incidents which lead to the surprising denouement, and trying (and failing) to anticipate the outcome.

No play of the last decade has caused more comment than "The Thirteenth Chair" in New York and no piece that is listed on the local theatrical calendar will be more talked about here.

Labor Day Matinee and Night at the Majestic.

In the cast of "The Girl Gloria" are Leeta Corder, a lyric soprano of exceptional ability, who sings F. above high C with astonishing ease and clearness; Valere True, a dainty and pretty soubrette who has that rare quality, in soubrettes, of being able to deliver speeches with intelligence; Rose Victor, a graceful exponent of the dance in all its manifestations; Betty Stokes, whose rich voice and statuesque appearance lend dignity and sincerity to her difficult role of a mother superior; Edwin Stanley, a light comedian who sings and dances with equal facility; Caryl Fuller, a basso-profundo whose future holds bright things; Charles LeMaire, a handsome youth well known to the musical comedy stage; Art Hackman and Tom Hanlon, whose impersonations of negro twins will be one of the things the audience talks about.

FRANCES KENNEDY AT PALACE.

Frances Kennedy, the distinguished singing comedienne with the captivating personality to enhance her talent as a character songstress, is featuring a bang up bill for the remainder of the week. She still is using her two biggest favorites, "It's Born Right in 'Em," and the only about the Irish falling for the hula hula, in which she was such a remarkable hit here a year ago. She does a bit of satire on why women play cards, that is a gem of comedy, some of the women in last night's audience became hysterical as something in her work recalled a social experience of their own. Fay, two Coleys and Fay, as clever a little combination of two men and two girls, all working in black face, as one will ever enjoy, do a bit of song, a bit of talk and a bit of dance in a thoroughly laughable way. Their close harmony close is great. LaGraciosa, the woman with the form divine, is made the central figure of some dazzling beautiful lighting effects. The act is gracefully staged, even more so this year than ever before. The Four American Beauties, a hobo singing specialty; Bingham and West, a snappy comedy talking and singing team, and Booth and Leander, the cyclist and the nut, complete this bill.

PUTS 35,000 MEN IN EUROPE IN FEW MONTHS

Canada Now Comes Here for More Men to Fill Its Training Camps.

"You people of the United States do not yet realize that you are at war. You can't realize as we have in Canada. Then it will come home to every one of you what this war means and how great must be your effort, just as it was driven home to us Canadians three years ago."

In a Chicago interview with Col. John S. Dennis, commanding the western division, British recruiting mission, he says:

"Before this war, England, Canada and the United States were the only three countries with professional armies. Every other country had compulsory military service. You know the strength of your regular army; you know how the Germans laughed at England's handful of soldiers. Canada's professional army numbered by courtesy 2,800 men, most of them instructors and non-commissioned officers of the militia. We are a peaceful nation; it took a good dose of Scotch whisky in those days for a man to get up nerve enough to walk down street in uniform."

"We were as unprepared as you when the war broke out. But in the three months, England put into the field 164,000 regulars and Canada enlisted, trained and equipped her first contingent of 35,000 men. That contingent included a division, a spare infantry brigade, a heavy artillery unit and a hospital unit. They were gathered together at Valcartier camp and equipped for service in one month. Hundreds of them were boys from the cadet corps of the public schools, for Canada has had military training in the public schools since the Boer war, and these young fellows out of school were the first to go and they were ready."

"Now Lord Northcliffe estimates there are 2,250,000 British soldiers on the western front alone, without counting the armies in Egypt, East Africa, Macedonia and Mesopotamia, and the reserves to support these forces. You have some idea of the effort England has made, when you realize that for every man in the firing line there must be four men in reserve."

"Canada has sent five divisions to Europe; she has raised more than 400,000 volunteer soldiers out of the civilian population of scarcely 8,000,000. If you in this country were to send a proportionate number of your manhood to the front, you would have an army of 13,000,000 men. You have 30,000 regulars in France now, according to the newspapers, and you have trained 10,000 officers. The new national army will soon be mobilized. It is a fine beginning, but it is not enough."

Colonel Dennis paid a fine tribute to the efficiency of the United States army recruiting organization which is co-operating in every possible way in the work of the British mission. Britons and Canadians may enlist at any United States recruiting office, according to orders from Washington, and Branch Chairman E. H. Kilbourne, of the Military Training Camps' association, Fort Wayne, Ind., has a supply of application blanks and information on the British mission, which he says he will gladly furnish to anyone desiring them.

Bilious Attacks.

You wonder what upset your stomach. Never felt better in your life yesterday—now you have a bad bilious attack. Cure that first, then look for the cause. Keep quiet, abstain from food for one day, take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. Drink plenty of water. This will clean the fermenting food and bile out of your stomach, tone up your liver and move your bowels. You will soon be all right again. If you have these bilious attacks at irregular intervals, abstain from coffee and red meats and you may avoid them.—Advertisement.

MISHAWAKA MAN GETS THE VICTORIA CROSS

Youth Now in British Army Cleans Up Part of the Kaiser's Army.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 31.—Private John Carroll, of Mishawaka, and now with the Canadian Infantry "somewhere in France," has been awarded the Victoria cross for gallantry in action, according to word received here today in a letter to his sisters. Private Carroll is believed to be the first American to have won this coveted emblem. A clipping from the London Daily Mirror tells the story:

"During an attack immediately after the baggage lifted, Private John Carroll rushed the enemy's trench and bayoneted four of the enemy."

"He then noticed a comrade in difficulties and at once proceeded to his assistance and killed one of the enemy. He continued working ahead with great determination until he came across a machine gun and a team of four men."

"Single-handed he attacked the entire team, killing three of the men and capturing the gun."

Young Carroll is the son of John Carroll, an Englishman now living in Detroit, Mich. Previous to June, 1916, the lad was employed at the Mishawaka woolen mills. A circus came to town which Carroll joined as a trap drummer. When next heard of he had joined a military band at Calgary, Alta., and shortly after left for the fighting front.

Private Carroll is 25 years old.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN AND YOUR MOUTH SHUT

This Is Advice of Trained Soldier to Embryo Recruits.

"My best advice to you is to keep your eyes and ears open and your mouth shut," said a soldier who has served both before and since the Spanish-American war, when asked for bits of army wisdom by several young men who will leave with the new national army.

"If you will remember this you will get along well," continued the veteran of the ranks. "Hard work and no attempt at back talk will make a good soldier of any ordinary fellow."

"When you join your unit you have everything to learn and nothing to teach; so the less you have to say the better off you are. All the training you receive will be for the one thing only—to make you able to cope with the Germans if you ever are called to 'go over the top.' The whole idea of military discipline is team work, and you are not playing your part unless you are willing and eager to learn. A lot of our young fellows believe that army discipline is on a par with that of a jail. Nothing is further from the truth. An enlisted man is treated with respect by his officers and has more chances of redress than he would have with a superior officer in a factory or office in civil life.

"The quicker you learn the quicker you'll rise. None of your superior officers will wish to keep you back; instead they will boost you along if you give them the least reason to do so. You will find most of the army officers ready to take off their coats and go to the mat with anyone who trifles with a man in their command."

"Enter into the spirit of the service and be proud of your position. Every man can't be an officer, but a true soldier is as proud of his place in the rear rank as if he were a major general leading an army. Respect yourself and others will respect you."

"Pay attention to details. These little things that seem so trivial to you now are just the things that will save lives later on. Put 'pep' into everything you do. Do every thing willingly and do it in a manner that there shall be no complaints or criticism of it later."

"Never talk back to a superior officer. If he is overbearing in his manner, or if you think he is imposing on you, wait until you can bring the matter up before the company commander. You will get justice. Army regulations compel the officers to give it to you. But my advice is not to go rushing up with complaints; just wait and take time to cool off and think it over. Your officers have more experience than you, and sober reflection will show you that you have not been discriminated against, after all.

"Ask questions. That is what your commanders want. You will find your officers and noncoms willing to explain anything you are in doubt of. That is what they are there for. Don't try and learn everything at once. You won't make a good captain unless you can do a private's work. Find out what your immediate superiors want; then study it up."

"If you are going to buy military books, wait until you have joined a regiment and find what branch of the service you are in and what you are expected to learn. Then get advice on what you want. Your noncoms will put you wise on what to get and save you time and money."

"Don't criticize. There are lots of things that you may imagine that you could do better. Later you will discover that these things are the result of years of experience and hundreds of experiments and that you could not do as good yourself. So keep quiet on these things if you don't wish to be laughed at."

"Be neat. No matter how you dressed in civil life, you must remember that a soldier is always expected to be neat and clean in his appearance. It is required of you and you must do it. Don't be a growler. If you get peeved at anything don't go shooting off your mouth. It gets you nowhere but the guard house. After all your belly-aching you will find that things are run better than you could order them. Whenever you feel like growling go off some place by yourself and don't pester the others."

"You are not a soldier if you are not able to do your bit on guard duty. Next to actual fighting that is the most important of a soldier's duties. If you can't walk post in this country against 'Fritz' should you be put on an outpost in front of the trenches."

"Your instructors will show you what is required of you better than any newspaper articles. You will not learn the army game from a newspaper, and these articles of mine will not attempt to teach it. All I wish to do is to get you thinking along right lines in regard to your duties and suggest things for you to ask your instructors about."

How to Lose Your Tan, Freckles or Wrinkles

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the beach or exposure on a lake trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson, or, more perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercurized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin—just a little at a time, so there's no hurt or injury. As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercurized wax at your drugist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate white-ness.

HALF MILLION IN THE HOLE.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 31.—It has been decided to abandon what is said to be the deepest oil well in the world. The well, located at Candor, near here, has been drilled to a depth of 7,245 feet. Only 44 feet have been drilled in the casing and a number of tools, the latter when an effort was made recently to clear the well of the casing. It is estimated that $500,000 has been spent in drilling the well.

LESS THAN FIFTY KILLED AND HURT

Gen. Hsun's Men Couldn't Shoot and Gen. Chang's Men Couldn't Hit.

Peking, July 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Although fully ten thousand republican soldiers participated in the bombardment of the headquarters of General Chang Hsun, the monarchist leader, in Peking, and three thousand of General Chang's troops resisted the onslaught for about ten hours, less than fifty persons were killed and injured in the fighting.

Military officers stationed at the legations in Peking are at a loss to explain the small number of casualties in the fighting of July 12. Stray bullets fell practically all over the city and many small shells and shrapnel were exchanged by the contending armies. It is estimated that not less than a million shots were fired in all. The few casualties among the great number of persons exposed to the random firing is undoubtedly due to the fact that both sides were shooting into the air without thought of killing.

Shot Into the Air. The firing began at 4:30 in the morning on July 12. Chang Hsun had his headquarters in his home in the Imperial city about one mile directly north of the American legation. Chang Hsun's troops were scattered about his headquarters and outside the main gate a machine gun was placed in a great pagoda commanding the gate. A large detachment of Chang Hsun's troops also took refuge in the Temple of Heaven about one mile south of the main city gates. The republican forces first shelled the Temple of Heaven. They also directed shrapnel into the Imperial city and struck Chang's headquarters with great regularity. The airplanes flew over the city directing the fire of the big guns, and expert foreign military observers say the direction of the firing was quite expert.

Spent Bullets Annoyed. General Chang Hsun's headquarters became untenable about 10 o'clock in the morning and the general and his staff took refuge in the Dutch legation. Up to that time firing had been constant, spent bullets doing much damage to glass in the foreign quarter and forcing the residents to keep under cover. After Chang Hsun had taken refuge in the Dutch legation, negotiations were begun between the republicans and Chang Hsun's troops. It was not until 3 o'clock in the afternoon that terms were agreed upon. An hour later the firing ceased and normal conditions were resumed in Peking. Chang Tsun's home was fired either

The Busy Machine Gun.

The machine gun which Chang Hsun's command had located on the pagoda outside the main gate kept up a constant fusillade for many hours but little loss was inflicted on the opposing soldiers who were running about the streets in large numbers. Two rapid-fire guns commanded by the republicans and supposed to direct their fire at the enemy guns in the pagoda by the main gate also kept up a fusillade for many hours but with no apparent effect upon Chang Tsun's gunners in the pagoda.

PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO JUSTIN N. STUDY

Resolutions of Respect Are Adopted by Principals and Teachers of Schools.

Final tribute was paid Friday morning to the memory of the late Justin N. Study, for twenty-one years superintendent of the Fort Wayne schools. The body was removed from the home, 624 East Wayne street, at 9 o'clock to the Scottish Rite cathedral. Here it lay in state until 10:30 o'clock, when funeral services were held, in charge of the Masonic order. Teachers, principals and supervisors met at the high school and marched in a body to the cathedral for the services. Knights Templar acted as a body guard of honor and attended in full uniform. The Rev. C. Claud Travis, D. D., pastor of the Wayne Street M. E. church, had charge of the services. The remains were sent at 12:25 o'clock over the G. R. & I. to Hagerstown, where the body was interred. Resolutions of respect for Professor Study were adopted yesterday by teachers, principals and supervisors in the city and county schools.

Resolutions Adopted.

The resolutions adopted were as follows: "Whereas, It has pleased Divine Providence to remove from our midst our beloved superintendent and fellow-worker, Justin N. Study, a man with great steadfastness of character, strong executive ability, high sense of justice and whose friendly personal interest in those under his supervision has endeared him to us all; and

"Whereas, No man has done more to bring the school system of the state of Indiana up to its present high standard, and no man stands higher in the educational forces of the state, and whose death is felt as a personal loss and as a public calamity; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we, the teachers of Allen county and the city of Fort Wayne, in the Allen county teachers' institute, assembled, do extend our sympathy to the wife and family so greatly bereaved, and to the community where his loss will be so keenly felt; and be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and published in the daily papers.

"Of Principals, Supervisors and Teachers."

The Next Thing on the Program Is Outfitting the Children for Children

—and busy mothers will find first aid here where we do not work on the theory that "anything will do" for children.

We have made a careful study of the situation and the wearing apparel shown at this store embodies practical, neat styles and attractiveness that appeal to young folks and their parents alike.

You'll find this store splendidly ready with everything needed for school wear.

"M" Waists for Growing Children

The scientific way of dressing children is to suspend all weight of the clothing from the shoulders.

"M" Waists are built on common sense lines, permitting the garments to hang from the shoulders instead of the waist. They come in all sizes, priced at 20c and 39c for small children, the larger sizes priced at 49c.

Pencil Boxes 25c

Attractive boxes, containing three pencils, pen holder and an eraser; 25c.

Stockings That Stand the Wear and Tear

That's what the mothers are looking for! And that's the kind you'll find here—sturdy, good looking stockings, made for strenuous wear, reinforced where strain is greatest with double knee, heel and toe.

Such well known makes as Cadet, Wayne Kuit and Round Ticket brands—all here in complete assortment and size range.

School Handkerchiefs

What becomes of all the children's handkerchiefs is a problem with mothers. They disappear—no one knows where—and the supply must be constantly kept up.

At the Handkerchief section are pretty little kerchiefs for school: some all white, others with colored borders; at 5c, 10c and 15c. Plain Hemstitched linen ones, in white only, are 12½c and 15c.

This Store will be open until 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Saturday is the Last Day of the Blanket Sale

There's no doubt about blanket prices going higher and higher as the season advances, so that this August Sale is a supreme opportunity to buy such bed coverings.

Placing immense orders months ago enables us to offer the largest, finest stock in town to select from at 20 and 25 per cent savings.

MOVING AUTOS IS EASY, SAYS LAWYER

When police wanted the big motor patrol moved a half foot to the left in the police garage, Friday morning, Attorney Robert Buhler offered to perform the job.

"You can't lift one corner of that boat," said Si Andrews, who pilots the heavy car.

"Frooh," ejaculated the staid lawyer.

He caught hold of the hub of the right wheel and raised that part of the long machine to an acute angle. Police asked that proceedings stop because of possible damage to the car. The automobile weighs 2,800 pounds. But Buhler used to be a strong man with a circus, he explains.

THIRD BOARD WILL SELECT

Appeal Board Approves the Quota From Ft. Wayne District. LIST WAS RETURNED FRIDAY AFTERNOON. Two Amishmen Who Refused to Affirm Are Certified for Service.

Selection of the first five per cent of the quota from District 3 of the city will be made late this afternoon. The appeal board approved the quota from this district at its session Thursday evening and returned the list to the local board who will begin and finish the work of picking the men who will leave next week for Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.

The board will select those of the district who have had previous military training. If the required number is not received in this manner those men who wish to volunteer will be recognized and as a last resource the liability order will be considered.

Two members of the Amish church in the country district filed appeal claims but refused to affirm on the affidavit of proof and as a result they were certified to the district board, held for service. They still have an opportunity of filing an appeal.

The district appeal board considered the appeal claims from Huntington county Friday and it was their belief that they would finish this part of the work by evening. The lists from the First and Second city districts have not been acted upon as yet.

BULLETINS WILL ARRIVE HERE TODAY

Course in Great War Will Be Offered in Branch University. Bulletins from Indiana university will arrive some time Friday and as soon as these are put in shape, applications for members in classes of the Indiana university branch can be taken. The plan will be presented to the teachers attending the county institute.

The Indiana University Extension center will offer a course on the great war the first semester beginning September 24 at the high school building under Dr. Linton.

Believing that a study of the causes and problems of the war will be interesting and profitable to the citizens of the state, Indiana university is offering this course for the benefit of those who wish to inform themselves more fully and accurately concerning the various phases of the war.

The United States is so far removed from the scene of the conflict that the people had hoped to avoid being involved in the mighty struggle. For this reason, many Americans failed to follow carefully the history of the war. Today soldiers are drilling in camps scattered over the country; munition factories are running full blast; everywhere the nation is adjusting itself to a war basis. Every American needs to understand the causes and progress of this war.

Dr. Linton, of the department of political science at Indiana university, tells of causes of the war, including militarism, commercial rivalry, excessive nationalism, and "Great Illusion"; the historical causes, including the Alsace-Lorraine question, Anglo-German rivalry, the Balkan question and the hostile alliance; the assassination of the archduke and the beginning of the war; Belgian neutrality; the United States and the war; the general progress of the war, etc.

POLISH KINGDOM OF KAISER GLIMMERING

Poles Hate Germany and Junkers Want Rule of Blood and Iron. Copenhagen, Aug. 31.—The Taglich Rundschau, of Berlin gives a new version of the reason for the retirement of the Polish council of state, saying that instead of resigning, it was dissolved because it ventured to present an ultimatum to the German government on military questions. The retirement of the council has brought out the fact that at the confidential session of the reichstag main committee on Monday the majority parties demanded the establishment of a really representative assembly, and a responsible ministry in Poland—a step which the Rundschau declares would lead to an immediate demand for the withdrawal of Germans from Poland.

The pan-German newspapers have begun a campaign for abandonment of the idea of a Polish kingdom, arguing that the retirement of the council gives a favorable opportunity to undo the mistakes made in proclaiming establishment of the kingdom and since that time. Newspapers of all shades of opinion agree that there is little friendship for Germany among the Polish population and that the Poles who at the time the kingdom was proclaimed were ready to cast their lot actively on the side of the central powers, and who never constituted more than a minority, are steadily losing influence and prestige.

The pan-German organs now declare that the bulk of the population is so avowedly anti-German that some solution other than the creation of a semi-independent kingdom must be sought. A certain section of the Poles is again advocating a kingdom in close association or union with the Hapsburg monarchy.

PILING UP WAR RECORD

No Other City of Middle West Sustains Building Growth of Ft. Wayne. TOTAL FOR EIGHT MONTHS IS $2,330,166. Lead Over Phenomenal Showing of Last Year Is $138,165.

Fort Wayne is making a startling war record in the matter of building operations. No other city of the middle west, of near Fort Wayne's size, stands within $100,000 of the remarkable building growth of the Summit City for 1917.

Construction work to the total of $2,330,166 has been carried on during the first eight months of the present year. The standing is $129,001 ahead of the first three quarters of 1916.

Much of the building of the present year in Fort Wayne has been in moderate amounts. Nearly 500 new homes have been reared in the city this year, it is estimated. The majority of the building permits have been issued in amounts under $4,000.

The remarkable part of the record, which Fort Wayne is piling up, is that the building work continues in the face of war prices of materials. All construction products have more than doubled in price in the past year. Cost of steel has more than tripled.

The fact that Fort Wayne goes ahead shows that business improvement makes added building here profitable even in the light of soaring cost of materials. From the articles which have appeared during the past month in municipal magazines of the United States, contractors are led to make the statement that Fort Wayne has undoubtedly built more homes this year than any city of near its size in North America.

During the month of August the building permits issued by Charles Harker, building clerk, in the city hall, totaled $281,175. The sum is $14,935 above the prosperous total of August, 1916.

Forty-six building permits were issued during the month just passing. The total for the year is 431 permits. During 1916 there had been 527 permits issued at the end of the first eight months.

The record for the past month was added by the erecting permits for a $145,000 building at the General Electric works, and for a $25,000 factory building for the Horton Manufacturing company, and for a $15,000 church building for the African M. E. church.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Prof. Chester T. Lane's Condition Is Not Encouraging. Because of the unsatisfactory condition of Prof. Chester T. Lane, who has been declining very rapidly during the past few weeks, he has been removed to the Hope hospital upon advice of the attending physician, Dr. Miles F. Porter.

Although Fred Edman, of Memphis, Tenn., had $2,000 in his pocket the other day in Cleveland, O., he preferred to live in a tent with Mrs. Edman rather than go to a hotel. He carries the tent with him everywhere as he does not like hotels.

SEVERAL NEW TEACHERS IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

There Will Be No Postponement of Opening, Board Announces. Several new faces will be seen this term among the corps of teachers for the Fort Wayne high school. All the vacancies have been satisfactorily filled, it is announced.

Harold F. King resigned as teacher in the commercial department some time ago. His successor has been named and one additional teacher has been appointed for this department. There were two or three vacancies in the English department. One additional teacher is to be appointed for the mathematics department and also in the drawing department.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Fort Wayne public schools on Tuesday. There will be no postponement of the opening because of the death of the late superintendent, Prof. Justin N. Stady. Practically all arrangements had been made before Professor Stady took his bed.

There will be no successor to the deceased superintendent named for some time. The school board will make thorough investigation before reaching a decision. In the meantime, the duties of the superintendent will be looked after by E. W. Cook, president of the board.

SECURE EMPLOYMENT FOR 167 APPLICANTS

The Fort Wayne branch of the state free employment bureau during the past week secured employment for one hundred and sixty-seven applicants. This is the largest number that secured work through this agency for several weeks.

Those who secured work were listed as follows: One boy, two dishwashers, one engineer, five farm hands, one fireman, one foreman, one janitor, 145 laborers, one porter, one waiter, one day worker, one dining room helper, one dishwasher, three laundresses, one waitress, one seamstress.

"EASY MONEY"

Girdon Shearer, of R. R. 11, residing seven and a half miles from the city on the Leo road, was the successful one who climbed to the top of a long greasy pole at Robison park, Thursday, and received five dollars in pennies. He said it was easy money.

Many of the boys had been trying several times to reach the top, but always came sliding down. At 4:25 o'clock Girdon made his first try and was successful. He "shinned" the pole to the spot where the grease had not as yet been wiped off. This was about six feet from the top. Here Girdon burst a minute and took two strips of burial from his pocket. He placed it about the pole and twisted it and pulled himself up to the five dollars.

THIEVES TAKE LINCOLN HIGHWAY FOR COURSE

Steal Ford Touring Car and Rob Another of All of Its Equipment. A gang of auto thieves apparently are following the Lincoln highway to ply the tricks of their trade. Some time Thursday night a Ford touring car was stolen from the garage at the home of A. C. McConnors, residing eleven miles northwest of the city.

The car was a 1916 model and bore the engine No. 6-2615 and the factory No. 814605.

The thieves also stopped at the home of Mr. Lemle, residing about seven miles from the city, broke into the garage and took all the equipment from the car, including tools and a large amount of fishing tackle.

The sheriff's office has been notified and investigation started. It is apparent that the two thefts were committed by the same party.

A badly damaged radiator on a taxi driven by an employee of the Fort Wayne Transfer company, and a broken bumper on a car driven by Joe Goldstein, resulted when the taxi skidded into Goldstein's car at the corner of Harrison and Wayne streets Friday afternoon.

The accident was caused by the street just having been sprinkled. Goldstein said that he saw what was going to happen and stopped his car, but that the taxi slid across the street and hit his car head on. No arrests were made.

TIME DRAWS NEAR AT HAND

Forty-eight Hours Is Time Given When Companies Will Depart. CLOTHING IS ON WAY TO THIS CITY. Drafted Men Who Enlist Will Face Imprisonment Sentence. Time of departure for Company B and Company B, signal corps, is but a short time away. Unofficial orders from Indianapolis are to the effect that the two companies will depart within forty-eight hours time beginning Friday morning. From other sources the belief has become general that the men will leave for Fort Benjamin Harrison either Sunday or Monday morning.

Clothing for the members of the two companies is supposed to be on its way to this city and should arrive some time this evening. If the clothing arrives on schedule time both companies will leave the city fully uniformed.

Twenty-five men enlisted at the Fort Wayne recruiting station Thursday and were sent away. Some of them went to Fort Thomas, Ky., while others enlisted in former national guards throughout the middle west.

Caution is again given those men who have been drafted or called in for examination that they should not try to enlist. It is announced on a large placard in the regular army recruiting station that any drafted man who enlists will face imprisonment.

INSTITUTE ENDS WEEK'S PROGRAM

Morning Session Adjourns for Funeral of Late Superintendent. The program for the annual meeting of the Allen county institute was finished Friday afternoon, the concluding address being given by Dr. Gordy on "The Moral Element in History." The institute was rated as one of the most successful ever held here by all the teachers of the city and county who attended. Although the absence of Superintendent D. O. McComb was keenly felt, yet the business of the institute was run through with without any hitch. The teachers sent flowers to Mr. McComb every day that the institute met.

Friday morning's session was cut short that the teachers might attend the funeral services of the late city school superintendent, Prof. J. N. Stady, at the Scottish Rite cathedral, and they went in a body from the high school. Practically every teacher in the city was in attendance.

The Methods of Teaching in Rural and Elementary Schools" was the subject of the final address by Dean W. F. Barr. Professor Stoper directed the music as usual and Miss Philley gave readings.

MACHINES IN COLLISION. A badly damaged radiator on a taxi driven by an employee of the Fort Wayne Transfer company, and a broken bumper on a car driven by Joe Goldstein, resulted when the taxi skidded into Goldstein's car at the corner of Harrison and Wayne streets Friday afternoon.

The accident was caused by the street just having been sprinkled. Goldstein said that he saw what was going to happen and stopped his car, but that the taxi slid across the street and hit his car head on. No arrests were made.

Girls! Use Lemon Juice!

Make a quarter pint of beauty cream for little cost.
Clears, softens and whitens the skin.
Brings out the hidden roses!

By all means, girls, prepare a lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy or toilet counter and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, particularly rough, red hands.—Advertisement.

MAN RIDING SPEEDER

ARRESTED AT LARWILL

James Johnson Clair's He Has Escaped From an Illinois Insane Asylum.

Columbia City, Ind., Aug. 31.—

James Johnson, aged 18, who says he has escaped from an Illinois asylum for the insane, and also that he and a pal robbed a jewelry store in Chicago and sold the jewelry they obtained, was stopped by section men west of Larwill, Thursday forenoon, while riding a speeder, he said had been lent to him by a railroad man west of Larwill, in order that Johnson might proceed to Fort Wayne, his destination. The section hands called Sheriff Rodley from Columbia City, after taking the young man, apparently a half-wit, to the junction, west of Columbia City. Detectives Ethan A. Clark and James Jones, of the Pennsylvania railroad force, came to Columbia City from Fort Wayne, Thursday afternoon, and spent two hours "sweating" the young man. The speeder was used by Operator Small, at the W. I. tower west of Larwill. He had left it standing near the tower and Johnson, who had ridden blind baggage from Chicago to Larwill, appropriated it. Johnson is being held in the county jail pending investigation of his stories, to determine whether he is a confessed crook or a "nut."

The county commissioners met Thursday afternoon to hear objections to the proposed construction of the Hagg ditch in Smith township.

The annual picnic of the Eagles' lodge was held Wednesday evening in the hall, instead of in a woods, as formerly done, and over 100 members, including several from Huntington, were present. The lodge members of this city were invited to attend the annual feast of the Huntington Eagles, occurring Labor Day at Happy Hollow.

Miss Corinne Deardorff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Deardorff, of Chubbuck, and Richard Lee, farmer of Benton county, Ia., were wedded Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of D. B. Kessinger, of the U. B. church. They will reside near Dysart, Ia.

MENNONITES ADVISED NOT TO RESIST DRAFT

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 31.—At a secret conference of ministers of the Mennonite church of the United States and Canada, in annual session at Goshen a statement was prepared in which members of the sect are advised not to violate the selective draft law or any other law relating to the war in which this country is now involved. The statement also embodied the position of the sect on the present war.

It holds that no Mennonite can conscientiously participate in any phase of the war. But all are advised to report in the required manner for draft examinations and then file claims for exemption on grounds of religious beliefs.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE SHEPHERD OF CAPTIVE ISRAEL.

LESSON TEXT—Ezekiel 34. DAILY TEXT—"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."—Psa. 23:1.

With the complete subversion of the kingdom of Judah, the national consciousness was largely crushed and the people were without heart for the common affairs of life. Ezekiel, though born in Jerusalem, prophesied in Babylon near the River Kebar. The object of his prophesying was to encourage the captives by placing before them God's promise of their return to their own land. His name signifies, "God will strengthen," which is very appropriate to the mission which in the providence of God he was called upon to fill.

1. Israel's Faithless Shepherds Denounced. (vv. 1-10). These false shepherds included the kings, princes, judges and priests. Ezekiel points out that the captivity was because of sin, but he shows that the greatest guilt obtains with reference to these leaders. They were placed in the position to care for and protect the sheep. The following indictments are brought against them:

1. They fed themselves instead of the flock (v. 2). They were essentially selfish. They ministered to themselves instead of the sheep. Too many today are filling public offices for the sake of private gain. Sometimes even ministers are found who are more concerned about themselves, their pleasures and profits, than they are about the souls of the people who support them.

2. They were cruel (v. 8). They were not only mere hirelings, guilty of looking after themselves, but they actually behaved like robbers, preying upon the flocks. All are guilty of this same sin who use their influence and power to the disadvantage of others. In the theocratic kingdom such behavior was peculiarly obnoxious, as the rulers and ministers were representatives of Jehovah himself. The minister and public officer today is acting in his capacity for God, not for himself, therefore he should make the cause of heaven his chief concern.

3. They neglected the diseased, wounded, wayward, and lost (vv. 4-6). As a result of their selfish cruelty the sheep were without food; therefore exposed to disease; had no bond of unity, were exposed to the ravages of wild beasts. God's flocks are in many places thus suffering and dying because they have not been fed. God's judgments are against such (vv. 7-10).

4. The Faithful Shepherd. (vv. 11-16). The Shepherd here is none other than Jesus Christ. The wonderful blessings here described will be realized by Israel in millennial times. This blessed condition will be ushered in by the second coming of Christ. How sincerely all should pray, "Thy kingdom come." When the true Shepherd comes:

1. He will seek his lost sheep (v. 11). Though they have gone astray through wilfulness on their part, and neglect on the part of faithless shepherds, Jesus will seek them out and save them. To save the lost was his peculiar mission (Luke 19:10).

2. He will rescue them from the power of their enemies (v. 12). God's sheep have real enemies and they have fallen into the enemies' hands, but the Faithful Shepherd is able to deliver them. "No one is able to pluck them out of his hands" (John 10:28, 29).

3. He will bring them back to their own land (v. 13). Poor, scattered Israel shall one day (may it be soon!) be brought back to their own land. This is the one unmistakable sign by which we may know the beginning of the end of this dispensation. Be assured that it is not wars, nor pestilences that mark the sign of the close of this age, but the movements of Israel.

4. He will feed them (vv. 14, 15). "I will feed my flock, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord God. I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was weak; but I will destroy the fat and the strong; I will feed them with judgment."

5. He will seek that which was lost (v. 16). That which has been driven away he will seek and bring it back again.

6. He will heal them from weakness and suffering (v. 16). All the wounds which Israel has received these many centuries shall be healed.

III. The Golden Age (vv. 23-27). The vision of the world as it now is, is most disheartening. It is midnight darkness. In this blackness we wonder why God does not interpose. We wonder how he can be silent. While midnight is upon us we are hopeful, for we see the bow of God's promise of better things flung across the sky. This present order shall disappear before the new. In that new order:

1. Jesus Christ, David's Son, shall be king (vv. 23, 24). This new era of blessedness can only come into realization when God's Son shall establish his kingdom upon the earth.

Warning

We are informed that at some cafes, restaurants and gardens beer and strong drinks have been sold under the guise of the popular soft drink Bevo.

These reports have been confirmed sufficiently to compel us to take action.

The beverage Bevo enjoys the protection of both federal and state authority. In preparing it for sale and in marketing it, we adopt every possible precaution to protect the public against imposition and to prevent evasion of the law. Bevo is sold in bottles only, we bottle all of it ourselves, and we have adopted a kind of bottle, crown and seals designed to prevent imitation.

We shall omit no measure within our power to defend the authority under which Bevo is manufactured and sold, to protect the public from imposition, and to safeguard the good name of this Association.

We therefore give fair warning that we shall refuse to sell our products to those who are found guilty of the above offense.

Receipts Fall Off Slightly With Little Change in Price—Corn Drops.

After the record receipts of Thursday, offerings on the city markets fell off slightly Friday but still maintained a good figure. Twenty-five loads were weighed on the city scales and found ready sale. Steadiness prevailed for the most part today, the only variation in prices from the former day being a drop of 1c on the bushel in the corn market, and an increase of 4c per bushel in the bottom price of oats.

Hay was again abundant on the city scales. Eighteen loads were weighed, with no variation in price from the $12 to $15 mark of the previous day. Only one load of corn came in, selling for $1.44, 1c lower than the price of yesterday. Six loads of oats commanded 56c to 62c per bushel.

After a marked advance during the early part of the week, eggs remained steady today, wholesalers quoting a price of 37¢35c per dozen.

SLUMPS MARK THE WALL STREET DAY

Shorts Renew Hammering of Steels and Bring Two Issues Down.

New York, Aug. 31.—The short interest renewed its tactics at the opening of today's stock market though proceeding more cautiously than yesterday. U. S. steel was again the chief feature, its initial offering of 35,000 shares at 11 1/2 to 12 1/2 minus regular and extra dividends of 4 1/2 per cent, representing a loss at the low quotation of half a point. Further heavy sales carried steel down to 11 1/2. Other industrials recovered average recessions of a point.

Steady liquidation accompanied the active dealings of the first hour, the pace quickening towards midday. Shipments were weak. Some support was accorded the rails. Recoveries in important stocks at noon ranged from 1 to 2 1/2 points.

SOUTHERN JUDGE DECLARES CHILD LABOR LAW DEAD
torney W. C. Hammer also was made a defendant.
The law which becomes effective tomorrow, prohibits the employment of any child under 14 years old in any factory, mill, workshop or cannery, whose products are to be shipped in interstate commerce and requires that the working day of children 14 to 15 years old shall not be longer than eight hours. Reuben Dagenhart is under 16 and John Dagenhart under 14. The father contended he has a right to their wages until they are 21 and that as the North Carolina law allows 11 hours a day, Reuben has a right to work more than eight hours a day while John has a right to work in the mill although under 14 because the state law permits it.

WILSON NOTE PUTS THE ISSUE PLAINLY

Paris Newspaper Declares President Has Stated Entire Case.

Paris, Aug. 31.—"President Wilson has taken counsel only with his conscience in formulating his response to the nation's peace proposals," says the Temps, "but he has an ideal so similar to our, such a clear view of European realities that his meditation has brought him to a finding of which we approve. The sentiment which inspires the entire note just as it inspires the entire French public is the conviction that we cannot treat with the German government at present. The president of the United States, in his patient negotiations regarding submarine warfare, had the same experiences as France in ten years of discussion of Moroccan questions and has drawn the same conclusions. Nothing could be gained by signing tomorrow a new scrap of paper. It would not conduce to world peace. It would merely give the Prussian general staff time to prepare for new aggression. "That surely was not the end which the pope proposed. He said the fundamental point must be the substitution of the moral force of right for the material force of arms, but Mr. Wilson has seen clearly and explained clearly that negotiation as suggested by the Holy Father would end in an entirely different result. In Germany it would give to the imperial government a renewal of strength. "Outside of Germany it would compel persons who desire to remain free to create a permanent league against the German danger. It would result in fact, in consolidating Prussian militarism and in perpetuating a regime of armed peace. It is not to achieve this that the United States entered the war. It is not for this that we are fighting. President Wilson wants a real peace, one which will do away with the causes of war. His doctrine is logical from one end to the other. It is because he wants a pacific Germany that he rejects the idea of enclosing it within a wall. It is because he counts upon the opening of the eyes of the German people that he refuses to treat with the Hohenzollern autocracy. "He has confidence in the future. He believes his ideal can be imposed even upon the enemy. "We join the president in this even hope, but this hope will not be realized unless the United States perseveres indefatigably for victory of the right. The calmness with which Mr. Wilson contemplates future peace corresponds with the energy with which he will continue to conduct the war. This is the comforting impression left by reading his note. More than ever we have faith in his untiring firmness."

HARDING SAYS USE REASON IN TAXING
Declares Mulcting of Profits Is a Fine Way to Cripple War Power.

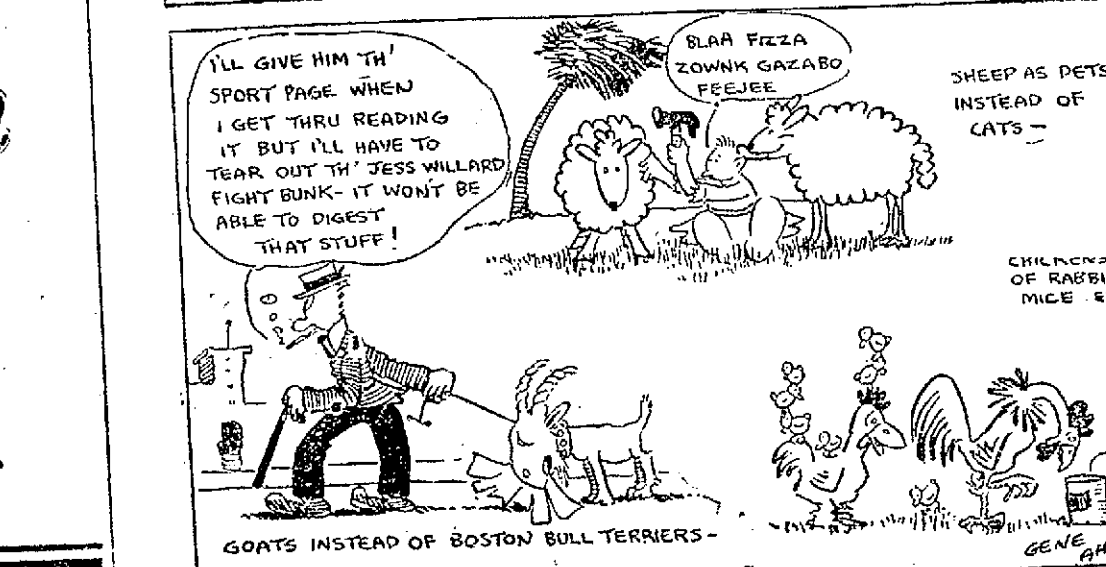

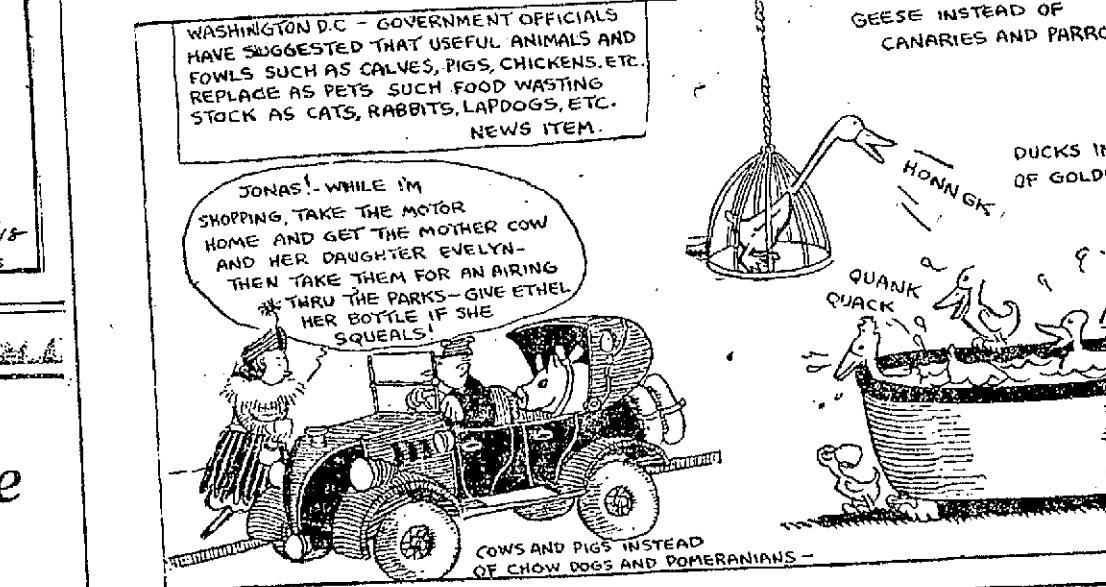

Washington, D. C., Aug. 31.—Senator Harding, of Ohio, opened today's debate on the war tax bill with an argument for caution against too drastic conscription of wealth. He urged that taxes be levied which would not cripple business, deplete reserve strength of the nation and its ability to carry further loads. The war he contended is not popular. "There are scores of contributing reasons," he said. "We are sincerely devoted to peace, the cant sign cry of the year before our involvement and which was dealt upon in studied oratory from every stump. We are a polyglot people, without racial entity. Our free republic is full of aliens. We have many who cloak themselves in American habiliments, but their souls, genius and cunning are loyal to the land from which they came. We harbor the trained propagandists whose business it is to spread sedition. We have plotters and bomb plungers and wholesale anarchists whose creed is destruction. We have the greedy and the profiteer in every walk of life. And we have not been clear in our reasons for making war. "It would be well to say less about world-wide democracy, and let it ring clear that we mean to hold America safe for Americans. We are not fighting to fix the international boundaries of Europe." If necessary to win the war," Senator Harding said, he would conscript every dollar of income over $5,000 to a family. "But if you strike at excess profit you reduce incomes and are likely to hinder our industrial development," he continued. "There is no cause for penalizing. Were it not for munition plants and for big and highly organized American industries, Germany would today be dominating the world. "Conscript incomes and profits and we shall have no one to buy our bonds. We are raising larger taxes in the first year of the war than Great Britain in her third. The war is likely to end, and I believe it will end before the burdens we are now levying are turned into the treasury. We may well cooperate to strike a staggering blow at the enemy, but need not strike ourselves at the same time."

STIRS THE BRITISH.
Washington, Aug. 31.—With the exception of the president's war message no declaration of this government has been received with greater enthusiasm in London than the reply to the pope's appeal for peace. Ambassador Page notified the state department today that the British public had read the president's note with evident approval and enthusiasm.

REDUCE BONDED DEBT

Traction Company in Bad Financial Straits and Must Have Funds.

A reorganization and recapitalization of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company is necessary in order to reduce the bonded debt and to furnish funds with which to increase and improve the service, according to an announcement from the local offices following the receipt of a letter from Philadelphia.

Setting forth the conditions of the company, its earnings and losses, during the past six months, the letter states that an immediate retrenchment will be necessary in order to avoid receivership. The bonded debt, particularly of the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley Traction company, and the Lafayette & Logansport Traction company, must be reduced. Copies of the letter have been sent to all security holders.

President Feustel, of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, stated that the directors of the company have been working on the financial problem for the past six months, and it was apparent that the revenues were not sufficient to meet the increasing expenses. Additional money was needed for improvement, yet sufficient funds were not available to pay the charges on money already invested.

Committees are to be formed to formulate plans for the financial reorganization of the company. It is stated that the reorganization will not affect the plans to give increased and improved service to Fort Wayne and other cities.

AT VINY RIDGE.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—Henry Strohm, formerly clerk in the Bluffton postoffice, and son of John Strohm, of Craigville, fought with the Canadian troops in the battle of Vimy ridge, one of the fiercest battles of the European war, and as the result of his experiences he is now taking special treatment for a nervous breakdown at Detroit. Miss Mazie Evans, of Fort Wayne, formerly of this city, received a brief letter from Strohm following his arrival at a hospital in Camp Borden, Canada, from the trenches. He did not state whether he had received any wounds, but said that he had suffered from a nervous breakdown. He was to leave a few days later for Detroit to take special treatment and then expected to visit in this vicinity.

MISTAKE IN ADDRESS.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—When the list of nine men granted exemptions by the district board was published last night there was some confusion, as the published list showed that the district board exempted "Otto Ratliff, 334 North Marion street," thus showing exemption for Otto Ratliff as far as the name went but giving the street address of Cloyd B. Ratliff. The district board's notice also came to Cloyd Ratliff yesterday morning, but when the local board called the district board they were informed that the exemption had been granted to Otto Ratliff.

WILLIAM GEIGER DEAD.

Defiance, O., Aug. 31.—The demise of William Geiger marked the passing of one of Defiance's most prominent retired business men. Mr. Geiger had been engaged in the manufacture of furniture for thirty-five years. He was elected vice president of the State bank in 1901, and in 1912 was elected president of that institution. Mr. Geiger is survived by his widow and the following children: Mrs. Mildred Lamb, of Toledo, the Misses Edna, Ruth and Dorothy Geiger, of Defiance.

SAILS FOR EUROPE.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—Mail which Bluffton friends have sent to John Hiestler, a member of a supply company recruited in the east from other branches of the army service, has been returned to the senders with a notation that Mr. Hiestler had sailed on Aug. 7, written across the face of the envelope. Mr. Hiestler enlisted as a truck driver and no word has been received from him for several weeks. He is probably in France by this time. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hiestler.

MAKES AERO FLIGHT.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 31.—Word was received from Milford, Wednesday, that Glenn M. Davison, a Milford boy, who finished high school last spring and who, after joining the United States aviation corps, was transferred to Texas, made a flight from Texas to Mt. Clemens, Mich., a few days ago. He was in Mt. Clemens when heard from after the successful flight had been made.

EXAMINE MOR EMEN.

Bluffton, Ind., Aug. 31.—It will be necessary for the county conscription board to examine more men to fill the county's quota of 137. One hundred and eighty names were certified to the district board at Fort Wayne and when that body completed the examination of claims Wednesday it had discharged fifty-two because of dependents and on grounds of agricultural and industrial occupations. Nine more men must be accepted to fill the quota.

HURT IN ACCIDENT.

C., an aunt of Fred McBride, of this city, suffered a broken collar bone in an automobile accident at Martinsville, according to word received by Mr. McBride yesterday morning. ENTIRE LIST COMPLETE.

Kendallville, Ind., Aug. 31.—While school superintendents of other cities over the United States are sending out the S. O. S. call for teachers, Supt. P. C. RAISED NOT A HAND TO DEFEND HIS WIFE

Judge Kerr Delivers Bitter Prelection to Heartless Husband.

What should be a husband's attitude when his wife is being brutally assaulted by a chair, which is swung by another man?

To the marriage vows imply that friend husband is to sit placidly by and see his wife being knocked down and her body beaten into a mass of bruises?

Judge H. W. Kerr doesn't think so. But here is the story:

George W. Jenkins and his wife and two children live at 816 Buchanan street. Tom Jenkins, a brother of the husband, has been rooming in the home. Tom brought home a bottle of whisky on last Monday night. Mrs. George Jenkins, who never got along with her brother-in-law anyway, objected to having liquor in the house.

Neighbors, who were called to the witness stand, in police court Friday morning, told that Mrs. Jenkins and Tom quarreled for two hours. Mrs. Jenkins found the whisky bottle in Tom's suit case and hurled the flask out upon the sidewalk. She ordered the brother-in-law to leave the place.

When Tom continued to rest in the easy chair and to answer the protests of Mrs. Jenkins in sulphuric terms, the woman hunted a club. She found a board on the back porch. With the weapon she attacked Tom. She told in police court that she hit him on the head, although Tom testified that he bore marks in divers other places.

Tom picked up a chair and began vicious assault on Mrs. Jenkins. It was told in court. He struck the woman many times and finally left her in a semi-conscious state. Mrs. Jenkins was knocked down twice and serious bruises inflicted on her body. She displayed to the court a long rent in her scalp and a blackened optic.

Neighbors came to the rescue and aided in reviving the woman after the assault. Tom hurried away, but was arrested later on a charge of assault and battery.

Meantime George, the husband, had sat quietly by, with the baby in his arms, and had watched the whole affair. He saw the man hit his wife several times, George continued to quietly rock the baby.

"Why did you not fly to the aid of your wife?" asked Deputy Prosecutor Hoffman.

"I had to watch the baby," was George's prompt platitude.

When all testimony had been submitted Judge Kerr talked to both George and Tom. To George he remarked:

"I wish I had an excuse for sending you down to the state prison for a couple of months. You are a fine husband. You are surely devoid of all chivalry or sense of shame."

To Tom the address was more brief. "You are fined $25 and sentenced to ninety days at the state penitentiary. When you get out I hope you will know enough to run away from women who strike you and do not hit them back."

Knew the Shirt.

Alex Bettley, 19, was charged with taking a razor and a shirt and $5 from a barber shop where he had been employed at 2007 Broadway. A boy whom the other lads called "Doley," saw Bettley take the property, which belonged to John Pitt.

"I saw Bettley have the shirt on," said "Doley."

"How did you know it was Platt's shirt?" asked the court.

"Because it looked like the paper on the wall," Doley answered.

Bettley is to be given a chance to "make good." Judge Kerr will try to get him a job. Meanwhile the case will be held open until Sept. 24.

Other Police Court Cases.

Everett Carey was acquitted on a charge of child neglect. It was shown that he has been paying the $2 a week which was ordered by the court some time ago.

Walter Jerald, charged with loitering, is held until his draft status is investigated.

John Gligio, charged with intoxication, will be tried on Sept. 7. James Murphy, charged with inebriation, will be tried Sept. 11. Niles Swartz will answer a loitering charge on Sept. 4.

Only one more day of Patterson-Fletcher's Great Half Price Sale. Store open until 10 o'clock Saturday night.

WILL LIST MORE OF CITY'S VACANT LOTS

Garden Director Will Get Ready for Increased Activity.

All persons in the city who have lots that will not be under cultivation next spring are asked by City Garden Director F. W. Gray to list them immediately at the office of the local committee of the National Food Relief committee at 810 Clinton street. An active campaign will start immediately to list every lot in the city so that arrangements for the cultivation of all can be made. It is pointed out that the need for intensive farming and gardening may be felt more during the winter a year from now than during the coming winter because of the fact that the demand for food will steadily increase.

Persons having lots are urged to either bring in the necessary information about them, write or telephone 2800.

ROBISON PARK DOLL IS POLLY ANNA.

Pollyanna is the name of the beautiful Robison park doll. She has been admired by thousands of people, both children and grown-ups, during the present season. Over twenty-six thousand individuals recorded their guesses in the pavilion books, as to her probable name. Only eighteen (18) of these were correct. These eighteen girls drew lots yesterday at the Romp day fete in the presence of a vast throng of spectators. Clara Coultret, of 1335 East Creighton avenue, was the fortunate one and Pollyanna was awarded to her.

Pollyanna is a most fitting name for this most wondrous doll. Thousands of people throughout the world have read the story of Pollyanna, "the glad girl." Early in life Pollyanna learned to find something of joy in every circumstance and in every happening. Her constant expression was "I am so glad." Even in her attic room in her aunt's house, she found gladness. So happy and glad was she, that every one who met her was transformed and found, through her, real joy in living. Her sour old aunt was changed into a smiling appreciative woman. The grumpy old bachelor who lived next door was made anew when she would her tender clinging little arms around his neck and told him of her glorious happy world.

So this beautiful doll, Pollyanna, brought joy and gladness to all the admiring children who saw her this summer at Robison park. They smiled in her presence. They yearned to caress her and to enfold her in their arms. To look at Pollyanna made them glad. Mingled with the gladness was a secret wish that Pollyanna might go home on Romp day to live with them.

Pollyanna went home with twelve-year-old Clara Coultret, where she will be a constant source of joy and gladness to her little mother. Manager Williams also presented to Miss Clara the story of Pollyanna in book form.

The following girls guessed the name, Pollyanna, correctly: Mary Jane Crane, Ruth Jones, Flint, Mich.; Ruth Davis, Marie Popp, Grabbill; Leona Botteron, Reatha Langston; Leona Vance, Decatur; Maud Ritch; Mary Monroe, Bonnis Herring; Ida Schulerberg, Clara Coultret; Ella Deahl, Comenaut, Ohio; Bessie Salom, Magdalen Mungovan, Virginia Zimmerman, Leona Dull, Willshire, Ohio; Letha Rodenbeck.

A PLEASING INCIDENT OF ROMP DAY.

To express his appreciation of the friendship and devotion of nine-year-old Leopold Wismer, Manager Williams presented little Leopold with a boy's solid gold set ring yesterday. Leopold was the first prize baby at the first baby show Manager Williams held in 1910. Ever since that date, a bouquet of flowers, tiny at first and sent in the baby's name, has found its way to Mr. Williams' desk on the 24th day of August, the date of the park manager's birthday. Leopold lives at 618 Elizabeth street. His father, Peter Wismer, is employed at the Wayne Oil Tank works.

WANTED TO LIVE RIGHT BUT COULDN'T RESIST

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Auburn, Ind., Aug. 31.—"I went to Auburn Sunday night and joined church and had planned to lead a straight life, but when a friend, Monday, placed a flask of whisky under my nose, I couldn't resist." Such was the plea that William Kline, of Kendallville, made when arrested for intoxication, Monday. He has been in court before and drew several 60-day terms at the penal farm, and got another despite the appeal he entered.

Captain Seriously Ill.

Company K, of Auburn, expects to entrain within a few days but without its captain, Walter D. Stump. At the present time he is at his home seriously ill with typhoid fever, and if the company leaves before the end of the week, as it expects to, he cannot accompany them. It is not probable that he will be ready to move for six weeks.

Auburn Short Notes.

A number of Auburn Modern Woodmen are planning to attend the meeting of Modern Woodmen to be held in Fort Wayne September 4.

Friday, the weather permitting, the primary department of Auburn Sunday school will hold a picnic in Eckhart park.

Twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nagel, of South Van Buren street. One was a boy and the other a girl.

A noticeable feature of the recent teachers' meeting, held in the court house at Auburn, is that the women outnumber the men to a large percentage. Many of the young men teachers who were on the roll last year have joined the army and are teaching peace lessons to the Germans.

OFFICIALS DESPAIR AT VOTER'S APATHY

Big Problem for All Party Workers Is to Get Registrations.

The ancient malady which has afflicted voters since the dawn of a halcyon democracy, and which is sometimes termed "last minutes," is the present Fort Wayne illness which has caused many serious consultations of city officials. Every effort has been made to break up the lethargy of citizens who have delayed to register for their ballot in the coming election. All prodding seems in vain.

Vote registering suffered a decided slump at the main office in the city hall Friday morning. There was a light attendance at the stores where notaries were at work signing up voters on Thursday evening.

Party workers of all political forces have been holding quiet sessions of late in an effort to solve the mystery of the lagging voters. A personal campaign is now being waged in which all persons who have not signed for the ballot are being called upon.

Registration places which are open for service at present are:

Meyer Bros. Co. drug store, Calhoun and People's Drug Store, Clinton and Peoples' Drug Store, Clinton and Berry.

CONFIRM ELEVEN ROLLS.

Board of Works Agrees to Spend $29,958 for Improvements.

Assessment rolls for eleven improvements, representing a cost of $29,958, were confirmed by the board of works Thursday night. The resolutions confirmed were for the following improvements: Cement sidewalks on both sides of Ohio street, from Maumee avenue to Hayden street, and on the east side of Pauline street, from Taylor to Hale avenue, and on the east side of Beaver avenue from Federal street to Rudisill boulevard; paving of Thompson avenue, from Guthrie street to Eagle street and Hoagland avenue, from Cornell circle to Lexington drive and Paedena drive, from Cornell circle to Hoagland avenue, and Oakwood drive, from South Wayne street to Indiana avenue, and Hamilton avenue, from Hanna street to Oliver street, and paving the alley south of Creighton street, from Fox avenue to Miner street, and sewers in the alley north of Rudisill boulevard, from Beaver avenue to Indiana avenue, and in the alley between Smith street and Oliver street, from the alley north of Rudisill boulevard to Eckart street.

WANT ACTION.

Officials Chafe Because of Delay of Construction Company.

City officials are irritated because of the prolonged delay of activities by the Brooks Construction company at Combs street. There has been little work carried on at the east end subway for two weeks. Several weeks of hard labor is necessary for finishing the street tunnel. Officers are anxious to have the street opened permanently before cold weather.

The two large crews of the Brooks company are now employed in Ohio cities, officials say they have learned. It appears to Fort Wayne officers that the work here is being neglected. Management of the Brooks company will be called to Fort Wayne for a conference on Saturday and an effort will be made to renew efforts at the subway at once.

RELIABLE CUT RATE DRUG STORE AT TRANSFER CORNER.

Maramatsu San, a converted convict and manager of a home for discharged prisoners at Kobe, recently needed to make a trip to Tokyo, but had only thirty-five cents toward his fare. With faith in God, he nevertheless started for the station. One train departed without him, but when time for the next arrived, it brought a missionary who, greeting Mr. Maramatsu, said to him, "By the way, I have been intending for some time to hand you this $5 for your work." Mr. Maramatsu's faith was vindicated.

A package containing $7,000, sent from Philadelphia to a trust company, lay on a depot truck in Vineland for more than an hour before M. The express agent thought the clerk had secured the package upon the arrival of the train.

MERELY AN ILLUSION AGAIN?

On the face of it, recurrence of the movement for governmental reforms in Germany looks well. Liberal elements have presented in a resolution what amounts to an ultimatum on the issue of a free expression of public opinion in the empire and the threat is that it will be pressed when the reichstag assembles in October. The right to freely discuss and openly criticize the emperor and his proposals of government and administration, his policies of action and so on is embodied in the demands of the resolution offered by socialist leaders in committee of the reichstag. With the resolution is coupled the promise that the thing will be vigorously fought out when the reichstag meets.

Much of similar tenor has been coming periodically out of Germany for many months. Repeatedly there have been indications that the imperial government was preparing the way for political reforms of sweeping character and far-reaching import. Nothing has come of any of these things. Von Bethmann-Hollweg has been superseded by a statesman of nothing like the rugged strength and seasoned experience of the late chancellor. Dr. Michaelis is apt to prove anything the emperor and the junkers wish him to be. Already are coming prophecies of his early retirement. He neither answers to liberal aspirations in any degree nor satisfies the junkers. That kind of a government affords little promise of liberal advancement.

Nor does that greatly matter. There will be no democratic achievement in Germany until events within and without the empire force it. The dynasty, the Prussian military caste and the junkers will yield nothing that they are not obliged to surrender to the people. It has been asserted by the students of German politics that these recurring flares of democratic spirit are actually devised and promoted by the autocracy that fair but hypocritical and lying answer may be made to them to keep the public mind in a state of hope while at the same time realizing nothing of the reforms that a great part of the German mass is craving. This view is supported by the repeated situations that seemed to give promise and the fact that so far nothing whatever has come out of them.

These later movements cannot from the outside be looked upon as transpiring in good faith. There is just as much reason to look upon the policies and practices of the imperial German government as being crooked in matters of internal concern as they are in matters of foreign relation. The dynasty, the war caste and the junkers are trying to maintain themselves against the rising aspirations of the German people as they are against the growing anger and determination of all the world outside against their criminal stratagems and bloody schemes to put the Hohenzollern yoke on all civilization.

It would be reassuring to believe that the democratic elements in Germany are in a coalition to fight for reforms, for it is from within the German empire itself can issue the earliest and strongest occasions for peace and the best guarantees for its perpetuation.

THE CHILD LABOR LAW.

The decision of a federal district court in North Carolina holding the child labor law passed by congress a year ago to be unconstitutional does not affect the operation of the act in general. Nor is it conclusive. The federal government will carry the issue to higher courts and if necessary to the highest tribunal, which last recourse it is to be hoped may be taken so that if the law be sound law there may be no further question of its soundness and no virtue in resistance of it.

We may be sure the administration at Washington will be neither tardy nor without proper energy to stand behind this law in the legal fight that is to come. President Wilson had made the passage of this act the matter of a deep and sympathetic personal concern. It would have failed in the session a year ago and might not yet have been on the books but for the zeal and determination of the president to have the measure put through congress as a part of the great program of constructive legislation that marked the closing year of his first term. It was under the guiding hand of the late Senator John W. Kern, of this state, that the child labor law was piloted through the upper branch of congress, where its chances at all times were precarious and where for a while it appeared this great measure of humanity would find its resting place. Indeed, for a time, it was the conclusion that the bill had reached the end of its journey, for the senate dropped it out of the program. Then President Wilson insisted and the senate protested and—well, the bill went back in the program and the senate passed it.

The law becomes of effect in the nation today. It does not embody all that the devoted friends of a child labor enactment had hoped through many years of fruitless and discouraging effort to obtain, but it marked a beginning, besides having provisions to reach some of the worst of the evils fought against and at least to powerfully supplement state enactments along similar lines.

The legal attack instituted against the child labor law was to be expected. There never has been any thought that the employers of child labor would wholly surrender without resistance. They employed their most powerful influences to defeat the law while it was pending in congress and they may be looked to, now that the measure is in the courts, to exhaust all legal recourses before giving up.

The ground of the decision just made against the law is that the federal government cannot by indirection intervene in purely intra-state affairs with regulations that it is not authorized by the constitution to impose directly. But there is the completely established principle that the federal authority over inter-state commerce is practically without limit and it is in that wise that the general government has set its interdiction upon child labor.

GIVE HIM GODSPEED.

We doubt that else than knowledge of time and place is necessary to the people of Fort Wayne to insure that they will turn out to bid farewell and wish godspeed to the boys going away to the war. It has been not the least inspiring of local incidents of the war that the people of Fort Wayne have responded almost en masse to the patriotic call that they should turn out to see the young soldiers away.

It may not, however, be amiss—no matter how little needed—to say that when the soldiers go away next week there should be an enlistment of everybody to make their departure notable. These will be the first of the young men to be called to the colors under the new selective system under which the great national armies are to be raised. There will not be a large number in the first contingent to depart for the cantonment at Louisville, but in the going of these will be symbolized the meaning of the going of them all. The plans for Tuesday night's demonstration will count for little if there be any wanting of spontaneous and popular character in the affair. Everybody should be out and ready to cheer the citizen soldiers of the national army, to acclaim their glorious service to the country and to give assurance and reassurance that the term conscript has been given a new and honorable meaning in this land.

The nation has taken to the fair and democratic way of raising an army. Each able-bodied man is inescapably liable to service. Those are chosen who are best fitted and can best be spared. There falls upon no man drawn for this national army the least aspersion. He is chosen as all henceforth must be chosen. Let that be kept in mind. The soldiers of the national army go to the colors with patriotism as sound and with honors as lustrious as any men who fight for the flag. Turn out and do your bit to assure them one and all that you feel that way about it.

Expert opinion declares—Washington to the contrary notwithstanding—that the fixed price of wheat may do a lot of things, but among them will not be a come-back of the old five-cent loaf of bread. We incline to agree with expert opinion, partly because it is expert and ought to know what it is talking about and partly because it also makes the bread. Flour at two dollars and twenty cents a bushel hardly constitutes the token for the kind of loaf that was common in the days of dollar and even dollar and a quarter wheat. Let us get all we can, but let us be reasonable in expectation and so escape disappointment.

After being dogged from place to place and ex-goaded from pillar to post, the People's Council of America has not where to raise its yell. (And right here, Mr. Linotpyer, get us right—to raise its yell—and not something else that sounds a deal like it and is probably more accurate.)

Bugles that call you at morn,
Shrill on the dawn's startled breath,
Lash you from mirth down to tears,
Scourge you where darkness was born,
Flaunt you and taunt you to death,
Dare you with doubt and dumb fears.

Music that stabs at your breath,
Loosens the laboring task,
Courage rides up in the morn,
Faith coaxes life out of death,
Hope builds up valor from fears,
Blesses the day you were born.

Brighter the last day than morn,
Spent the last effort like breath,
Time has made light of our fears,
Saved you for what you were born,
Gone is the horror of death.

Production Engineering—No. 5

BY GEORGE L. CARD.

Way back in the dawn of life when men were very primitive—no one knows how many years ago, there was begun the custom of barter.

The exchange of things one man made, found or stole for the things another man made, found or stole, and so was begotten into the world, commercial activity, along with many other good and bad things, which still cling to it. We can very readily imagine some man in those early days, who was more ingenious than his fellows, who chipped a superior spear head or fashioned a better war club than they did, and in consequence was burdened with orders beyond his ability to fill. Being thrifty and ambitious, and withal, he cogitated on this problem until his slumber was disturbed, when at last he dreamt a dream, and what is of greater interest to us, he made that dream come true. He saw about him other men less thrifty than he was, who had nothing to barter and were without the ambition or skill to make or steal them, and his dream was to coax, coerce or club them into his service and thereby make more spear heads and more war clubs, and in time, perhaps, attain the full realization of his dream, the possession of a barrel of profits. The scheme was tried and found to work, and he prospered. As time passed, other wise men, seeing things, followed his example, and there was begun the drawing of the line of demarcation between capital and labor, wealth and poverty, thrift and slothfulness, and the other extremes of human nature, which line has continued to be drawn down to the present time, a long drawn-out denial of the broad assertion that all men are created equal. But with prosperity to the wise men, there also came trouble.

The workers were lazy and rough, and the service was harsh. They said they were underpaid and ill-fed, and demanded shorter hours. A few got together and talked matters over, and out of these talks, and after much mental travail there was born the industrial strike since called a strike, which men primitive appendants, which still shown when out on exhibition. And so, as the number of workers increased, and the wise men grew more obtuse, it came to pass that the task of keeping them busy and obedient, grew more and more strenuous, until finally a condition prevailed that endangered the wise men's profits, then something had to be done. Casting about for a remedy, it is only natural the wise men should look upon military methods with great favor.

Fighting was the chief business of man in those days and being most perfectly developed, it was readily seen that the system that could drive men to fight would be a good system to drive men to work. The plan was tried, found successful, and so was ushered into use, the military system of factory control. A system that has never changed, only as military methods have changed, down to the present time, and no man in all these years, until Dr. Taylor undertook the task, had the courage and ability to segregate it to the scrap heap. Dr. Taylor began with the dictum that "only one best way" exists for doing a thing and that this one best way must be found by investigation and adopted as the standard for every operation and process.

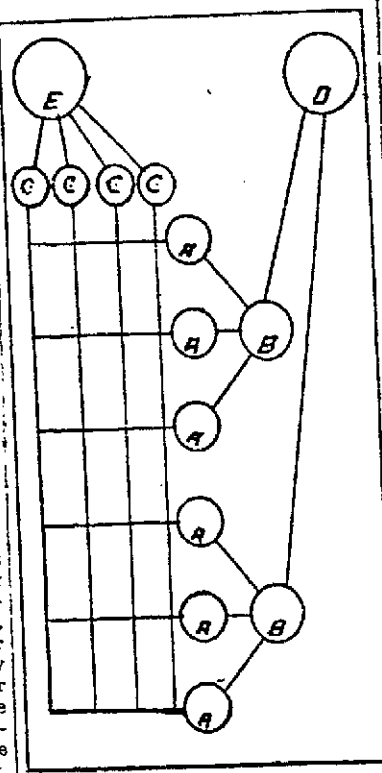

"To get results from this standardization in the way of lower costs, increased output or better quality, it is imperative that these standards must be applied in practice with inflexible severity."

Right here the new science of management parts company with the military system once and for all. Under the military system men are grouped in departments, each department under a single foreman, who exercises, so far as his time and ability permits, all the functions of the management. He is supreme within his halliwick and soon comes to resent any interference or advice relative to work, or the control of men under his charge.

He gives little, if any, consideration to the work that precedes or follows his and has no true conception of co-operation in the sense that he is merely a cog in a machine that must function perfectly in all its parts to produce maximum results. This is not his fault, altogether, but the fault of the system and years of training. Many old timers know it is wrong, but have no power to correct it. Under scientific management this is all changed. The study of details is prosecuted in the most intensive manner by men especially selected and trained for that purpose, and it would be an extraordinary foreman indeed who could, all at once, grasp, digest and select from this accumulated data the exact standards to apply to each particular job. It was this lack of all round genius for foremen, and the evident impossibility of ever getting them, that led Dr. Taylor to abandon the military type of organization altogether and introduce two broad and sweeping changes—they were:

First—"The workmen as well as the foreman to be entirely relieved of the work of planning and of all clerical work. All possible brain work to be removed from the shop and centered in the planning department, leaving for the foreman work strictly executive in its nature."

Second—"The adoption of functional management, dividing these functions among several foremen or bosses, limiting each, where possible, to a single leading line, but bringing all of them into contact with all the men." Thus every workman becomes a member of several groups, and receives orders, instruction and help from as many bosses. The chart, I think, will make the distinction between these two systems better understood.

(A) employee, (B) military foreman, (C) functional foreman, (D) military superintendent, (E) planning department.

On the right of the chart is shown the military organization and on the left the functional organization. In the military organization are two groups of employees (A, privates) under two foremen (B, lieutenants) who receive their orders from the superintendent (D, captain). Since each foreman has full charge of all things in his department and must plan and provide for the execution of every operation and process sent him, it follows that he must be exceptionally well fitted for the job.

One writer has specified the following qualifications as necessary for this superman:

"Brains, ingenuity, technical knowledge, manual dexterity, strength, tact, energy, grit, honesty, judgment and good health."

If he has great driving force and is good at rushing through his department he is almost certain to be unfitted, temperamentally, to exercise the judgment and care that goes with high quality. Likewise if he is skillful in the use of tools and would make a good instructor it is safe to say that the clerical work which is always thrust upon foremen under the old system will be neglected. It is but natural that the average foreman will perform best the duties for which he has the greatest aptitude and slight taste for those for which he has no particular taste.

On the left of the chart is shown functional control. There we have the same employee (A), the functional foreman (C) and the planning department (E). These functional foremen are not burdened with a multiplicity of duties for which they have no aptitude and less taste, but each has a single line of work to look after, for which he is responsible and in which he is an expert. All matters pertaining to the actual performance of work are handled by specialists in the planning department and all work pertaining to production is handled by specialists in the shop. (In a future article I will explain the difference between these two departments and the individual duties of each specialist.) For the present it is sufficient to say that every workman, instead of being in a single group with one boss (B) becomes a member of several groups and receives orders, instructions and help from all bosses (C) each an expert in his own field. Perhaps I can illustrate this difference better in another way. Let (A) represent a number of people suffering from various ailments and (D) and (E) two medical institutions that will undertake their cure.

The institution (D), corresponding to the military system, has a staff of general practitioners who treat the patients. Their method is to assign the patients to wards, with one practitioner (B) in charge. Since the patients must be about equally divided in number among superficial attention follows that only superficial attention can be given the patients when they are admitted and each practitioner soon finds himself responsible for a variety of ailments.

That being the case he must have a working knowledge of all the specialized branches of his profession in order to honestly and successfully treat them. Furthermore a system of this sort is certain to engender jealousies just as it does in factory work, and militate against co-operation to the injury of the institution and the patients.

Institution (E) corresponding to functional control, has an entirely different system of treatment. There the practitioners (C) are not all round doctors but specialists. Each specialist treats only such disorders as come under his special class, but treats all the patients in the institution who are afflicted with those disorders. Let us go further with the illustration and suppose that this medical staff (C) consists of a physician, a surgeon, a dentist and an oculist. The dentist is not called upon to perform a surgical operation or treat the eye. He looks after the teeth only and has no other responsibility, hence can devote all his time to the study and treatment of dental diseases. If the physician, when examining a patient, discovers that defective teeth are a contributory cause to the illness he does not begin tinkering with them, but turns the patient over to the dentist for skillful treatment and concerns himself about those things for which he is employed. This system tends to promote a state of harmonious co-operation to the great benefit of the institution and the patients.

If you were ill which institution would you patronize? And if a foreman, or aspiring to be one, which factory would you prefer to work in? Articles following this will explain the duties of functional clerks and bosses, beginning with route clerk.
